Woman's Precious Liberty
American Chichabs
Hoover's Pruning Knife
How to Cure the Baby

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MISS FANNIE HURST, creator of the "Breakfast-Once-in-a-While-With-Your-Husband" Club, says woman's liberty is in danger.

Man-made fashions from Paris threaten her slowly conquered right to bob her hair, drop her corsets, say "legs" instead of "limbs" and show a good deal of both to an admiring public.

"BODILY emancipation co-ordinates well with mental emancipation," says the talented young person.

All true, but reasonably short-skirt limits would not be unwise.

A grandmother, for instance, might cut her skirt no lower than the knee, and young girls should remember that there is more charm in the mysterious unseen than in a butcher shop.

THE "Agence John Wanamaker" opens headquarters in Paris at No. 44 Rue des Petites Ecuries.

This American agency will engage in the purchase and sale of lingeries.

Its board of directors includes Miss Edith W. Cox, residing at Parc de Montretout.

In that address, something appropriate will be discerned by those that have studied lingerie in store windows.

AT a distance only very tall mountains are visible. At a distance, in space or time, only the biggest men are visible.

The distinguished Russian painter, Roerich, recently returned from five years' travel in Mongolia, Thibet and China, says that Asiatics, as a rule, know only four American names OF MEN.

They are: Hoover, representing government; Borah, representing relations with foreign countries; Rockefeller, representing wealth, and Ford, representing power.

"They do not think of Henry Ford as a man," says Mr. Roerich. "To them he represents motive power. They will ask you: 'Can Ford climb that mountain!'"

MR. ROERICH says the Chinese call Americans Chichabs, which means "the protector."

The heart of China, says Mr Roerich, "is open to America."

THE government planned a topographic and geological survey of the United States, plans calling for work to last eighty years. When the program was presented to President Hoover, he cut the eighty years to eighteen years. This shows that an engineer, who knows how things should be done, can be useful, in the White House.

WOMEN are more important than men, as the artist is more important than his picture. Women create the race and the big news for them today is this:

YOU CAN CURE A BABY OF THUMB SUCKING, WITH A MIRROR.

CALL a child from play, twice a day, make it look in a mirror for ten minutes, each time, with its thumb held in its mouth, and it will soon stop the habit. So says Dr. S. J. Lewis, of Detroit. The child's psychology will do more than old-fashioned assafoetida rubbed on the thumb, or modern celluloid balls fitted over the thumb, too big for the mouth.

THUMB sucking causes malformation of the teeth, gums and jaws.

The "comforter," used by ignorant mothers as a substitute for the thumb, is harmful also, exhausting the salivary glands. It is no easy task to raise a baby, or five or six of them.

THE British Broadcasting Corporation, in a worthy high-brow endeavor, included tragic poetry in its program. Mrs. Evelyn Mary Davis, in a Kent village heard a sad poem—said to be by the Irish poet, James Stephens, and immediately committed suicide.

HER husband says, "It was some miserable poetry that killed her." An ancient painter produced a picture of fruit, so perfect, that birds tried to eat it. He was proud.

A tragic poet might consider a suicide after hearing his sad verse a tribute to his genius.

BUT the practical British say, "If you must broadcast poetry, select poems that will make people laugh, or at least make them happy."

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW asks "Why not turn off the loud speaker?"

WILLIAM FEATHER, who deals in "business philosophy," says, "Nobody makes good socially until he learns to look interested when he is bored."

ACCORDING to eminent authority, the reverse is the case, at least in England. Says Mrs. V. A., who goes often abroad, "an Englishman, in British society, thinks little of an American, if the American shows interest in what the Englishman says. Look horribly bored, making no comment on anything said, showing absolutely no interest, and the Englishman will think you must be somebody important." Take your choice.

PROHIBITION and its enforcement may soon enter upon a new phase.

It seems probable that buying liquor will be made a crime, ac-

FUND SET UP FOR VOTING MACHINES

County's $1,000,000 Ready If Idea Wins on Nov. 5; City Is Not to Be Affected

Petitions from the League of Women Voters requesting the County Commissioners to submit the voting machine question to the voters in every municipality in the county lacked in many cases the necessary number of names, it was revealed today.

The County Commissioners remedied the oversight by adopting a resolution on their own initiative which will have the same effect as the petitions would have had if valid.

The commissioners, on Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong's motion, appropriated $1,000,000 to be used in buying voting machines provided the citizens, at the election on November 5, authorize their adoption.

MANY PETITIONS SHORT

The petitions for 39 of the 67 boroughs and 45 of the 53 townships in Allegheny County were worthless, it was stated, because the number of signatures fell short of the legal requirement. The papers were presented by Mrs. J. O. Miller.

When the situation was laid before the commissioners it looked for a while as if a bitter disappointment were in store for the women's organization and the other civic bodies and individuals who have worked so hard to get the voting machine question on the ballot at the earliest opportunity.

Then Armstrong came to the scene with his resolution, which met with Commissioner E. V. Babcock's approval. Commissioner C. C. McGovern was not present.

WILL COST $1,875,000

It has been estimated that $1,875,000 will be required to supply every voting precinct in the County with voting machines. While the Commissioners' conditional appropriation is only a little more than half that much, it was explained that the remainder can be ar-

MACDONALD GREETS OLD FRIENDS

Visit Recalls Illness 2 Years Ago—U. S. Accepts Bid To 5-Power Naval Parley

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, stopped off here this afternoon to attend luncheon with the physician and nurse who attended him in his illness two years ago.

The special MacDonald train, en route to New York, arrived at noon.

GREETS VETERANS

The premier and his daughter, Ishbel, were greeted by civic and military authorities. They passed through two lanes of British war veterans, many of them wearing wound stripes and decorations. The prime minister shook hands with them along the line and was escorted with bands playing to the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, where the luncheon and reception was held.

It was in 1927 during his last visit to the United States that the British statesman was taken ill. He was taken to Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia and the warm-hearted Scot has never forgotten the kind treatment accorded him.

The Premier gave a short talk appropriate to his arrival in the city of Brotherly Love.

"I am delighted with the great response the American people and the American press have given to the attempts of the President and myself to arrive at a mutual understanding," he said.

"I am going away convinced under the most genial atmosphere that has thus far been created, that there will be a satisfactory harvest of results. Some matters will take a short time to straighten out, but the great thing that has been achieved is that we have removed the point that used

SMASHED CAB OF P. R. R. PASSENGER TRAIN NO. 4, WRECKED HEAD-ON WITH FREIGHT AT PORTAGE

Railroad wreckers removing the shattered locomotive of P. R. R. passenger flyer No. 4, which late last night crashed head-on with a freight at Portage, near Johnstown, killing three. The battered structure in the center of this picture once was the passenger locomotive cab in which Engineer W. T. Johnson and Fireman G. L. Burkholder lost their lives.

3 DIE IN WRECK AT PORTAGE

Three enginemen were killed and a number of passengers and trainmen slightly injured late last night, when Pennsylvania passenger train No. 4, eastbound, collided head-on with a westbound extra freight train on a "cross-over" 150 yards from the station at Portage, Pa., 16 miles east of Johnstown. The passenger train left Pittsburgh at 8:05 p. m.

The dead were W. T. Johnson, of Youngwood, Pa., engineer of the passenger train; W. C. Reed, of Conemaugh, engineer of the freight train, and G. L. Burkholder, of Jeannette, passenger fireman. The engineers were reported to have been killed instantly, Burkholder dying while being taken to a hospital in Johnstown.

ENGINES OVERTURNED

J. C. Flenner, of Altoona, fireman on the freight, jumped when he saw the crash was imminent, and escaped uninjured.

Both engines left the track and toppled over, and 10 freight cars were thrown across the right-of-way.

Two express cars were derailed, roof being torn away.

The cause of the wreck was undetermined, but a group of railroad

Murdered Pittsburgher Told Slayer She Loved Someone Else Only to End Romance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Unusual precautions were taken today to prevent the suicide of Dexter Churchill Dayton, 25-year-old insurance salesman of Kansas City, who climaxed a "wild party" by strangling the girl with whom he was infatuated, Miss Marjorie O'Donnell, 23, of Pittsburgh, in a frenzy of jealousy and liquor.

After choking the life out of the pretty brunette, the crazed youth sat beside her body in a room in the Roosevelt Hotel, on Sixteenth street, for nearly 24 hours trying to get up courage enough to kill himself.

In jail today he was closely watched.

"GHOST SWEETHEART"

That a "ghost" sweetheart cost the life of the girl is the story of her sister, Katherine, with whom she lived. Both girls came here from Pittsburgh and obtained employment with the Geographic Society. A third and younger sister is in a finishing school here.

Marjorie had told her sister, Katherine, that a dinner engagement with Dayton Monday night was to be her last with him.

When she broke the news to Dayton, police believe, he in a drunken frenzy strangled her in a room in the Roosevelt Hotel where her body was found Tuesday morning after

GIRL'S LETTER TOLD OF PARTY

The last letter Marjorie O'Donnell wrote before her murder in Washington was in the hands of her 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. R. C. Schoffner, of Wilmerding, today.

A few hours before she set out on the party which led to her violent death in Washington, Marjorie wrote her grandmother, told her of the forthcoming dance, the dinner and of the "becoming lace dress with the green bow," which proved to be the gown in which she was slain.

"Tonight," wrote Marjorie, "I am going out to dinner and dance formally for the first time this fall. Am going to wear my green satin slippers and my lace dress with the green bow. I have a chance to sell the lace dress, but it's so very becoming and everybody raves about it so much that I hate to part with it.

"I am going out tonight with some people from Kansas City. Guess we will go over to Wardman, as some people in the party are also coming over from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and that seems to be their favorite place in Washington."

STEEL ORDERS SHOW GAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Speculators on the short side of United States Steel stock were given the surprise of their lives today when the monthly unfilled tonnage report of the corporation, issued at noon, instead of showing a decrease in September business, showed an increase of 244,370 tons.

U. S. Steel common, which had been the ruling favorite for the day, shot upward 12 points to 230, completing a 24-point comeback since last Friday, and stimulating active buying of other well-known industrial shares.

Once again the "breaks" were in favor of the bulls, who saw in the unexpected rise in forward steel tonnage a revival in some of the important activities rated as the best users of finished steel. Steel's great showing was all the greater for the unfavorable surveys of the steel trade authorities this week and the reported slump in automobile steel consumption.

Further squeezing of the shorts in the high-priced specialties sent prices sharply higher. Westinghouse jumped 9 points to 241½ and General Electric 8 points to 375.

Autogyro Inventor Escapes in Crash

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The American-built Spanish autogyro undergoing tests at the Pitcairn Field at Hallowell, 18 miles north of this city, was damaged during a trial today. A report that the inventor of the machine, Juan de la Cierva, was injured, was denied by G. S. Childs, executive vice-president of the Pitcairn Cierva Autogyro Company.

Mr. Childs said that in making a landing a strut on the left side gave way causing the machine to tip over. The left fixed wing and the rotation vane were damaged, he said.

FALL MISTRIAL IN ABEYANCE

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Declaration of a mistrial in the bribery case against Albert B. Fall was held temporarily in abeyance today pending a further and more searching inquiry into the exact physical condition of the former secretary of interior.

Justice William Hitz, presiding, announced at opening of court that, although a preliminary examination of the aged defendant had made it apparent he would not be able to appear today, the physician appointed by the court was desirous of going over Fall more thoroughly—this with a view to determining what his condition was apt to be in the immediate future. He adjourned court until

Supreme Court Postpones Coal Police Trial

BULLETIN.

The trial of the three coeal and iron police charged with involuntary manslaughter, in the death of John Borkowski, will not proceed next Monday, as planned. The State Supreme Court, to which the defense appealed for a change of venue, today ordered an indefinite stay until the apeal is decided.

The State Supreme Court, in session here, was asked today to grant a change in venue for three coal and iron policemen, scheduled for trial Monday on charges of involuntary manslaughter in the death of John Borkowski, Tyre miner.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard filed a petition to take the trial outside of Allegheny County.

Chief Justice Robert Von Moschzisher asked District Attorney S. H. Gardner to file his answer immediately, that the court might render a decision before it concludes its sessions in this city today.

Prichard's contentions were that the three defendants could not get a fair trial in Allegheny County because of public sentiment against them following censure and discharge of the jury that acquitted them.

Walter J. Lyster, one of the defendants, is at liberty in $5,000 bail. The other two, Harold P. Watts and Frank Siapikas, are in jail.

Ex-Ohio Treasurer Must Serve Term

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Bert Buckley, former state treasurer, lost his fight to escape serving a two and a half year penitentiary term and paying a $1,000 fine for attempted bribery of a prohibition officer when the United State Circuit Court of Appeals refused today to grant him a rehearing of his appeal. The court immediately affirmed a mandate which stayed the order of execution for 30 days so that Buckley's attorneys could appeal the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Joe Engelsberg's Sentence Delayed

Joseph Engelsberg, Hill district politician, who was to have been sentenced tomorrow in Federal Court for a conspiracy to voilate the liquor laws, was granted a postponement today until October 21 because of the illness of his attorney, Mortimer B. Lesher.

Judge Nelson McVicar granted the postponement. A few days ago Engelsberg was refused a new trial.

3 Burned Saving Child From Flames

The mother, grandmother and aunt of 5-year-old Margaret Maple, of West Elizabeth, suffered burns today when they rescued Margaret from flames that had ignited the child's clothes in the yard of her home.

Margaret, too, was burned and was reported in serious condition in McKeesport Hospital.

The three women were burned on the hands.

Old papers were afire in the yard. Suddenly a flame reached the dress of Margaret, standing nearby.

Her mother, Mrs. Mildred Maple, 23, from the home saw the flames sweeping over the child's body.

She rushed to the fire and grabbed her daughter.

The child's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Maple, 53, and aunt, Olive Maple, 18, followed.

With their hands the women beat out the flames.

They screamed for help. A local physician treated the child and she was rushed to the hospital.

BANKER GETS 15-YEAR TERM FOR $500,000 SWINDLE

GUILTY PLEA ENTERED BY WAGGONER

Westerner Sent to Atlanta For Defrauding New York Financiers by Fake Wires

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Charles Delos Waggoner, Telluride, Col., bank president, was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment in Atlanta penitentiary today on his plea of guilty to mail fraud in connection with a scheme to obtain $500,000 from six New York banks by means of forged authorization papers.

United States Attorney Tuttle told the court that the plea had been entered without any pre-arrangement or promise as to sentence and moved immediately for imposition of sentence.

PLEA SURPRISES

Although there had been no prearrangement, Tuttle had received an intimation of what was to happen before he entered the courtroom. His assistants, however, were taken completely by surprise when defense counsel entered the plea for the bank president.

Waggoner's scheme consisted of sending messages in banking code to the New York banks in the name of Denver banks, authorizing them to place money to the credit of Waggoner. Waggoner then appeared here and claimed the money.

In asking for a severe sentence the prosecutor accused Waggoner of embezzlement from his own bank in connection with his handling of a large estate. He said that this embezzlement furnished the motive for the more recent crime against the New York banks, committed in desperation "when the day of reckoning was at hand."

CHARGES "SCUTTLING"

"The only reason why this bank (the Bank of Telluride) went under," Tuttle told the court, "was the same that caused the private bank of the Clarke Brothers in this city to go to the wall a few months ago. It had been scuttled from the inside."

The banker had told federal investigators he had hoped to use the half million dollars paying off depositors of his Telluride institution, which was on the verge of collapse.

Waggoner's attorney, Allan R. Campbell, entered a plea in the banker's behalf, urging that Waggoner was entitled to sympathy and consideration from the court because of his "altruistic purpose," though his acts had been admittedly criminal.

'GHOST' VOTER INQUIRY ENDS

The registration commissioners late today ended the hearings on the move of the Bar Association elections committee to strike names from the registration lists.

A halt was called after witnesses had been heard from only six of the 741 city districts. Thomas Kilgallen, counsel for the registration commission, informed the Bar Association representatives that the commission had heard sufficient testimony to indicate the trend throughout the city.

The commission will go over the cases heard and likely will strike out some of the names against which protest was made, with a view to permitting test cases to be filed in court.

Investigators for the board reported a dozen cases in the first five districts of the First Ward where men were not known at the addresses from which they registered.

Investigators also reported other cases in the Fourth and Fifth districts, there being six in the latter.

It developed that in several instances clerical errors had caused the investigators to seek the voters at the wrong addresses.

M. J. Muldowney, candidate for Council, dropped 26 votes by a recount of ballots in the Sixth District, Fourth Ward, today.

The special recount board found Muldowney's vote was 201 instead of 227 as shown on the tally sheet. The count for his opponent, Councilman P. J. McArdle, gave him 111 votes, which corresponded with the tally sheet. Muldowney's lead, according to the returning board figures, was 396 votes in the entire city.

officials left here immediately upon receipt of word of the collision to conduct an investigation.

SIGNALS IN ORDER

The signals, the officials declared, were not out of order.

The brakes on the two trains were set after the wreck, but whether they were applied by the engineers when they saw the crash coming or were automatically applied by the breaking of connections at the time of the wreck was unknown.

The locomotives telescoped, officials said. The first express car was badly damaged, part of the roof being torn away.

Special trains carrying the Philadelphia Athletics, the Chicago Cubs and world series fans on their way to Philadelphia were still west of Pittsburgh, and were not delayed, officials said, as traffic was being moved over the two tracks opened.

WOUNDED MAN'S MOTHER DIES

CANONSBURG, Oct. 10.—Charles S. Fee, who was shot by his wife on July 3 last, as he lay in bed at his home near Houston, has recovered from the wound; but the shock proved fatal to his mother, Mrs. Annie McCoy Fee, of McConnell's Mills.

Her death was reported today, and relatives said it was due to the nervous collapse she suffered when her son was attacked. The blow prostrated Mrs. Fee; she failed to rally, and was taken to the Washington Hospital, where she died yesterday.

Mrs. Fee was a life-long resident of Washington County and a member of Cross Roads United Presbyterian Church.

Suit Against Thaw By Model Delayed

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Trial of the suit of Miss Marcia Estardus, artist's model, against Harry K. Thaw for $100,000 was again postponed today—until next Tuesday—because her attorney, S. J. Seigel, was in the midst of another case in Criminal Court. She charges Thaw with ungentlemanly conduct when she went to his apartment for breakfast following a party on New Year's Eve, 1927.

The first trial, four months ago, ended in a jury disagreement.

AIR TOUR FLIER NEAR DISASTER

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Stanley Stanton, in a Cessna monoplane, was the first of the contestants in the national air tour to arrive here today.

Stanton, who is accompanied by his bride, completed the 183-mile flight from Richmond, Va., in one hour and 32 minutes.

Art Davis, in a Waco, trailed Stanton by a few minutes.

All the contestants declared their hop from Richmond was without incidents.

The tour planes will leave here, later this afternoon for Greenville, South Carolina.

Mrs. Keith Miller, diminutive English aviatrix, who has been among the first 10 in standing ever since the tour began, narrowly escaped injury when her plane turned over on its side as she attempted to avoid striking a boy upon landing at Byrd Field, Richmond.

Don Mathers, of Kansas City, flying a Touro plane, cracked up while taking off from Baltimore and while he escaped unhurt his ship was so badly damaged that he will be unable to continue the 5,000 mile tour through 35 cities.

MOORE MAY GET NEW EMBASSY POSITION

Pittsburgh Man, Former Publisher, Mentioned for One of European Posts

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Appointment by President Hoover Wednesday of Irwin B. Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, as United States ambassador to Spain may be followed soon by an announcement that another prominent Pittsburgher is to be given an important diplomatic post on the continent of Europe.

Alexander P. Moore, himself a former ambassador to Spain and until recently the ranking American diplomatic representative in Peru, is being urged by Senator David A. Reed and other members of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation for appointment to one of the remaining major European posts.

REED WINS

Senator Reed, in fact, has already discussed the appointment of Mr. Moore with President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson. Now that the Laughlin assignment is settled—an assignment which he also recommended—he is expected to concentrate his efforts on the second Pittsburgh appointment.

Former Ambassador Moore is also supported by Representative Stephen G. Porter, of Pittsburgh, whose advice in diplomatic matters is often sought by President Hoover because of Porter's position as chairman of the important House Foreign Affairs Committee.

CAPITALS FAVORED

Senator Reed said today that he intends to urge Moore for one of the Continental ambassadorial positions which the Chief Executive has failed to fill to date. The most important of these is Germany, France and Italy having already been disposed through the appointment of John W. Garrett, of Baltimore, as ambassador to the latter and the announcement some time back that Senator Walter Edge, of New Jersey, would be sent to Paris.

Still, aside from Germany there are several other Continental posts which would be acceptable to Mr. Moore, it is felt.

Both Mr. Moore and Mr. Laughlin, the latter whose family has long been identified with the steel industry at Pittsburgh, are something of career men in the diplomatic service. Before receiving his latest appointment, Mr. Laughlin was minister to Greece. He was attached to the American Embassy at London during the war and has seen service in Japan, China, Siam, Montenegro, Turkey and Germany. He resigned the service several years ago because of illness in his family. In all, he has associated with diplomatic work for some 19 years.

Mr. Moore, a former Pittsburgh editor, was first appointed ambassador to Spain by President Harding in 1923, serving two years. Later he was given the assignment as ambassador to Peru, succeeding former Senator Miles Poindexter, of the state of Washington, recently asked to be relieved of the Peruvian post because of the rigors of the South American climate.

At the time Senator Reed proposed the name of Mr. Laughlin for an ambassadorial post he also took up with the President the appointment of Mr. Moore, one being urged for Rome and the other Madrid. This was some time ago, but with the selection of the Pittsburgh steel man now a matter of official announcement it is the purpose of Reed to press for the Moore appointment.

REED ASKS AID IN TARIFF FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Fears that the Senate cannot complete its work on the tariff bill before the end of the special session and that the administration would not favor its revival in the regular session, were added today to the worries of the Republican leadership.

Senator Robinson (Ark.), Democratic floor leader, still insisted that the Senate would be able to dispose of the bill by November 10. But Senator Watson (Ind.), Republican floor leader, was by no means so optimistic.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, on whom has fallen the brunt of guiding the measure through the Senate thus far, has declared that unless more assistance is given him in his task he is ready to relinquish the responsibility.

WOMAN KILLED, 4 HURT IN AUTO

A woman was killed and three men and a woman injured in a collision of two automobiles at Spring and Jenny Lind streets, McKeesport, at 2 a. m. today.

The dead woman was Mrs. Estella Lofgren, 23, of 2725 Cleveland street, McKeesport, who was riding with her husband, Earnest Lofgren. She was killed instantly.

Nelson Cuthbert, of 2512 Banket street, McKeesport, driver of the other car; Gus Miller, 2318 Cleveland avenue; Martin Tagick, of 2506 Mercantile street, all of McKeesport, and Mrs. A. W. Bradbury, of Baltimore, who were riding with him, were slightly injured. They were taken to McKeesport Hospital.

ranged for in making up the budget.

With the submission of the question to the voters thus assured, preparations went forward today for a vigorous non-partisan campaign to win the citizens' approval.

Headquarters have been opened in the William Penn Hotel. Through meetings, speeches, circulation of printed matter and personal appeal, a strong effort will be made to induce the voters in every city, borough and township in the County to authorize the substitution of machines for the old-fashioned paper ballots.

Emphasis will be laid on the argument that the machines will make election cheating more difficult, eliminate error, and expedite counting of the vote.

Senator Frank J. Harris, who took up the fight for voting machines after the death of his brother, Senator John P. Harris, father of the legislation, will formally open the campaign with a public statement.

FEAR WOMEN VICTIMS OF CULT

Los Angeles Police Widen Investigation Into Rites Of Strange Religious Sect

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Evidence that the strange burial of a youthful "Priestess" of the religious cult known as "The Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven" may have been preceded by ritualistic and unreported burials of other cult members, and that a woman may have been literally roasted to death, sent investigators today to widely separated spots in the mountains of Southern California.

Police believed, from conversations with members of the cult, that four women, in addition to 16-year-old Willa Rhoads, whose body was found beneath the residence of her foster-parents, may have been privately buried.

FOLLOW NEW CLUES

Remarks about a new floor being laid in the cabin of a cult leader and another story of a coffin-like box having been buried in the mountains sent the authorities off on new trails.

Among the missing cult members for whom the police are conducting a search in the mountain areas of Los Angeles and Ventura counties are Mrs. Frances Turner, Mrs. Katherine Bolz, Mrs. Harlene Sartoris and Mrs. Addie McGuffin.

Another woman, Mrs. Floyd Miller, also is sought at the request of her mother, Mrs. Mary Faist, of Portland, Ore. Mrs. Faist said her daughter came to Los Angeles with her husband about four years ago and was last heard from soon after joining the cult. Miller, who is said to be in Los Angeles, is known by investigators as a member of the strange religious sect.

LOCKED IN OVEN

Officers were investigating further a startling story told to Detective Lieut. Frank Condaffer, of the police homicide squad, by Arthur and Minnie Toy, members of the cult, of a ritualistic ceremony wherein Mrs. Turner, one of the missing women, was placed in an oven filled with hot bricks. A woman of the same name was buried in Ventura nearly two years ago, and alleged discrepancies in her death certificate are being checked.

Mr. and Mrs. Toy, Condaffer reported, said they were present when Mrs. Turner was placed in a specially constructed brick oven in the home of Grandma Jennie Blackburn, mother of Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, cult leader now in jail on fraud charges. They said Mrs. Turner was kept in the oven all day, and that no one in the cult ever saw her alive again. They asserted that she had been buried near the "Golden Throne Temple" in the cult's colony in the Santa Susana Mountains.

TELLS OF BURYING BOX

Police also were searching for a coffin-like box which William Rhoads, foster father of Willa Rhoads, said he buried near Big Bear Lake in the San Bernardino Mountains. Rhoads said he buried the box, the contents of which he had not seen, four months ago at his wife's command. Rhoads also told police he had buried his stepdaughter's body under the house on orders from his wife.

While Los Angeles County officers were running down every fresh clue regarding the missing persons and the activities of the cult, Ventura County investigators were conducting a thorough search of the Santa Susana Mountain settlement. One development was the finding yesterday of a new floor in a section of the cabin occupied by Mrs. Blackburn.

Questioned as to what might be buried under the floor, David Thompson, Negro guard of the "Golden Temple," repeatedly said "I daren't tell."

Veteran 'Shrinks' An Inch Each Year

SAWTELLE, Cal. — (INS.)—Shrinking in size an inch each year, Joseph Mayott, 54-year-old World and Spanish War veteran, presents a strange problem to medical science, it became known today.

Mayott is suffering from Paget's disease, the technical name for dissolving of the bony structure of the body and medical science has admitted that it is unable to aid him.

American Opera Scores Big Hit in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—An American opera, sung in English, was given its successful world premiere at the Majestic Theater last night by the American Opera Company. The opera, "Yolanda of Cyprus," was written by Cale Young Rice, with music by Clarence Loomis, of Chicago. It is in three acts.

Critical comment in the morning newspapers laid emphasis on the beauty of the score and the manner in which the composer retained in music the spirit of the drama. The choral climax, on a tragic note, was noted especially by the reviewers.

The time of the action of the opera is the Sixteenth Century and the scene an island in the Mediterranean.

Three more performances of "Yolanda" are to be given during the fortnight repertoire of the company.

Pittsburgh Lawyer Fights Graham Appointment

"I have protested against the appointment of Louis E. Graham as United States attorney to salve my own conscience."

Attorney John S. Pyle, formerly of the Pittsburgh prohibition headquarters legal staff, thus explained today why he had asked the Senate Judiciary Committee to report unfavorably on the appointment.

His protest is being considered by a sub-committee headed my Senator Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, which is expected to issue a report on Friday.

"My conscience," Pyle said, "would not permit me to remain silent, knowing as I did that Graham had been guilty of lawlessness in aggravated form."

"You mean," he was asked, "the issuance of illegal search warrants, that you charge in your letter?"

"That, and the making of raids without any warrants whatever, and other things besides."

"Are you making this fight single-handed?"

"I didn't consult anyone else. There are a number of others who are interested in it and feel about it as I do. Whether they will come out into the open in their opposition remains to be seen. I rather enjoy a scrap, but lots of them don't."

"Do you intend to follow up your letters with other action?"

"That depends on the reception the Senate committee gives it. If they are interested, I will furnish a great deal of material to prove my contention that Graham is unfit to be United States attorney. The illegal search warrant matter is only a small portion of it. If necessary I will go to Washington."

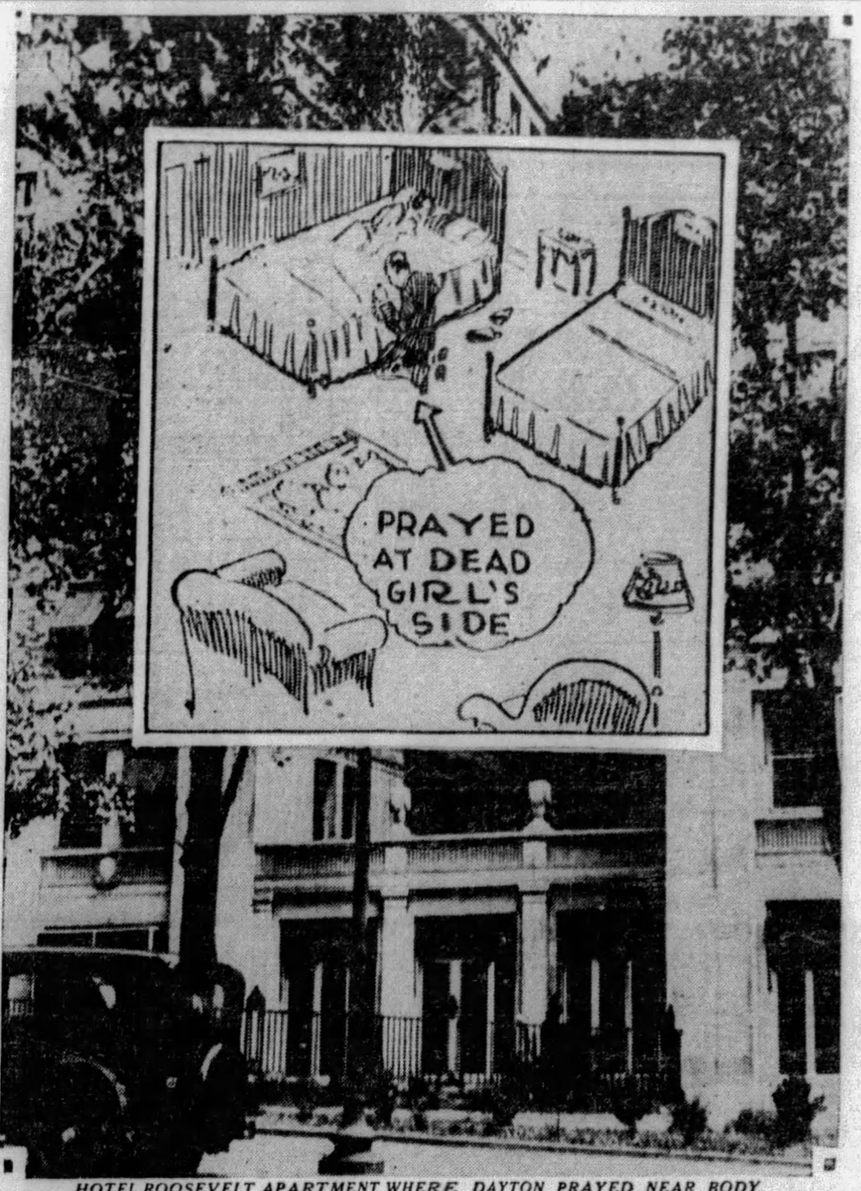
HOW SLAYER PRAYED AT BEDSIDE OF PITTSBURGH GIRL

CONFESSED SLAYER IN POLICE CUSTODY

Dexter Churchill Dayton, confessed slayer of Miss Marjorie O'Donnell, 24, former Pittsburgh newspaper woman and National Geographic Magazine writer at the time of her death, under heavy police guard in Washington.

RECENT PORTRAIT OF MARJORIE O'DONNELL

Miss O'Donnell, daughter of a former Pittsburgh newspaperman, in a recent portrait.



HOTEL ROOSEVELT APARTMENT WHERE DAYTON PRAYED NEAR BODY

After a quarrel and an admitted drinking party in an apartment for which Dayton registered, Miss O'Donnell was strangled to death. For almost 24 hours, Dayton, who readily confesses, stayed in the room and was found praying with rosary beads in his hands.

DEXTER DAYTON

Girl's Slayer Jealous Of 'Ghost' Fiance

Dayton had telephoned to the hotel clerk: "I've killed my sweetheart."

SISTER FAILS TO RETURN

Katherine O'Donnell told police that Marjorie left their room Monday evening to meet Dayton. They were to go to a dinner at Wardman Park Hotel.

That was the last time Katherine saw her sister alive. She was surprised when Marjorie failed to return Monday night. She was undecided whether to call hospitals and police stations for information concerning Marjorie, she said.

BODY FOUND

At the offices of the Geographic Society, Katherine accounted for absence of her sister from work by saying she was suffering from a cold.

The office nurse went to the O'Donnell girls' apartment, but found it empty.

Meanwhile Marjorie's body, clad in an evening dress had been found in the Hotel Roosevelt where she and Dayton had registered late Monday night as "J. R. and R. C. Burton, of Baltimore."

Dayton's story, brought out piecemeal from a brain hazy from liquor, is that he killed the girl "sometime Tuesday," and then kept a lonely vigil by her body after he had carefully arranged it on the bed.

She was clothed except for her shoes and stockings, which had been neatly arranged on the floor near the bed. The young lover told police he killed his sweetheart after a quarrel because she told him of another man she intended to marry, and he "could not live without her."

"OTHER MAN" MYTH

The sister Katherine insists that Marjorie had no sweetheart, and that she merely told Dayton of the "ghost lover" to put him off. Marjorie went to the hotel after being tricked by Dayton on representations that he wanted her to meet a friend there, Katherine told the police.

The strangler, still under the influence of liquor when the police found him on his knees by the side of the bed on which his victim lay, sobered up several hours after he had been placed in a cell, and refusing the services of a lawyer, sent for a Catholic priest.

As for a lawyer, "What's the use," he asked. "A lawyer can't do me any good now."

STORY HAZY

He had registered at the Roosevelt Hotel Monday, and some time during the day the girl joined him there. According to his story, they began drinking and his mind is in a haze as to what transpired, but it was "some time Monday night" that after the quarrel she fell asleep on the bed and he then strangled her.

Marks on her body and blood on the bedclothing gave evidence that the girl had fought for her life. He slept after the crime until shortly before 3 a. m. Wednesday, and endeavored to shoot himself, but the pistol missed fire. He then notified the hotel management he had "killed his sweetheart."

The girl's father, editor of an Oil City (Pa.) newspaper, arrived here today to take charge of the body.

Dayton's confession does not agree with statements to police by Katherine O'Donnell, who insists Marjorie had made many attempts to break the ties that held her to Dayton.

"We both were pretty drunk," Dayton told police, they said.

"I was going to end my own life after I saw that she was dead, but I lost my nerve," Dayton said in his confession, according to police.

A quiet, studious girl, Majorie was highly esteemed at the offices of the Geographic Society. She had contemplated taking a night course at the George Washington University, her fellow employes said.

Marjorie formerly was society and club editor of the old Pittsburgh Sun. She was the daughter of John O'Donnell, Oil City, (Pa.) publisher.

BURIAL HERE

Relatives of Marjorie O'Donnell in Pittsburgh today said her body would be brought back here for burial, probably tomorrow. The casket will not be opened, they asserted, but will be taken directly to a church for funeral services. Marjorie will be laid to rest in Calvery Cemetery beside the grave of her mother, who died 15 years ago.

to killing the former Pittsburgh girl, Marjorie wrote nothing.

The letter, postmarked in Washington at 7:30 p. m., Monday, was received by Mrs. Schoffner Tuesday afternoon.

The letter was shown the Sun-Telegraph by relatives in Pittsburgh today.

Part of the letter itself told about a younger sister, who had also been brought to Washington within the past few months and placed in a school, there to be provided for by Marjorie and Catherine, the older girls. Much of it had to do with the younger sister's progress, and how the two girls were "pinching pennies" to see her through.

The gown, of ecru lace, a relative explained, was a made-over one more than 25 years old.

"Everyone admired the gown, and Marjorie so liked it that last spring she and I made it over ourselves. From the day she left school she had struggled in her own way to succeed. She secured her own jobs, paid her own bills, made many of her own dresses, of which she had lamentably few. The few cents she had over she spent on her sister.

"She wrote weekly to her grandmother. She had received communion over the week-end. She went to church every morning. She feared nothing. An over share of illness seemingly made her work harder that she could be independent of the world. She was a fine girl."

Drive to Disarm Armistice Day Troops Fails

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Agitation to induce the Labor government to give a less military aspect to the annual Armistice Day celebration around the Cenotaph by having troops attend without arms, has failed.

The home office issued a statement in the government views on the subject, showing that service is primarily a tribute to those who fell in war.

However, in order to emphasize the peaceful and civilian nature of the ceremony, it was decided to reduce the service personnel attending the ceremony to the smallest dimensions compatible with adequate representation of the three services.

BILL FINING RUM BUYER SHUNNED

Senator Sheppard's bill making it a crime to buy liquor does not have the unanimous approval of the drys, Dr. J. W. Claudy, executive director of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches, declared today.

"There is a group," he said, "who have the opinion, which I myself hold, that it would only complicate the prohibition problem to add to the penal code a law to punish the purchaser of liquor.

"Actually, morally and to a certain extent legally, the buyer is as guilty as the seller. Theoretically he should be treated the same. From a practical standpoint I do not believe it is expedient."

The Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has indorsed the Sheppard bill.

Dr. Claudy, nationally prominent as a prohibitionist, was one of the organizers of the "super-dry" organization recently formed at Washington, D. C., to see that the dry point of view is properly presented to President Hoover's crime commission.

At Dr. Claudy's suggestion the body was named "The Co-Operative Committee on Prohibition Enforcement." Col. Patrick H. Callahan, of Louisville, Ky., a prominent Catholic, was elected chairman.

The committee, Dr. Claudy said, represents 32 separate organizations working for the enforcement of the national prohibition laws.

tomorrow morning to await the amplified report.

LUNG CONGESTED

Fall, who is charged with having accepted a $100,000 bribe in connection with the oil scandals of the Harding administration, collapsed in court on Monday. He is suffering from a congestion of the right lung, disturbed by a slight fever, and is coughing up blood, the court was informed.

"Yesterday," said Hitz, "I called upon two physicians (Drs. Stirling Ruffin and Thomas Claytor) to examine the defendant. One felt he was professionally unqualified to do so and the other was unable to see Mr. Fall yesterday. The latter did call on him this morning, however, and says his condition is such that he will be unable to appear today. He was not entirely satisfied with his examination, though, and feels a more complete examination is necessary if his probable condition in the immediate future is to be determined."

Drs. Frank Leech, John Thomas and W. D. Tewksbury were appointed by Hitz to make this further examination today.

WILSON DOCTOR BANNED

Dr. Clayton was unable to see Fall yesterday because he had fallen into a deep sleep, and it was felt it would be "inhuman to waken him." This morning he did not have the time, before convening of court, to make a thorough examination.

As for Dr. Ruffin, it was learned that Fall had refused to see him "for personal reasons." Ruffin was in attendance on Woodrow Wilson following the war-time president's collapse on his League of Nations tour, and at a time when Fall, then a United States senator, forced a senatorial inquiry into the executive's condition. Fall was one of three senators who called at the White House to determine whether Wilson was physically able to continue his term as president. This, it is assumed, was the "personal reason" that prompted Fall to object to Ruffin.

PRISON LABOR BEFORE A.F.L.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Opposition to the sale of prison-made goods in competition with the output of manufacturers was to come up in the form of a resolution today at the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

At Niagara Falls last night, William Green, president of the A. F. of L., attacked the all-Canadian unions, asserting there is no room for two movements. He claimed the national unions are "tools of employers" in spreading discontent among workers.

Sir Henry Thornton, of the Canadian National Railways, was to address the convention today on the partnership plan adopted by the C. N. R. between labor and capital which is working out successfully.

Former Kahn Aid Commits Suicide

KEARNY, N. J., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The body of William J. Wilson, social leader of this town and former secretary of Otto H. Kahn, who had been missing since Monday, was found in his garage today. The engine of his automobile was running and death had been caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Police pronounced Wilson a suicide. It was reported that he had suffered heavy losses recently in the stock market.

LINDY ON WAY BACK TO U. S.

MIAMI, Oct. 10. — (AP.) — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his party left Cozumel at 9:36 a. m. today on the last leg of the return flight to Miami from Belize, British Honduras, according to a radio message relayed to Pan-American Airways here.

ISLA COZUMEL, QUINTANA ROO, Mexico, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Four ancient Maya cities, hitherto uncharted, were discovered yesterday by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, his wife and their companions, in several hours flying in inland Quintana Roo.

The first was sighted within an hour after the party left Belize, British Honduras.

Mrs. Lindbergh, wearing light knickers, high boots, blue shirt and a silk scarf about her head, herself discovered the second ruins which at first seemed just a bit of white wall glistening above the deep green of the bush.

When the third city was discovered later in the afternoon, Santa Cruz Indians beneath ran from the plane as it flew above them.

Col. Lindbergh sighted the fourth ruin, probably the most interesting find of the day, a great mound rising 60 or 70 feet above the ground, with its crumbling walls visible from as far as 22 miles away.

Australians Wreck Talkie Film Devices

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Mysterious and widespread tampering with talkie equipment supplied by an American firm is stated by the Sydney correspondent of the Evening News to have taken place in various parts of Australia.

A first night talking film at Sydney Saturday proved a fiasco because of the absence of synchronization while a similar failure took place Monday. Investigation revealed that a control box had been wrecked. Other equipment in Sydney was found filled with sand, while another had the wires fused. Equipment in other Australian cities was affected similarly.

The evidence disclosed that Vazaroff was intoxicated while projecting the pictures.

Pictures Make Trio Admit Safe Cracking

Three Negroes who were placed on trial before Visiting Judge Ward Fleming yesterday on charges of having cracked numerous safes throughout the city, changed their plea from not guilty to guilty today. They will be sentenced tomorrow.

The change in plea came after B. M. Reid, assistant district attorney, introduced numerous pictures of the men showing city detectives the manner in which they cracked the strong boxes.

SLAYER HANGS SELF IN CELL

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Michael Skesavage, 40, of Plains Township, facing trial for two murders, two serious shootings and more than a score of robberies, cheated justice early today when he hanged himself in the police station here.

Skesavage, Frank Tawza, of Wilkes-Barre, and Peter Kermazis-kas, 30, of Scranton, have been in custody for several days following Tawza's arrest when he attempted to secure medical treatment for a bullet wound.

Tawza is the confessed slayer of Thomas Krokuski, assistant chief of Luzerne Borough police, who was shot down by a fleeing bandit last week, while Skesavage was alleged to have participated in the murder of A. J. Kaufer, prominent Plains Township merchant, last November.

Skesavage's body was found hanging from the cell bars early today, his belt used as an improvised noose. A deputy coroner said the man was dead several hours.

Bomb Wrecks Stunt Plane; One Killed

GUYMON, Okla., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Shattered by a premature explosion of a bomb during a stunt flight at the county fair here, an airplane crashed to the ground from 500 feet, killing J. Jimmy (Mile High) Bethel, 30, of St. Joseph, Mo., and dangerously injuring John Noonan, Guymon, the pilot.

Bethel, an aerial stunt performer, released a five-second bomb from the front cockpit which failed to clear the plane before it exploded. One wing was blown off and the plane dived to earth.

FEAR VIOLENCE IN MILK STRIKE

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—More violence in the strike of milk producers of the Kansas City district was feared today as a result of the second instance of sabotage since the strike began Monday.

Ten men, apparently farmers, according to the driver, stopped a milk truck of a Kansas City pasteurization plant and poured in the road 160 gallons of milk. A group of 20 men poured 500 gallons from a dairy truck Tuesday.

Edward Maurer, driver of the truck stopped yesterday, said several of the men stepped to the running board of his truck from a car which pulled alongside while he was returning to Kansas City from Knobtown, Mo. Maurer was not molested.

Cabaret Raided, Owner Escapes By Rainspout

When county detectives raided the cabaret of Emanuel McPherson, 216 Sixth avenue, Homestead, early today, they reported, McPherson slid down a rain spout from the second story and fled in an automobile.

The detectives confiscated an adding machine and clearing house lottery equipment. Information charging McPherson with conducting a lottery was made against McPerson before Alderman George A. Anderson.

Another squad of detectives invaded a cabaret at 244 Sixth avenue, Homestead, and arrested Harry Broadus, alleged proprietor, and Arthur Mounticuse, of 618 Dickson street, both negroes. Two adding machines and lottery paraphernalia were confiscated.

DRY CASES JAM U. S. COURTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Twenty-nine per cent of the civil and criminal cases pending in Federal courts have not been touched for a year, Attorney General Mitchell said today.

To relieve this congestion he announced he had asked the Budget Bureau for an appropriation of several hundred thousand dollars to increase the forces in offices of United States attorneys, court clerks and marshals.

Mitchell attributed a large portion of the court congestion to prohibition cases, which are piling up rapidly.

Sufficient funds to appoint 30 additional assistant United States attorneys and to increase their average salary from $3,100 to $3,400 was asked of the Budget Bureau.

ISHBEL GETS ROSES

Miss Ruby Crawford, former British war nurse, presented Ishbel with a spray of roses. Miss Crawford together with Miss Eva Mitchell, formerly were in Queen Alexandria's Military Nursing Service, a British war outfit. Both were in uniform.

There was a warm greeting between Ishbel and Miss Lillian Wald, of the Henry Street Settlement, New York City. When the Premier was close to death in Philadelphia in 1927, Miss Wald stayed with Ishbel here at the time.

U. S. ACCEPTS BID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Tired from his strenuous round of a week's conferences and negotiations in the capital, but glowing over the results achieved and the cordial reception encountered on every side, Premier Ramsay MacDonald left here today at 9 o'clock for Philadelphia.

Coincident with his departure, the American government formally accepted today the invitation to the five-power naval conference in London in January, received from London on Monday.

A short formal note was transmitted to the British foreign office, apprising it of American acceptance.

The United States thus becomes the first of the quartet of invited powers to formally accept the invitation.

Washington officialdom saw the Premier off at Union station. There were Secretary of State Stimson, Under-Secretary Cotton, Assistant Secretary Castle, Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador; Vincent Massey, the Canadian minister, and Michael White, the Irish minister, together with the White House military and naval aides, and a smattering of lesser fry. President Hoover bade goodbye to his guest last night.

WELL-WISHERS AT STATION

For a few moments before the train pulled out, the British Prime Minister was the center of a small group of well-wishers who cheerily called "goodbye" and "good luck" as he finished shaking hands and mounted the steps of his car.

As for the official conclusion of his visit to the capital, the Premier said there was nothing he could add to his public statement that he had "achieved in Washington more than I hoped," and "I am taking with me to London a series of questions" bearing on Anglo-American relations which will be studied and negotiated in the months ahead.

The Labor Premier, who came to America with a dream for peace, leaves behind him a job well done.

He had pointed the way along the broad highway of international brotherhood toward a world without war.

He has linked hands across the sea, Great Britain and the United States side by side like two big brothers showing the world the way.

FRANK DIPLOMACY

He has shown that diplomacy can be frank and strengthened by sincerity. This soft-voiced, kindly-eyed, warm-hearted man of the people rolled up the sleeves of his morning coat and showed them. He broke the chains of precedent to lay his cards face up from the rostrum of the American Senate.

As close to earth as the log on which he sat in the wilderness of the Blue Ridge Mountains, MacDonald talked it out with President Hoover at the Hoover camp over the week-end.

It only took that long before the trumpet call to peace was sounded and the great nations of the world invited to assemble in kindred spirit at London for a disarmament conference.

And President Hoover, half-brother in the victory of the new diplomacy, learned to like MacDonald as a man as well as an idealist.

MEET AS COMRADES

These conferences between two great leaders, sometimes before a roaring log fire, sometimes while strolling beside lilting mountain streams, and at other times in the quiet seclusion of the White House, were not the starched and formal exchanges of bygone diplomacy.

Rather they were the meeting of one friend with another as one professional man might chat with a second, a give-and-take of ideas, salted with a reminiscence and peppered with an anecdote.

Barely repressing a chuckle, the President, after one of these conferences, said to newspapermen:

"The Prime Minister has a well of Scotch humor which would lubricate any discussion."

So the President said farewell to MacDonald, the man, as well as MacDonald, the prime minister.

Mr. Hoover said it formally in the visit to the White House by the Scotch pacifist. Then, coutrary to the general tradition of his office, the President attended the brilliant dinner tendered MacDonald last night in the home of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

STRICTLY STAG

The affair was strictly masculine excepting that Mrs. Stimson played the gracious host when the gentlemen arrived. The dress was ultra-formal with bright-hued orders and diplomatic and military decorations adding color to the setting.

The crack army band in dress uniforms played British and American airs throughout the dinner.

CHEERED IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10.—(INS.)—A crowd of several hundred persons gave Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald a cordial greeting when he passed through here today, en route to Philadelphia.

MacDonald was greeted by three committees, one of which presented him an honorary membership in the Maryland Academy of Sciences.

Rum Seized in Home Of Edgewood Doctor

John D. Pennington, Federal prohibition administrator, revealed in court proceedings today that he seized four 10-gallon kegs of "colored" whisky on September 29 last at the home of Dr. DeLano Thomas, 416 Willow place, Edgewood.

Pennington filed a forfeiture libel in the United States District Court for the confiscation of the liquor. Judge Nelson McVicar issued an order, returnable October 30, in which Dr. Thomas is directed to show cause why Pennington's request should not be granted.

M'DONALD JOINS HOOVER IN REVIEW

Statement Issued Following Anti-War Parleys Filled With Optimistic Views

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The text of the joint statement issued last night by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald was as follows:

"During the last few days we have had an opportunity, in the informal talks in which we have engaged, not only to review the conversations on a naval agreement which have been carried on durlng this summer between us, but also to discuss some of the more important means by which the moral force of our countries can be exerted for peace.

Pledge for Peace

"We have been guided by the double hope of settling our own differences on naval matters and so establishing unclouded good will, candor and confidence between us, and also of contributing something to the solution of the problem o peace in which all other nations are interested and which calls for their co-operation.

"In signing the Paris peace pact 56 nations have declared that war shall not be used as an instrument of nationa' policy. We have agreed that all disputes shall be settled by pacific means. Both our governments resolve to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in conformance with its pledge.

"The part of each of our governments in the promotion of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active co-operation with its European neighbors; but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence towards securing the peace of the world.

War 'Unthinkable'

"Our conversations have been largely confined to the mutual relations of the two countries in the light of the situation created by the signing of the peace pact. Therefore, in a new and reinforced sense the two governments not only declare that war between them is unthinkable, but that distrusts and suspicions arising from doubts and fears which may have been justified before the peace pact but now cease to influence national policy. We approach old historical problems from a new angle and in a new atmosphere. On the assumption that war between us is banished, and that conflicts between our military or naval forces cannot take place, these problems have changed their meaning and character, and their solution, in ways satisfactory to both countries, has become possible.

"We have agreed that those questions should become the subject of active consideration between us. They involve important technical matters requiring detailed study. One of the hopeful results of the visit which is now terminating officially has been that our two governments will begin conversations upon them following the same method as that which has been pursued during the summer in London.

Close on Parity

"The exchange of views on naval reduction has brought the two nations so close to agreement that the obstacles of previous conferences arising out of Anglo-American disagreements seem now substantially removed. We have kept the nations which took part in the Washington naval conference of 1922 informed of the progress of our conversations, and we have now proposed to them that we should all meet together and try to come to a common agreement, which would justify each in making substantial naval reductions. An agreement on naval armaments cannot be completed without the co-operation of other naval powers, and both of us feel sure that, by the same free and candid discussion of needs which has characterized our conversations, such mutual understandings will be reached as will make naval agreement next January possible, and thus remove this serious obstacle to the progress of world disarmament.

See War End

"Between now and the meeting of the proposed conference in January, our governments will continue conversations with the other powers concerned, in order to remove as many difficulties as possible before the official and formal negotiations open.

"In view of the security afforded by the peace pact, we have been able to end, we trust forever, all competitive building between ourselves with the risk of war and the waste of public money involved, by agreeing to a parity of fleets, category by category.

"Success at the coming conference will result in a large decrease in the naval equipment of the world and, what is equally important, the reduction of prospective programs of construction which would otherwise produce competitive building to an indefinite amount.

"We hope and believe that the steps we have taken will be warmly welcomed by the people whom we represent as a substantial contribution to the efforts universally made by all nations to gain security for pence—not by military organization—but by peaceful means rooted in public opinion and enforced by a sense of justice in the civilized world."

'Danny' Daniels' Wife Completes Jail Term

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels, of Nowata, widow of Albert A. Corns Ended!

Why put up with corns or only temporarily subdue them when "Freezone" takes them out of your life? A few drops of "Freezone" on any corn instantly put it to sleep and soon the corn loosens and comes right out. A tiny bottle is sufficient to remove every kind of corn and foot callus.

Warns Women to Check High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to do more work and raises blood pressure.

The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness. High blood pressure must be treated at once for everyone knows it is too dangerous and quick acting to disregard its symptoms.

Norma is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success.

Norma contains no habit-forming drugs, and works in such a way that it lessens the duty of the over-taxed heart and reduces blood pressure swiftly and surely. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Norma today from Dow Drug Co., or any drug store, and free yourself from the symptoms of blood pressure.

JOHN COOLIDGES 'AT HOME'

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Maj. John Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge, who returned Sunday from their honeymoon, now are informally at home in this city. The major has resumed his duties as a clerk in the operating department of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad and Mrs. Coolidge has taken up the routine as a housewife.

The furniture for the apartment has been arranged by Mrs. Coolidge and her mother, wife of Gov. John H. Trumbull, but not many of the wedding gifts have been brought down as yet from the home of the bride's parents in Plainville and they will not be transferred for the present.

Mrs. Coolidge is already spreading the table for her husband who expects to drive home from the office each noon for lunch, although to friends Mrs. Coolidge has said that her knowledge of cookery is less than that of her husband, who, she says, knows how to cook.

Mrs. Coolidge has been asked to write for publication on her experience as a housekeeper, but she declines to say whether she will do so at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge do not expect to entertain this winter except their most intimate friends and then in the most informal way.

WATCH WORKS SEIZED BY U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Treasury agents moved 13,000 Swiss watch movements, valued at $100,000, to the Customs House from the offices of the Superfine Watch Company, which the United States attorney's office asserted had smuggled more than $1,000,000 worth of watch movements into the country since 1926, when it was organized.

Suspicion fell on this shipment after another, marked "earthenware," was seized last week. Last month a New York man, not connected with the Superfine company, was arrested on a charge of bringing in $120,000 worth of watch movements labelled "chocolates."

The same merchandise had been seized before but returned when Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy ruled that the search warrant under which it was seized was not properly drawn.

FINTEX OPENS PITTSBURGH BRANCH

Mayor Kline Officiates at Start of 3-Day Program In New Fifth Avenue Store

Thirty years ago Adolph Finsterwald, now president of the Fintex Corporation, visualized the day when he could give Pittsburgh "the store of his dreams."

Today the dream became a reality as the three-day opening program planned for the new Fintex Clothing Store at 345 Fifth avenue was begun.

Mayor Charles H. Kline officially opened the new store at 10 o'clock, after which Morry Goldman, who is to manage the branch, sold a suit to the first customer, Frank Wagner, of 24 Allen avenue, South Hills.

Wagner had been waiting since 6 o'clock this morning, according to Goldman, who sold out his clothing business to take charge of the new store. Mr. Finsterwald received Mayor Kline and gave him the key. Managers of numerous other Fintex stores are taking part in the opening program.

Beginning today, it will last until Saturday with numerous theatrical stars playing here inspecting merchandise on display. One of the largest selections ever brought here by one organization will be shown.

The new store is most modern in appointment and convenience. Clothes, a veritable array of them in platoon formation, greet the visitor at every turn. The corporation's factory is in Cleveland.

The Fintex Corporation has 12 stores in Detroit. Other retail establishments are in Hartford, Conn.; Providence, R. I.; Toledo, O.; Flint, Mich., and many other principal cities throughout the country.

Veteran Battles For Paid Up Insurance

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Federal Judge George C. Taylor directed a jury to return a verdict against John Joseph Coloby, who sought recovery under a $10,000 war risk insurance policy on which he had failed to pay premiums during a period of total disability.

Hundreds of other similar cases are said to be pending in Federal Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati.

Coloby enlisted in 1918 and was discharged in 1920. He claimed his period of total disability began January 1, 1922. He contended that payment of premium was waived under the circumstances of his disability, which he said resulted from illness contracted during his service.

The government insisted that failure to pay the premium had allowed the policy to lapse.

WOMAN BURNED FIGHTING FIRE

"NOT IN SEVEN YEARS HAVE I FELT SO FINE"

Grateful Praise for Konjola Voiced by Coraopolis Man Whose Rundown Condition Was Transformed.

"Experience is the best teacher," and wise men and women learn not only from their own experiences but also from the experiences of others. Large numbers of men and women in Pittsburgh and vicinity have had happy experiences with the new and different medicine, Konjola. Learn of their experiences and profit by them.

Talk with the Konjola Man nearest you and get the facts about this modern medicine. Learn what it has done and is doing for hundreds of people in Pittsburgh and nearby communities. There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, this city. You will not be bored with claims and promises, for Konjola's fame rests upon the bedrock foundation of verified results. This medicine invites you to judge it not by what is said in its behalf, but by what it has done. Read what Konjola did for Mr. Albert A. Spicer, 107 Mulberry Street, Coraopolis, Pa., who called upon a Konjola Man a few days ago and said:

"I think Konjola is a wonderful medicine and I have plenty of reason to think so, for this medicine made a marvelous change in my condition. I had been badly rundown, weak, and nervous for seven years. I tried many treatments and medicines, but all either gave me no relief or else had only temporary effect upon my condition. I had no appetite and was so nervous I could hardly sleep at all and could not begin to get the rest I needed.

"I had heard a great deal about this new Konjola and had read how other people who were weak and rundown found new strength and energy through this medicine, and I thought it might be the medicine I needed to build me up. I have taken six bottles of this medicine and have gained 11 pounds. My appetite is good. I eat hearty meals and enjoy them. Instead of being a nervous wreck, my nerves are steady and I can sleep soundly at night. This medicine is building me up and making me feel stronger and energetic. Never in seven years have I felt so fine as I feel now and I am going to keep on taking this medicine, as I think it holds still more improvement in store for me. I certainly can sincerely recommend it to all who are rundown and lacking in energy."

Konjola is recommended for stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness, and as a supertonic for the building up of strength and vitality.

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where daily they are meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. There also is a Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty.

WOMEN TO FACE MEXICO JURIES

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Three women, two of them Americans, are slated for trial on murder charges before the new federal penal code, abolishing the jury system, becomes effective.

Bernice Rush, of Louisville, Ky.; Eva Martinez de Leon, a graduate nurse of Los Angeles, and Maria Teresa de Landa de Vidal are those charged. The last named was Miss Mexico at the Galveston beauty pageant in 1928.

The first will be tried for the fatal shooting of her admirer, Jenaro Bonavente, a Spanird. The second is accused of a similar crime, in which Dr. Narcisco Cosio Aguilar was the victim. The third has confessed that she shot and killed her husband, Gen. Moises Vidal.

Under the new penal system the jury will be replaced, after January 1, by commissions of alienists and other experts.

AMERICANS JOIN ROAD PLANS

PANAMA CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The American Highway Conference adjourned after adopting a motion of J. Walter Drake, chairman of the American delegation, which thanked the Panama government for convoking the meeting.

The motion added that "in this historic meeting possibly the first really definite steps were taken toward the realization of the long-cherished ideal of a Pan-American highway."

Chairman Luis F. Clement suggested in his closing speech that a central office be established in Panama City for study of engineering and other technical matters of interest to American countries.

T. H. MacDonald, an American delegate, suggested that particular endorsement be given to the resolution of the second Pan-American Highway Congress, which recommends that the rule of the road be to pass on the right when meeting another vehicle, and on the left when overtaking one. This recommendation was to be sent to the government of Panama and the authorities of the Canal Zone, the only two territories in America where driving on the left hand prevails.

NEW DIRIGIBLES HELD FAILURES

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—While the crew is standing by to haul Britain's big new airship R-101 from its hangar at Cardington for its maiden flight, the public has been bluntly told by Commander Sir Charles Dennistoun Burney that both she and her sister ship, the R-100, are of little commercial value, being too slow and not possessing enough lifting power.

His criticism was regarded as having special importance since he is chairman of the company which constructed the R-100 and is a recognized authority on airships. His strictures are contained in a book published and follows close upon similar criticisms which have appeared in the press.

Sir Charles asserts, among other things, that these airships and also the Graf Zeppelin are merely preliminary steps in the evolution of a practical commercial vessel and urges that a new and larger type is necessary.

The launching of the R-101 has been delayed for four successive days by adverse weather and the crew is standing by awaiting the first opportunity to fly.

WALKER FACES GRAFT CHARGES

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The city's mayoralty campaign vibrated with echoes of the story that Mayor James J. Walker had obtained a $2,000 loan from Sydney Soloman, lessee of the city-owned Central Park Casino. Soloman and Walker have vigorously denied the transaction.

Jack Cohen, former house detective at the Casino and reputed source of the story branded it as an "absolutely falsehood," while Richard E. Enright, former police commissioner and mayoralty candidate of the Square Deal party, reiterated that Cohen had told him of the loan.

Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Republican mayoralty candidate, in a speech last night at Brooklyn, charged that liquor "is served at the Casino and it has been served, brought in and consumed in the presence of city officials."

TEXTILE STRIKE AWAITS ORDERS

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Any future action to follow an announced overwhelming vote in favor of a strike by members of the United Textile Workers of America employed at the American Bemberg and American Glanzstoff Rayon plants here will depend on instructions from national union headquarters, it was announced by Paul Aymon, president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

The announcement followed a closed conference among labor leaders. It was said earlier that the outcome of the strike vote, said by union officials to have been 1,180 for a strike and 69 against, had been wired to President McMahon, of the union, at Toronto, and to the United States Department of Labor.

Aymon said he believed a peaceful settlement of difficulties was probable. A company source, however, declared plant officials intended to ignore the union and regard a heavily anti-strike vote taken recently at the mills as indicative of employe sentiment.

Union officials have charged discrimination against workers who led strikes at the mills in the spring.

Belgium will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of its independence next year.

JIM HILL'S SON QUITS R. R.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—After 36 years of service to the road founded by his famous father, James J. Hill, Louis W. Hill, of St. Paul, offered his resignation today as chairman of the board of the Great Northern Railroad. Hill plans to devote most of his time hereafter to personal interests and those of his family.

"After 36 years of work for the Great Northern, I feel that I deserve a rest from the responsibilities involved," said Hill. "My family spends considerable time each year abroad, and I wish to be free to be with them. Circumstances have always prevented my leaving before.

"My father advised me to retire from active participation in railway affairs when I reached the age of 40. That time came and passed 16 years ago, but now the way is open to me to do what I have desired."

He was elected chairman of the board in 1912 and since then has held that post, serving at times also as president. Ralph Budd, of St. Paul, now is president of the road.

OIL FIELD LINK HITS TEXANS

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 10.—(AP).—Grave apprehension for the future of the Sour Lake oil field is felt by oilmen because of the mysterious sinking of more than 10 acres of land there since yesterday. The field is situated about two miles from Sour Lake, east of Beaumont.

Several storage tanks have toppled into the depression which some observers estimate to be from 50 to 100 feet deep. As the hole was fast filling with water, the exact depth could not be determined.

Derricks and other equipment bordering on the sink hole were being salvaged as the phenomenon showed no signs of cessation.

The depression was first noticed yesterday. It continued to expand until small trees had vanished under water that filled the depressed area.

Oil companies had geologists on the scene studying the situation, but so far none had advanced a theory for the phenomenon. The depression is in a field that had produced oil for about 25 years.

The disturbance was reported to have affected nearby producers in various ways. One well brought in Saturday flowing 150 barrels daily, was said to have started flowing salt water shortly after the depression started. Others were said to have increased their production.

Chain Programs Headed for One Air Channel

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Radio listeners may look for a great increase in the number of programs available within the next few years through limitation of all stations broadcasting a chain program to a single channel, in the opinion of William D. Terrell, chief of the radio division of the Department of Commerce.

He thinks it will not be long before all stations handling the same program will be synchronized, leaving the great number of wave lengths now used in transmitting identical material for individual programs. Terrell said this synchronization has already been accomplished on a limited scale and its general use is "only a question of time."

DIVORCE ISSUE BEYOND CHURCH

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—When the nominating committee of the twenty-fifth general conference of the Evangelical Synod of North America presents its slate it will head the names with that of the Rev. Dr. John Baltzer, of St. Louis, for president emeritus. Dr. Baltzer has been president since 1917 and before that was vice president.

In his report as retiring president today, Dr. Baltzer said that regulation of marriage and divorce was "a problem that cannot be solved by the church or the state alone."

"The church does not find necessary support for its attitude and opinion by the legislation of the various states," he said, "nor do the various communions agree in their opinion on the basic question. The subject is still before the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and that body is, perhaps, the only one through which an eventual success may be secured."

CHINESE REBELS FACING DOOM

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—A Nanking dispatch to the Kuo Min News Agency here quoted President Chiang Kai-Shek as telling a meeting of government officials that the rebels in Western Hunan would be "exterminated" within a fortnight. He reported that the Kwangsi insurgents were retreating and that Chang Fak Wei's "Ironsides Division" was pocketed in Shunchow.

"The coming revolutionary anniversary on October 10 marks another stage of development in China's national revolution," the president said. "During the past year counter-revolutionary elements tried their utmost to destroy the present authorities, but one after another attempt has been suppressed, resulting in the solidification of Nanking."

BALTIMORE GAS RATE CUT

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Reduction of $1,300,000 in rates was ordered by the Public Service Commission in a decision against the Consolidated Gas and Electric Company. The reduction in rates must be put into effect by November 1, the order directed.

The domestic consumer will be benefited by the slash in rates to the extent of $1,230,000, while the commercial gas users will obtain a $70,000 cut.

In ordering the reduction in the case which has been pending before it several months, the commission estimated that the company would still earn a 7.5 per cent return. Under the present rates the rate of return would have been more than 8.7 per cent," the commission said.

It takes no more time or effort to GUARD THE DANGER LINE

You can't prevent all tooth decay. But you can greatly minimize it if your dentifrice will not only clean your teeth, but also combat acids in the inaccessible crevices about the teeth. For food particles are constantly fermenting and forming acids in these tiny crevices . . . leading to decay.

Squibb's Dental Cream is made with 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, universally acknowledged a safe, effective antacid.

You will like using Squibb's. It is so refreshing and soothing. And you will know that you are really protecting your teeth—guarding The Danger Line—that delicate, vital line of tissue where gums meet teeth. Healthy teeth and gums largely depend upon this delicate line. It ends in a row of tiny V-shaped crevices that your tooth-brush can't reach. But Squibb's will reach every crevice, neutralize acids, give you vital protection. Squibb's is only 40c at any drug store.

MAN SLAIN OVER HALF PINT

GALENA, Mo., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Resisting arrest for the alleged possession of a half pint of whisky, Purce Allen, 35, was shot and fatally wounded here by Deputy Sheriff Fred Nelson, 45.

With a bullet in his spine, Allen died 15 minutes after the shooting. Nelson had pursued Allen after, according to the officer, he had caught Allen with the liquor in his possession and the prisoner had bolted. Nelson said he fired only after a desperate hand-to-hand struggle. He said he warned Allen that he would be forced to kill him and received the reply that "It's either you or me."

Officers said Allen had served a term in the penitentiary for a liquor law violation and was free under a federal parole at the time of the shooting.

TALLEY 'FARMS' N. Y. FLAT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Miss Marion Talley, who announced her retirement from the operatic stage last April and said she was going to live on a farm, has been residing in New York most of the time since her announcement, it was disclosed here.

Except for a few weeks last spring and brief visits out of the city since then, the former Metropolitan Opera singer has been living in the same modest apartment on the upper west side of Manhattan that she has occupied since her meteoric rise to fame three years ago.

The singer returned Sunday from a brief visit to Kansas City, whose residents supported her rise to fame enthusiastically. She said she was planning no immediate return to the farm.

"I won't go out there until next spring, anyway," she said.

"I'm here to complete my contract for phonograph records, and after that I have no plans."

Her sister, Florence, said the Talley farm at Colby, Kan., has not been occupied, because there is no suitable house there.

POLICE OF GARY INDICTED

GARY, Ind., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Dozens of alleged conspirators were sought by United States Marshal H. E. Miner as he pursued the task of rounding up those named by the federal grand jury last week at the conclusion of its inquiry into crime and corruption in Lake County. The arrest of A. B. Whitlock, Negro member of the Gary City Council, was the most important made during the day.

With the arrest of the Negro alderman, the marshal had served a score of warrants in Gary, 17 of them against Gary police officers, from the two police captains down. One warrant named Thomas Galasini, Gary lawyer, who frequently sat as special judge in the Gary City Court.

Three conspiracy cases are the principal ones developed by the grand jury. One involves Mayor Raleigh P. Hale, of East Chicago, the high officers of his police department and about 120 other persons, chiefly alleged bootleggers. The two other alleged conspiracies, each of which charges violation of the prohibition laws, involve the members of the Gary police force.

MASONS MEET, NAME OFFICERS

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—With 600 Master Masons present, the sixty-fifth annual convocation of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons was opened here last night in the new Scottish Rite hall of the Masonic Temple.

Boyd Wees, Elkins, most worshipful grand master, presided, and with other officers dedicated the new hall. He was assisted by James A. Bryan, Parkersburg, and W. K. Cowden, Huntington. James M. Clift, Richmond, Va., representing the grand lodge of that state, was introduced.

With the retirement of Wees, Dr. Dorsey Peck, Grafton, will become grand master. Other officers will move forward and only a grand pursuviant will be chosen. The session closes tonight.

Arbitration for Business Available

HARTFORD—(INS.)—The Connecticut state chamber of commerce has established a special committee on commercial arbitration to take advantage of the new state law that provides for arbitration of commercial disputes.

"The benefits are available for any and all business men in the state, and no dispute is too large or too small to find its settlement at a negligible cost without delay," the chamber announces.

Spaniards Urged To Eat Less, Work More

MADRID, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Because the Queen of Spain bought Spanish-made hats and dresses instead of foreign models in her shopping expeditions at Barcelona during the royal visit to the exposition, Premier Primo de Rivera declared the Spaniards should eat less, work more and go to bed earlier.

Urging all Spaniards to follow the Queen's example in developing native industry, the dictator said:

"Although general economic conditions in Spain have improved under the dictatorship, we still eat too much, work too little and stay up too late at night. We must change these habits."

PENN. mother proves her idea is right . . .

It's easy to see from his wonderful condition that this little fellow's mother knows what to do when his stomach or bowels go wrong. No drugs for her. Nothing but pure vegetable California Fig Syrup. At least a million families are never without a bottle of it in the home!

"MY little son was bilious and upset," says Mrs. Mary Sarsfield, 5131 Hoopes St., Philadelphia. "He had no appetite, his breath was bad, his tongue was coated, and he was nearly always tired and sleepy.

"He seemed to have trouble with his stomach and bowels and I had an idea California Fig Syrup would help him. He brightened up marvelously with the first few doses. At the end of a week, he was a different boy. I have used California Fig Syrup with him every time he has had a cold or upset, and I give it a lot of credit for his wonderful condition."

California Fig Syrup never fails to cleanse the system of bilious, headachy, feverish or constipated children, quickly and gently. It never gripes or sickens. Children love its flavor. A pure vegetable product with the highest endorsement of doctors. It helps Nature give tone and strength to the stomach and bowels.

All drug stores have the generous bottles. The name "California" marks the genuine.

MACDONALD'S VISIT LAUDED

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Before he boarded a train here for Toronto, where he will attend the American Federation of Labor Convention, Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, issued a statement on the visit of Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain.

Mr. Kennedy said the American labor movement is glad of the visit of the premier for these reasons:

"First, because of the fact that Premier MacDonald is to us a direct and bona fide representative of the labor movement of Great Britain, and as such adds to the hopes and aspirations of American labor and exemplifies the possibilities of united American labor.

"Second, because of the probability of securing a real effective agreement on disarmament, and the prevention of future wars—an ideal for which labor of every country is striving."

The route proposed is from the French West Indian Islands to French Guiana and Venezuela, and will probably be prolonged later to Peru. The appropriation was made while the committee was examining the ministry of aviation's budget.

BANDIT BATTLE COSTS 2 LIVES

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—A policeman and an alleged bandit were killed, another officer and two gunmen were seriously wounded, and five persons, including two women, are under arrest as the result of a gun fight between four policemen and six bandits in the heart of the residential district here.

The dead are Leo Fox, Hammond detective, and Walter Warsynski, address unknown.

The wounded include Officer George Faraggi, Homewood, Ill.; Peter Augustinovich, address unknown; William Jesky, address unknown.

Those under arrest are Don Sawa, Benny Stawski, Steve Davenport, all of the Calumet district; Mrs. Virginia Rusco, 23, of Macon, Ga., and Harriet Hendon, 22, of Milwaukee, Wis.

The fight occurred after Officers Faraggi and John Bois, both of Hammond, had received a tip and invaded the hiding place of the six men who early Sunday morning are accused of holding up the Palm Gardens owned by William Siddles, forcing the orchestra to play and the bartender to serve free drinks for two hours, staging a beauty contest, and then leisurely driving off with more than $7,500 in cash and jewelry.

POLICE BLAMED FOR MURDERS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Having sounded the keynote of its case in its first two witnesses, counsel defending the seven labor organizers charged with the murder of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt today began the calling of a long string of witnesses who will give further details of a purported reign of terror against the Gastonia strikers.

The defense will contend that the officers and not the strikers were the aggressors in the encounter precipitated when Aderholt led four of his fellow officers on a raid upon the National Textile Workers Union headquarters the night of June 7, after they had dispersed a picket line going to the strike torn Loray mill.

It will try to convince the jury of farmers trying the case that the union organizers were compelled to guard the quarters when the authorities, openly antagonistic toward them, refused them protection from Anti-Communistic vigilantes who a few weeks before demolished their old headquarters.

Body Found on Track Near Railroad Tunnel

Believed to have been struck by a train, the body of Melvin Woodward, Negro, 38, of 436 Federal street, Youngstown, O., was found early today at the Fourth avenue entrance to the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel. The body was discovered by the station agent, who notified the morgue.

Indian Runner Fails in Race With Pony

ROSWELL, N. M., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—"Flying Eagle," sturdy Hopi runner, today failed in his attempt to match speed and endurance in a race against "Boss," 9-year-old western cow pony, on an oval track here.

At the end of the forty-third mile of a programmed 100-mile race the Indian runner fell exhausted on the dirt track and was taken to an emergency hospital. At that time he was five miles behind the mustang.

BUSDRIVERSHOT ON GOLD COAST

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—A motorbus driver was shot and wounded last night as he halted his bus on Lake Shore Drive in front of the home of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick. His assailants were two men who escaped.

The driver, Roy Mutter, who was shot in the knee, said the two men in a small car, had harassed him through miles of traffic. Just before the shooting, the bus grazed the other machine. The two men drove ahead a few blocks and got out of their car. They signaled Mutter to stop and then fired through the window.

2 MEN BATTLE OIL FLAMES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Two men crouched behind metal shields continued today to pit their skill against a gigantic roaring torch flaming high in the air over what once was the Sinclair Oil and Gas Company's No. 3 Stamper well, in the Oklahoma City oil field.

Trundling loads of high explosive near the 100-foot pillar of fire, and directing final connections of a battery of approximately 20 steam boilers, M. M. (Mack) Kinley and his brother, F. T. Kinley, prepared to snuff out, in one giant puff, the flame which, fed by 50,000,000 feet of gas a day, has whipped and writhed over the Sinclair lease since shortly before 3 a. m. today.

Hardly more than five miles from the downtown business district, the fire has cast a weird glow over the city's streets at night, and in the southern section of the city, three miles from the well, has made street lights almost unnecessary at night.

Some time early today—the Kinley brothers were reticent regarding the exact time—one man, crouched low behind a metal shield that grows sizzling hot despite streams of water which constantly drench it, will creep toward the plume of flame.

Clad in a heavy asbestos suit, he will drag 200 quarts of nitroglycerine almost to the mouth of the well. There he will place it so that the force of the explosion will be directed at the base of the flame, and then scurry away from the broiling heat. When he is safely out of range the charge of explosive will be fired. The force of the explosion is expected to hurl the flame above the gas roaring from the hole. A heavy blanket of steam, played from the battery of boilers onto the mouth of the well, is expected to retard the flow of gas until the flame has burned out.

SHIP SINKS, TWO GO ON ROCKS

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—A boat believed to be a Cuban four-masted fishing smack, has been reported sunk in 11 fathoms of water about 25 miles west of Anclote Lighthouse, near here. The report was brought to Tarpon Springs by the crew of the Apalachola, a sponge boat.

The smack is thought to have gone down in the recent gales. Nothing was known of the fate of the crew.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Word of accidents to two small freight steamers in West Indian waters was received in shipping circles here.

The British steamer Chomedy, 1,887 tons net, from Montreal for Barbados, went ashore at Tobago, Island, one of the Windward group, near Trinidad. The salvage steamer Killerig has been dispatched from Kingston, Jamaica, to her aid.

The salvage tug Warbler has been dispatched from Key West, Fla., to Manzanillo, Cuba, to the rescue of the Norwegian steamer Nyhavn, 2,300 tons, from New York for Cienfuegos, Cuba. The Nyhavn is reported ashore near Manzanillo.

Boys Play With Gun, Pittsburgher Killed

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 10.—William B. Dobbs, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dobbs, Pittsburgh, was killed on a farm near Headsville yesterday when a companion, Jack Stek, 12, playfully pointed a 22-caliber rifle at him and pulled the trigger. The bullet hit Dobbs in the arm, coursing upward to sever the jugular vein. Dobbs died before his mother, with whom he was visiting at the Steck home, could reach him. Authorities investigating held the shooting accidental.

A GOOD THING TO REMEMBER

The next time you lose something don't despair or give up hope until you have done both of these things:

First look in the Sun-Telegraph "Lost and Found" Columns to see if the finder has advertised. If he has not, then do this. Call GRant 5400 and ask the ad taker to run a Classified Ad telling the world what you have lost. It will cost only a few cents and you are pretty certain to locate your lost, prized possessions. Most folks are honest and genuinely interested in returning lost property to its rightful owners.

URGES SCHOOLS TEACH BIBLE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. Renwick Martin, of Pittsburgh, president of the National Reform Association, in addressing the opening session of the eastern conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, meeting in Trinity Church, Ventnor, urged that the Bible be taught in the public schools in order that it might reach young people not under church influences, and who are not receiving religious or moral training in the home.

He declared that it would offset the wave of youthful crime, which had been sweeping the United States during the past few years.

He invited the co-operation of the church in support of the movement, and in securing legislation, where possible.

The Rev. John C. Broomfield, of Pittsburgh, president of the general conference of the church, spoke on conditions in the denomination.

City Hall Cupola Destroyed By Fire

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—A spectacular fire swept through the cupola of the City Hall here last night, burning it to the steel frame-work as firemen looked on, helpless because their water streams could not reach the 360 foot top.

The flames threw a glare over the entire downtown section of the city. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

The fire could burn no further than the bottom of the cupola because the rest of the structure is built of stone. It is believed the fire started from a blowtorch.

Pair Meets Death In Upset of Auto

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—George Swanson, 40, insurance agent, and Doretta Peters, 25, both of Erie, were killed when an automobile driven by Swanson failed to make the turn on a hill 10 miles east of here.

BANKER QUITS AS JUDGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Judge Francis X. Mancuso resigned from the Court of General Sessions because, he said, he felt that his efficiency might have been impaired by public suspicion concerning the acts of officers of the defunct City Trust Company, of which he was chairman of the board.

The resignation, to take effect at once, was announced immediately after Mancuso emerged from the most recent of his sessions before the extraordinary grand jury investigating the bank crash.

Spark Ignites Roof Of Coal Town Home

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—A spark igniting the roof caused $4,000 damage to the home of W. H. Gates, superintendent of the Buckeye Coal Company, at Nemacolin. Members of the Carmichaels and Nemacolin fire departments saved the house, only the upper part of the building being destroyed.

COTTON, CITRUS LOANS O. K.'D

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Three loans aggregating $3,550,000 to Southern cotton and citrus fruit interests were approved by the Federal Farm Board.

A conditional facility loan of $2,800,000 to the Florida Citrus Exchange to enable it to construct packing, precooling and heating plants for co-operative marketing, represents the largest of its kind yet to be approved by the board.

The other loans approved were $500,000 to the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association, and $250,000 to the Tennessee Cotton Growers' Association. These loans to the cotton co-operatives are to enable them to handle the present crop. They are supplemental to loans previously made by the intermediate credit banks and will permit the co-operatives to advance to their grower members 75 per cent of the market value on unhedged and 90 per cent on hedged cotton.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

In collaboration with Julian Huxley and George P. Wells

The great mysteries of life are clarified and simplified by H. G. Wells in the most outstanding work of his life. From the depths of the sea to the mountain tops, from birth until death, the pattern of every form of life is laid bare in a staggering sequence of scientific facts.

Claiming to be wedded to no creed, associated with no propaganda, the co-authors tell what they believe to be the unbiased truth about life. Frankly written, no phase or form of life remains undiscussed.

It is a triumph of journalism to publish such a work as The Science of Life for the first time—a service never before rendered by any newspaper or group of newspapers to its readers. Turn to the editorial page of this paper next Monday—and every day thereafter. The Science of Life is more absorbing than any mystery story you ever read, for it concerns the greatest mystery of all—life itself!

PITT PREJUDICE CHARGED

Charging that the University of Pittsburgh trustees were prejudiced when they called a meeting after Arthur G. McDowell, Liberal Club, was expelled, and that the meeting was illegal, an amendment to a petition in mandamus was filed yesterday by Henry Ellenbogen, counsel for McDowell.

The amendment was a technical addition to the suit of McDowell against the university in which the former student, expelled for his connection with Liberal Club activities asks that he be reinstated.

Included in the amendment was a charge that the expulsion was illegal because the trustees had no right to meet and sanction the expulsion—a right granted only to the faculty by the Pitt charter. The reason McDowell was dropped from the roll was because he believed in the principles of free speech and was a member of the Liberal Club, which espoused free speech, it added.

The paper was filed before Judge James R. MacFarlane in Common Pleas Court.

Odd Fellows Drop Benefits to Sick

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Departure from a custom of more than 100 years, a resolution was passed at the sixty-fourth annual session of the grand lodge of West Virginia, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, to discontinue payment of stipulated benefits to sick members, except among subordinate lodges which wish to continue the practice.

Individual lodges which wish to take advantage of the optional change were authorized to alter their by-laws to conform.

Charity Wins Dry Christening for New Building

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—When a flag was run up to the top of the new Board of Trade building it signalled, in addition to the fact that the last steel beam was in place, the victory of a tee-totaler.

The workmen notified Henry A. Rumsey, chairman of the building committee, that they were ready for the flag raising ceremony. But, first, they said, they must have the usual round of drinks to toast the completion of their labors.

Rumsey, strict prohibitionist, offered coffee and sandwiches.

"No drinks, no flag-raising," declared the workmen.

Both sides stood their ground. Then Rumsey told of his engineering a $2,500 widows' fund for families of two who had been killed on the new structure.

"If you persist, I will take no further steps in your behalf," he told them.

The men clambered to the top of the great steel skeleton and the flag spread its fold in the breeze.

BRUMBAUGH AT S. S. MEET

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—An address by Martin G. Brumbaugh, president of Juniata College and former governor of Pennsylvania, climaxed the opening day's sessions of the sixty-seventh annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association. An audience of 2,000 persons heard the former state executive denounce militarism, defend prohibition and discuss the moral trends of the country. He was given a great ovation.

John E. Person, a vice president of the state association, was appointed chairman of the committee on findings and resolutions by J. A. Lansing, chairman of the board of directors, who acted in the absence of P. L. Craig, state president, unable to attend on account of sickness.

Other committee chairmen include: Prof. O. R. Myers, treasurer of Juniata College and a state vice president, as chairman of the courtesies committee; H. C. Heckman, of Bedford, another vice president, as chairman of the committee to select the next convention city, and John W. Vickerman, of Bellevue, a director, as chairman of the nominating committee.

The committee on resolutions, which includes in addition to Mr. Person, Dr. J. Kirkwood Craig, Allegheny; Percy Hauser, Blair County; Rev. George L. Schaeffer, Lebanon County, and Edward R. Rothrock, Montgomery County, met yesterday.

Members of the committee on courtesies are Prof. Myers, chairman; the Rev. P. C. Heilbrun and the Rev. J. W. Fraser, both of Clarion County; H. A. Reber, Schuylkill County; Isaac C. Yocum, Delaware County, and C. F. Whitney, Susquehanna County.

Selection of the next convention place will be entrusted to a committee including Mr. Heckerman, chairman; E. W. Kenbler, Dauphin County; David W. Small, York County; Miss Ruth Miller, Washington County, and Dr. George W. Savige, Lackawanna County.

Six delegates were named from the floor of the convention to serve upon the nomination committee. They are Rev. R. J. Gottschall, of Montgomery County; Rev. John W. Gild, Bucks County; Rev. M. A. Kiefer, Huntingdon County; James L. Young, Cumberland County; J. N. C. Campbell, Washington County, and Mrs. E. K. Seaman, Fayette County.

Two recently-elected vice presidents were presented by Mr. Lansing. They were Allen Sutherland, of Philadelphia, and Henry E. Cole, of Pittsburgh.

Plane Hits Auto, Then Airport Sues Owner

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—Benjamin C. Brenneman doesn't think much of aviation now, although he was interested enough last Sunday to drive to an airport.

Brenneman pulled up in his automobile on a landing field near here, got out of his car and watched a plane soaring overhead. The airplane landed and while he stood nearby looking on, it took off again and in doing so struck his automobile and ripped off the roof.

He drove home minus a top.

The operator of the airport sued Brenneman for $10,000 damages.

The statement of claim asked recovery for damaging the reputation of the field as well as for repairs to the plane.

JAPAN SELECTS ARMY ENVOY

TOKIO, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier and finance minister, almost certainly will head the Japanese delegation to the five power naval conference in London next January, it was learned today.

Baron Kijuro Shidehara, foreign minister, visited Wakatsuki this morning and offered him the leadership of the delegation, but the latter asked for a day or two in which to consider. He would be assisted by naval minister, Admiral Hyo Takarabe and Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Ralph (Bottles) Capone was released from federal custody yesterday when his attorneys brought in cash bond of $35,000. HUNDREDS HUNT STOLEN CHILD

MONTROSE, Col., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Information that a child answering the description of 2-year-old Alfred Hotchkiss, who disappeared near Ridgeway, Col., a week ago, was seen with a man and woman in a restaurant here two days after the disappearance, strengthened the kidnaping theory held by officials in the case.

Hundreds of men, women and children joined in the search for the child. Sheriff A. M. McAnally, of Montrose, has stationed 20 men at various points on the hills near Ridgeway to watch every one passing on the roads.

He said he was convinced the child could not have wandered off and been accidentally drowned in a ditch near the home. The ditch was drained and no trace of the boy was found.

EXCHANGE CLUB AIDS AIR MARKS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The National Exchange Club closed its annual convention here yesterday with selection of Indianapolis as its 1930 convention city. Earlier in the day 800 delegates elected J. P. Muller, New York City, president, and enlarged their scope of organization activity with the addition of an agricultural education program.

The convention also adopted a resolution calling on individual exchange clubs to urge the Legislatures of their respective states to pass laws requiring each municipality to be marked for the guidance of aviators.

The 1930 convention will be held August 24 to 30.

The agricultural activity is intended to bring urban and rural sections toward better understanding of the problems of each division. Officials pointed out that the step is not to be construed as a measure for farm relief or in any way connected with the problems of marketing.

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

FURNACE EXPLOSION BURNS 2 WOMEN

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

IN a newspaper office it is the copy desk which scans everything coming its way with an eye for error and subsequent correction. Thus it was only natural that some of the boys who watch copy closely read what was set forth here about practices in newspaper writing.

Havey J. Boyle

Mr. Dwight Fee, for example, wanted to know why this department said: "John Jones went to deliver a lecture to the Faculty Club," when "John Jones lectured at the Faculty Club," is better.

Mr. James McAfee wanted to know why the department said: "John Jones 'lives' in Fifth avenue," when as a matter of fact

"John Jones 'lives' every place but 'resides' in Fifth avenue." However, this criticism is open to debate.

Mr. Max Henrici (I might say the encyclopedic Mr. Henrici) was moved to reminisce.

"When I worked for the New York Herald some years ago, at the time James Gordon Bennett was the publisher," said Mr. Henrici, "there were rules I haven't run into since. For instance, Mr. Bennett was opposed to the word 'blood' getting into his paper. At that time 'blood transfusion' was so new in surgery that it was a considerable news item, and many were the difficulties encountered in reporting a blood-transfusion story. We used 'vital fluid' as a synonym for blood. Mr. Bennett would never allow anyone to be sick, although one could be ill. Nor were there any doctors in the Herald. They were all physicians."

Outsiders who write "pieces" they want published make two common errors, first they capitalize too many words, and secondly they seldom leave space between lines for corrections. All copy, to be handled easily, should be double or triple-spaced.

AUGUSTUS K. OLIVER, one of the publishers of the old Gazette Times and the Chronicle Telegraph, was most meticulous about the use of his name in his papers. Whenever possible copy containing his name was submitted to him for approval. He wanted to be certain that mention of his name in no way smacked of vanity.

He was and is a good golfer and he participated in local tournaments, and while he didn't finish first in any that can be remembered now, quite a few of us were always fearful that he'd come out on top, necessitating the playing up of his name as the winner. All of us felt that if he did win we'd get orders to say: "Dr. Smith finished second in the invitation tournament at the Sewickley Country Club today with a score of 82, being topped only by A. K. Oliver, who got all the breaks and thus vanquished Dr. Smith."

The class in journalism is dismissed for the day.

JOE TAGGART, Baltimore and Ohio passenger agent, is showing a picture of a 500-pound fish caught in the waters near his summer home at Beach Haven, Md. It's a lot of fish, but it doesn't mean anything as it was offered for sale for $10. In fact, if it wasn't so big Mr. Taggart would have thrown it back into the bay.

Mr. Taggart has a wonderful summer home at Beach Haven and wants as many of his friends as possible to visit him next summer and stay a couple of weeks. Mr. Taggart may be reached in the Union Arcade Building.

10-CENT BUS FARE SHOWS PROFIT

Same Company Operating Pittsburgh Lines With 25 Cents for Same Service

The Philadelphia Company is carrying bus passengers for 10 cents in the Beaver Valley and is making money. Officials of this organization, which controls the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, claim that they are unable to give similar service in Pittsburgh for less than 25 cents.

In 1928 the Beaver Valley Motor Coach Company, a Philadelphia Company subsidiary, earned 10 per cent on its investment. Net profit after all expenses except interest for the year was $4,581. This was on an investment of $5,000 in stock and $40,610 of borrowed money.

FARE 8.22 CENTS

The return per ride was actually below 10 cents. The company's statement of last year shows that the average fare per passenger was 8.22 cents.

The operation is on a small scale but it is indicative of what could be done in Pittsburgh with buses operating under a 10-cent fare. Although the Beaver Valley Motor Coach Company owns only nine buses, it carried 1,183,255 passengers last year.

GET FACTS FOR HEARING

Members of the transportation committee of the Allied Boards of Trade who have been studying the traction problem in Pittsburgh in preparation for the hearing on the 25-cent bus fare to be held before the Public Service Commission on October 24 are of the opinion that the Beaver Valley operation proves that Pittsburgh's topography does not present any difficulties in bus operation which warrant a 25-cent fare.

They point to the fact that existing bus lines do not operate over routes which offer serious difficulties to motor traffic. They contend that the Beaver Valley line is showing results comparable to those of other cities where 10-cent bus fares are in force.

DELAY STREET CONTRACTS

Letting of street contracts was again delayed by West View Council at its meeting this week, pending a report by a special committee on charges that inferior concrete was used in paving Center avenue.

Additional time is necessary to complete tests of material, council was informed.

Plans were approved for a 33-acre sub-division, bounded by Highland avenue, Perry highway, Lowrie's Run road and the golf links of the Highland Country Club, to be known as Wellington Heights.

Homewood Takes Place On District Air Map

By MAX HENRICI.

Another section of Pittsburgh has just been air-marked. Homewood has been placed on the air map with a large sign on the roof of the Sander & Co. store, 611 Homewood avenue. It was painted through the efforts of H. P. Eiseman, manager.

S. S. Waters, of the Liberty Baking Company, East End, has requested information in regard to air-marks.

Frank E. Miller, of 425 Hays avenue, Mount Oliver, also is interested.

H. H. Saylor, secretary of the Roscoe Chamber of Commerce, reports it has just erected a sign in 16-foot letters for the guidance of aviators on Eckert Brothers' garage in that town.

The Sun-Telegraph is trying to get every town in Western Pennsylvania thus marked, to promote safety in flying by letting lost pilots know where they are and where they may land without danger.

"More power to your campaign!" writes Dr. Herbert Dewar, chairman of the Allegheny County Committee of the American Legion. Dr. Dewar states that the American Legion home in Elizabeth has been marked for two years, and the post there has an attractive framed certificate signed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, awarded for its distinguished service to aviation.

The Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, Oliver Building, is co-operating with the Sun-Telegraph in the campaign and will furnish the United States Department of Commerce specifications as to air-marks to those who plan to identify their communities to fliers.

STAIRWAY, CELLAR BURNED IN WELLS' HOME BY COAL GAS FIRE

YOUNG WIFE REPORTED DYING

Brentwood Woman, Mother Victims as Heater Blows Up, Causing $4,000 Blaze

A young wife was reported dying and her mother was in serious condition in South Side Hospital today, both burned by flames that followed an explosion in the furnace of the daughter's Brentwood home.

Mrs. Mary Wells, 28, of 3116 McElroy avenue, and her mother, Mrs. J. J. Dwyer, of 331 McKee place, went to the cellar of the Wells home last night, presumably to light the combination gas-coal furnace.

The explosion, its origin a mystery, shattered the cement covering of the furnace, and the flames reached out to ignite the clothes of the two women.

Her dress in flames, Mrs. Wells rushed to the adjoining garage and drove her mother's car to the street. Mrs. Dwyer ran to the street.

Bloodstains on the steering wheel of the auto, saved from the flames, told the story of its rescue by Mrs. Wells.

Upstairs, Miss Elizabeth Neaves, 25, a friend who lives at the Wells' home, heard the explosion, wrapped three-year-old Jackie Wells in a blanket, and rushed with him to the street.

The flames spread to the first floor of the Wells' home, a two-story brick house completed just three months ago. Edward Elbes, chief of Brentwood's volunteer firemen, estimated the damage at $4,000.

RIVER JUBILEE STAMPS ASKED

Postmaster George W. Gosser has received 20,000 letters from stamp collectors all over the nation asking for a supply of the new Ohio River Organization commemoration stamp which will be out October 19.

Anderson says that several hundred thousand stamps will go out in the mails on the first day. The requests have been so insistent it has been necessary to assign one man to do nothing else but take care of the requests which are coming forward.

Nearly all those who want stamps want them canceled on the first date that the government will accept them in the mail.

COURT NAMES COUNCILMAN

A deadlock which has existed since spring in Sewickley Borough Council has been broken by Judge Harry H. Rowand in Quarter Sessions Court appointing Norman M. Brown, a butter salesman, as councilman for the Third Ward to fill a vacancy caused by Attorney Don Rose moving from the ward.

Sewickley has nine councilmen and when Rose resigned the eight remaining were deadlocked, four against four, on filling the vacancy. Under a law which gives the court power to fill councilmanic vacancies if council itself fails to act within 30 days, Brown's friends petitioned for his appointment.

James W. Johnston was appointed by Judge Rowand to be commissioner for the Ninth district of Ross township, the district having been recently created.

Hardware Trade Marking Time

That the hardware trade of the country is marking time to some extent, is indicated by the reports from important market centers, Hardware Age says in its weekly market summary. While retailers are noting a slight recession of trade in some sections at this time, jobbers are reporting somewhat better demand. This is largely due to the fact that stocks are being replenished for advance fall and winter demand. The general opinion is that the outlook is good for the balance of the year.

There has been little or no letdown in the level of general employment, and the agricultural sections of the country are expected to be as important a factor in buying as ever, due to good prices and fair crops.

The price situation is not greatly changed, but new adjustments are appearing regularly in the market. Collections are fairly satisfactory.

MAYOR LAUDS LIGHT FETE

In a proclamation issued last night Mayor Charles H. Kline lauded "Light's Golden Jubilee," to be observed October 21 to 26 inclusive, and called upon Pittsburgh to aid in the celebration.

"It will do honor to Thomas A. Edison and to those industrial figures whose life work ran concurrently with the period being celebrated."

At the recent primary election, Charles Chamberlin, president of Dormont Council defeated Burgess Haddock by 16 votes.

Our Roy in Italy

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 10.

You know, I bet you there is just lots of households just like ours.

Everybody makes a grab at the paper in the morning, not to see what Mr. Hoover or Mr. MacDonald have accomplished, but to see who went to who's dinner, who didn't go and who sat next to who.

Well, I didn't know how they were going to line up for last night's meal, but if I was President, I would let 'em all go to the foot of the table and seat Howard Ehmke on my right and appoint him ambassador to Japan, the only country that's known enough so far to take up baseball.

Yours, WILL.

THUGS ESCAPE IN CAR AFTER HOLDUPS

Rings Taken, Outlaws Force Victim Into Office Where Cash Register Is Looted

Police today were combing the city for bandits who last night staged four holdups and robbed a safe.

Two armed men held up a woman pedestrian and a gasoline station attendant at Sandusky and East General Robinson streets.

The pair, according to police, leaped from an automobile and approached Mrs. F. E. Whorley, of 753 Rossmore avenue, Brookline, who was standing near the station. She was robbed of two rings valued at $250. After robbing Mrs. Whorley, the men forced her into the station, where they held up the attendant, John Guy, and took $8 from the cash register. They escaped in the automobile.

While three men stood guard outside, two armed bandits early today entered the Puritan Restaurant at 268 Braddock avenue, Turtle Creek, held up Miss Fay Wright, of 317 Beech street, East Pittsburgh, a waitress, and escaped after rifling the cash register of $46.

Two men who were eating in the place were not molested.

Herbert Zarr, of 310 North Craig street, reported to police early today that two armed men held him up at the Murdoch street entrance to Schenley Park, robbed him of $40, his watch valued at $25, an overcoat and his automobile.

Safe robbers who entered the office of the Three M Coal and Supply Company, North Braddock avenue and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks last night, battered the combination dial off the safe and took a tin box containing $800 in cash.

A squad of police, under Acting Lieut. Walter Charles, of the Frankstown Avenue Station, found the empty box on the railroad tracks several blocks away.

SLOAN FACES TRIAL IN PAY HOLDUP

Verdict in Hays Case Not to Affect Suit; Alibi Claim Smashed

Trial for the Ruud Manufacturing Company $6,000 payroll holdup last April 26 is to be faced late today by John B. Sloan, 1300 Jefferson avenue, Washington, Pa., no matter what verdict is returned by the jury now trying Sloan for the Hays National Bank attempted holdup.

Sloan and Robert Kitzinger, of Hays, were convicted Tuesday of the Tech Food Products $10,500 payroll holdup July 29.

Although one of his pals, A. L. Hufnagle, McKees Rocks, turned against Sloan and gave state's evidence and Joseph Maloney, fourth member of the Sloan gang, pleaded guilty to the Tech job, Sloan is sticking to his story of innocence and says he will force the District Attorney to try him on every one of the 13 indictments which he is facing, rather than plead guilty.

Sloan's alibi, that he had been at a funeral, went to smash late yesterday when Julius Benetti, a Hays policeman and chief of police at the time of the attempted bank robbery, declared on the witness stand that he had not seen Sloan at the funeral of Tony Latera about the time of the attempted robbery. Sloan's attorney, Elmer I. Eckles, pleaded surprise at the officer's testimony, but could not shake him on cross examination.

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

The Paul & Louis Beauty Salon

urges twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap for true skin beauty

Foreign authorities concur that oils of olive and palm are essential to a good complexion

THE American woman today, more conscious than ever of her beauty requirements, consults her beauty adviser regularly.

A generation ago women were warned against the use of soap on the face. For no soap then was safe to risk upon a good complexion. Today the creed is "soap-and-water cleanliness"—for Palmolive Soap, with its cosmetic olive and palm oils, is found gentle, mild and beneficial by beauty experts all over the world.

17,239 beauty shops advise it

Thus today your beauty adviser will tell you—as do 17,239 great American beauty shops all over the country—as do the leading foreign beauty experts—use Palmolive Soap at home, twice each day. No other soap will do, they warn you. Only Palmolive.

Here is their rule: Massage a soft warm lather of Palmolive into the skin—with your finger tips develop it for two full minutes. Feel it coax the tiny particles of dust and dirt, of rouge and makeup and powder, from the pores.

Then rinse, first with warm water, then cooler until the skin tingles with fresh cleanliness, until it is thoroughly cleansed. Then it is ready for makeup, for creams . . .

Today 17,239 beauty specialists will tell you this simple home rule.

Such beauty authority never lent itself to one home treatment before. This is, of course, a home treatment only. For all special beauty problems you must consult your beauty expert.

But for regular day in and day out care of the skin use Palmolive. Today start these home treatments to "keep that schoolgirl complexion."

LOUIS FARGEL OF PITTSBURGH

Louis Fargel, of the Paul and Louis Beauty Salon, is well known to the women of Pittsburgh for his scientific methods of skin care. In advocating the home use of Palmolive Soap, he says: "The gentle penetrating oils in Palmolive remove all pore-clogging accumulations. I urge all my clients to use Palmolive for home cleansing."

Madame Louise is internationally known for her knowledge of beauty culture. Her salon at the Ambassador Hotel, Chicago, is patronized by the city's socially prominent women. She says: "For a good complexion, cleanse the skin at home twice daily with Palmolive Soap. This emollient treatment utilizes the olive and palm oils of the soap to the greatest benefit to the skin."

SUPREME COURT HEARS COUNTY APPEALS

$25,000 Damages Asked of City Among Pleas Taken Up by State Tribunal

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, which will conclude its fall session in Pittsburgh today, heard arguments yesterday on eight appeals arising in Allegheny County.

The right of a trial judge to grant a new trial solely because a verdict is excessive was the question argued in the appeal of Samuel P. Eagleson from an order of Common Pleas Court, granting a new trial after a verdict awarding Eagleson $25,000 for damages was rendered against the City of Pittsburgh in January last. Eagleson suffered concussion of the brain and an amputated arm as the result of an automobile skidding on the slippery street on Forbes street near Brady street in March, 1927.

Other appeals from Allegheny County argued were: Appeal of Gordon N. Craig in re Estate of Edward G. Craig, deceased; appeal of Maria L. Edby, et al. in re Estate of Annie S. Mark, deceased; Vincent P. Boyle vs. William Leech, appellant; O. C. Zellner, appellant, vs. Alberta C. Murdoch, Chrysanthos Liacopoulos, appellant, vs. B. Wed in Hospital After Crash On Cycle

To some people a broken leg is serious, but to James McNerny, 24, chief of industrial police of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Imperial, it's hardly more than an inconvenience. It didn't keep him from getting married as he had planned.

Three weeks ago he was in a motorcycle crash and his leg was snapped. His fiancee, Miss Lennea Helstrom, 21, of Renova, Clinton County, hurried to Mercy Hospital and extended her sympathy.

Last night they sent for the Rev. Dennis Haggerty, chaplain at the hospital, and notified him they were ready to be married.

DUNN ASSAILS KLINE ON VOTE SCANDAL

Political Corruption Makes City Laughing Stock of Nation, Candidate Says

Mayor Charles H. Kline was nominated in the Republican primary "over a trail littered with illegal assessments, fraudulent tax receipts and numerous cases of repeating at the polls," according to a charge made by Thomas A. Dunn, Democrat - Good Government aspirant for Mayor.

He made his statement at a meeting of the Democratic Women's Club of Allegheny County in the William Penn Hotel.

"The story of that scandal has been spread broadcast through the nation," continued Dunn. "Political corruption and election frauds have made Pittsburgh the laughing stock of the country."

Dun declared that no new laws are needed to correct present evils and pledged that, if he is elected, "every municipal agency will be used to secure the voter, free to exercise his right of suffrage and an honest count of his vote."

"The phantom voter and the repeater will not be permitted to ply his trade under my administration," said Dunn.

Woodward, organization; Dr. R. R. Jones, health and safety; N. A. Wahlberg, training, and J. F. Miller, camp construction, are other officials.

RAIDER FRAUD, CHIEF SAYS

Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington denied last night that a man named "Colbert" was in the employ of the prohibition bureau or that his men operated government cars with District of Columbia license plates.

Pennington's denial came on the heels of a complaint made to police yesterday by H. F. Burr, of 493 Fairfax road, Forest Hills, that a motorist represented himself as a prohibition agent after Burr's machine was involved in a minor collision. Burr, according to police, was reprimanded by the man, who drew a revolver, and then produced an identification card bearing his name and photograph.

Approximately 100 co-workers of Thomas J. Price, associate executive of Allegheny County Council West, Boy Scouts of America, played host last evening at a dinner given in his honor at Guyasutta Cabin, Aspinwall. The dinner was given as a farewell tribute to Mr. Price, who resigned to become Scout Executive of Chester County, with headquarters at West Chester. Price will be succeeded by Tom Venable of the local staff, who has been in charage of the camp activities.

Our friend the vegetable

Good vegetables deliciously cooked promote health

A NOTED scientist is addressing the women of America. He is talking to them because they hold the health of the nation in their hands. It is the women who control our daily diet.

He enumerates a number of vegetables—lettuce, spinach, asparagus, endive, cabbage, greens, chard, celery, tomatoes, cauliflower, eggplant and string beans. He reminds us that these foods are rich in vitamins and minerals, and that they fill the stomach, help to satisfy the appetite and leave a residue that prevents constipation.

He points out that the vegetables may be used fresh or canned, as modern canneries provide vegetables that are palatable and rich in vitamins. Each healthy individual should eat liberally of these foods each day, and also should include in the daily diet such fruits as oranges, grapefruit, strawberries, blackberries, peaches, pineapple, or watermelon. He then suggests a dash of sugar whenever it will make fruits and vegetables more acceptable to the taste.

Don't forget vegetables and fruits in the daily diet of every member of your family, and don't forget what a little sugar will do when added to the vegetables while they are cooking in a small amount of water. Two groups of women cooking experts recently rediscovered that the use of sugar makes the vegetables fresher, improves their color and develops the delicious flavors.

Everyone knows the value of sugar sprinkled over berries, fresh pineapple and other tart, fresh fruits. And the value of sugar in preparing stewed fruits for delicious desserts. For better flavor sprinkle sugar over cereal. And make plenty of egg-nogs, milk shakes and milk desserts to encourage the ingestion of milk. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Hair Rats Are Gone!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Modern woman, freed of the restraint of long tresses, realizes the comfort and sanitation of the bobbed head. The shears in the hands of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE have severed the bonds of another archaic dogma.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

MIX MUSIC WITH SOME BRAINS AND YOU'LL MAKE MONEY WITH YOUR SHOW

By GEORGE SEIBEL

UNTIL the Theater Guild opens its Pittsburgh season October 28, with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in Sil-Vara's delicious comedy "Caprice," it looks as if interest in our theatrical season would be largely in musical shows. There's no indication that the vogue of this form of entertainment will soon abate. As long as these shows contain good music, mixed with some brains, they'll remain deservedly popular. That's shown by the fact that "Blossom Time" has just opened its eighth season in Rochester.

George Seibel

It would be hard to improve on the music of Franz Schubert, or even to spoil it by such moderate jazzing as it received in "Blossom Time." That operetta also has the advantage of a consistent plot, based on a clever German comedy "Das Dreimaederlhaus" (The House with the Three Girls). Some lapses into silliness haven't impaired the integrity of that plot nor the sympathetic appeal of the characters. So "Blossom Time" is likely to last many seasons more.

Now the Shuberts have had another happy inspiration. They're going to make an elaborate production of Johann Strauss' most famous operetta, "Die Fledermaus"—which baldly translated into English means "The Bat," but has nothing to do with Mrs. Rinehart's thriller. "Die Fledermaus," first produced at Vienna in 1847, and first given in New York with DeWolf Hopper in the cast, has captivating music and rich comedy. It will lend itself wonderfully to modern artistic notions and box office requirements. Light enough to appeal to the lowest of brows, it is solid enough to have been produced at the Metropolitan with Caruso and Sembrich in the cast.

And they're revivlag "Robin Hood" in Boston.

Herbert Coming Back

Another sign of this light musical renaissance is the return of Victor Herbert, whose jolly ghost has rested uneasily in his grave for a number of years. "Sweethearts" has been revived successfully in New York, and has been followed by "Mlle. Modiste," with Fritzi Scheff in her original role. So everybody will soon be whistling "Kiss Me Again."

Three other Herbert operettas are to follow—"Naughty Marietta," "The Fortune Teller," and "Babes in Toyland."

One interesting feature connected with this elaborate revival is the advent of Bernice Mershon, who has been with the St. Louis Municipal Opera for several seasons. Here's an indication that these municipal opera companies may become recruiting fields for metropolitan casts. Maybe some day our Pittsburgh Grand Opera Company will supply a long-felt want at the Metropolitan.

One Pittsburgh Recruit

Not very many people will remember that J. C. Huffman, who has just staged the new Romberg-Harbach-Caesar opera "Nina Rosa," is a recruit from Pittsburgh. For quite a number of years, after Harris Davis started his stock company here, Jack Huffman was his stage manager. Those were the days when William Ingersoll was our matinee idol.

Huffman made many fine productions on the stage of the old Grand, laying the foundation for his later reputation.

It was he who staged "Maytime," "The Blue Paradise," "The Student Prince," "Blossom Time" and "My Maryland." That's almost work enough for one lifetime, but Jack Huffman is still on the job. If any composer will furnish music worth playing and singing, Huffman can be counted on to supply the brains to put the production across.

The value of brains in musical comedy is being appreciated even by some of the comedians. Word has just come to me that Jack Pearl, who's in "Pleasure Bound," makes it a rule to study at least one new language every six months. Among those he can already speak fluently are German, French, Italian, Polish, Swedish, Arabian, Armenian, Portuguese, Russian, Japanese, Spanish, Hebrew, Negro, Irish, Scotch and Welsh.

Some one should test his ability to drink some Scotch and eat a Welsh rarebit.

Anyway, since he is just starting on a Chicago engagement, he'll have need of all these languages.

LEW CODY HELPS BARRYMORE TO PUT ARTISTIC HICCOUGHS IN MOVIE DRAMA

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10.

YEARS ago, in the days when face lifting was an ice park and not a stitch, John Barrymore merried in comedy cyclept, "Are You a Mason?" Mr. Barrymore's inebriated scenes celluloided mirthfully. Being a silent picture, the actor's —er—Scotch hiccoughs were lost to all except studio workers.

Down through the years, and John leaps nimbly from the lightning tempo of comedy to the dark procession of dramas in his current talkie. However, he must needs resort to a good old-fashioned hiccough, but 'twixt "Hamlet" and romantically jazzed movies, the Barrymore has slipped in the artistic expression of hiccoughing.

John Barrymore

It so happened that at the crucial moment, Lew Cody came a-visiting him on "The Man" set at Warner Brothers. John satirized said moment by inducing Lew to coach him in hiccoughs. Lew did. He's a good fellah, John's hiccoughs registered a resonant baritone on Vitaphone wax. Lew's reached a tenor pitch. The boys in the playback room listened-in critically. Drama actualy reached dramatic heights. And, to be sure, between John and Lew, Director Al Green has quite a collection of choice hiccoughs from which to select for the desired scene in "The Man."

My, oh, my, the things that do go on in studios. . .

Miss Nixon Sends Card From Europe

Francis X. Bushman, Sr., has a 60-year-old plus housekeeper. She's German. She has heard much of Caliente and beer. She reproached Bushman for never letting her see Caliente. She complained it had been seven or more years since she enjoyed a really good glass of beer. So Bushman took her down to Caliente 'tother day and she drank beer to her heart's content. And incidentally, lost $7 gambling! Ah, the evils of drink.

From distant Spain, where she and her husband, Edward Hillman, Jr., are at present honeymooning, postal-cards Marian Nixon:

Marian Nixon

"Picture on other side shows where we are staying. It looks like a Doug Fairbanks set but it is real. Every room has running water — it comes in through the roof — on rainy days. An old-fashioned galvanized iron wash tub serves as a bath tub and we take it and like it. But ain't life grand, anyway?"

Marian is having a hoop-de-da jaunt through Europe. She returns to the U. S. A. in December, and not 'till then. But she doesn't hit Hollywood again until January 1, for she goes to Florida with her husband for a month or six weeks. Hillman, who is a wealthy Chicago merchant and sportsman, is to take part in the midwinter polo matches. It was while polo-ing in Hollywood that he and Marian first met.

Fox Buys Cruze's 'The Great Gabbo'

DIDST know that Jimmy Cruze made "The Great Gabbo," with Erich Von Stroheim and Betty Compson, as an independent director-producer

And that Fox has purchased the releasing rights to it for a paltry sum said to be $675,000?

SCREENALITIES: Catherine Dale Owen is slated to depart tonight Manhattan bound. Purpose: To visit her parents . . . Jetta Goudal has returned from a trip to New York. La Goudal may trek back in December to do a play. May . . . Elise Bartlett Schildkraut is another Manhattan returnee. Elise will do several A. H. Woods plays out here and perhaps return in one of them to the one and only White Way . . . Blanche Sweet has been working nights in her initial outloud, "The Night Hostess." Working late, too. But did that daunt her grandmother, Mrs. Alexander? Not so's you can notice. Mrs. Alexander, who is in her seventies, sits up every eve until Blanche gets home. Whether Blanche likes it or not. Independent, she is. Betcha boots . . . Edward Everett Horton has had a swimming pool and an outdoor fireplace—barbecue—built on his ranch in San Fernandez . . . California is a lovely wintering place for flies. Here 'tis October and the dern pests are as vimful as July . . . First National has purchased "Three Faces East" and will have it talked into celluloid . . . Hie ho, wish I had a new typewriter ribbon . . . and—that's all.

PACKER FREED IN STILL FIRE

A plea that he operated a meat smoking plant on the first floor of the building damaged by fire at 1334 Spring Garden avenue, in which firemen found a 200-gallon still, today won freedom for Carl Loose, 45, of 1817 Progress street, when he was arraigned before Magistrate E. M. Hough.

"If there was a still in the place, John Gudatt was responsible," Loose said. "I just smoke meats on the first floor."

Loose said he did not know Gudatt's address. Police admitted finding evidence of a meat smoking plant on the first floor. Hough ordered a search for Gudatt.

Sharon Country Club Raided By Drys

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 10.—Warrants will be served today on 40 members of the Sharon Country Club as the result of a raid made on the club last night by Detective Samuel Leyshock and state police.

Leyshock says they broke 70 bottles of liquor and seized 50 pints. He charges that many smashed bottles as the officers entered. These men, he claims, will be arrested, while others will be charged with possession.

The raid came shortly after men players at the club had completed their annual red and blue golf match. A dinner was to have been served. District Attorney Leo McKay ordered the raid.

SUSPECT IN 7 KILLINGS HELD

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(A.P.)—Police have arrested Claure Maddox after hunting him nearly eight months, in connection with the Valentine's Day gang massacre. Maddox is the man who owned the circus cafe, headquarters of the men who are held responsible for the septuple slaying.

Oak Park police who made the arrest last night, said Maddox denied his identity for several hours, but finally admitted he was the man sought. One report to police during the massacre investigation was that Maddox rented the garage in which the death car used in the slaying was hidden.

AFGHAN REVOLT CONFIRMED

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(INS.)—The fall of Kabul, capital city of Afghanistan, and the flight of the Emir Habibullah, who a few months ago lifted himself from the plane of a peasant water-carrier to ruler of that wild country, were confirmed in dispatches from India today.

Kabul fell under the steady advance of the troops of Nadir Khan, formerly Afghan minister to France, Habibullah, emulating former King Amanullah, whose throne he usurped, fled from the occupied city in an airplane.

The above details were given in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bombay today.

Little is yet known of the new regime, and the new administrative policies of the country are in doubt. Nadir Khan at one time was sympathetic to Amanullah, who lost his throne because of attempts to Westernize his country, but later reports declared he was seeking the Afghan crown for himself.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Amanullah, who lost his throne to Bacho Sakao, Afghan waterboy, early in 1929, has not given up the hope of regaining it, but if that is impossible, he is quite willing to become Afghan ambassador in Rome.

Informed at his place of exile in Rome by British correspondents of the fall of Kabul, capital of Afghanistan before the forces of Nadir Khan, the former ruler said he had not received official news of the collapse of the usurper.

He commented that he was unaware of Nadir's plans. Nadir always had been faithful to him but it might be that he was reconquering Kabul for himself and would become ruler. He said he was willing, if asked, to serve as Nadir's ambassador at Rome.

Rival Rides, Girl Smashes Auto With Ball Bat

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Charlie Bianco had a good girl in Rosie Di Chain—she even aided him in buying an automobile—but she objected when he wanted to take another woman for a ride in it.

Rosie testified in police court that she came here with Charlie three years ago from Pittsburgh, and it was her money which aided in the purchase of a closed automobile. Last night Charlie stopped at the house ostensibly to get his overcoat, but Rosie suspected that he was going to take Mary Wells, the other woman, for a ride.

She immediately procured a baseball bat and started to work on the automobile. When police arrived they found all of the windows broken, and a three-cornered fist fight in progress.

When the trio was arraigned before Magistrate Joseph J. Rettaliata, the Wells woman was released, but Rosie and Charlie held for Federal authorities for investigation on charges of violating the Mann act.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburgher Bridesmaid In East

IF variety is the spice of life, life's going to be pretty much all spice for a few days. Weddings, fashion shows, and steeplechases all have their part in this exciting social calendar of ours.

First of all, I want to menton that Mrs. Winfield H. Binns, of Stanton avenue, will be a bridesmaid at a New York wedding. And the bride is Adelaide Marie Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes, of New York, who'll marry Arthur Pierre Carroll on Saturday, November 16. Virginia Hughes, of New York, will be her sister's maid of honor, and Mary Kenny, Marie Kearney, Katherine Murray Ford and Annette Morgan, all of New York; Regina Ogden Sherwood, of Great Neck, Long Island, and Mrs. Binns are the bridesmaids.

AND then ths afternoon at 3:30 o'clock will be the very last chance to see the fashion revue, being given by the Woman's City Club, in the William Penn Hotel ballroom.

Last night the revue opened with debutantes and young matrons as models. A small stage was erected in the ballroom with a long runway down which the members of the younger set walked slowly to exhibit the latest in women's attire for the coming winter. And there were the long skirts, normal waistlines, and the fitted waist we've been hearing about so long.

In between the exhibits of the latest models, a group of children sang and danced, and later modeled smart apparel for the very young set.

And before talking about any of the folks there, I want to mention the interesting exhibits arranged in the Urban room of flowers, rugs, and everything to make one's self and one's house beautiful.

Directing this annual revue, attended last night by folks of all ages, was Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock, assisted by Mrs. Clinton Bradley, Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl Mrs. S. F. Kiester, Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, Mrs. Gilbert McNiff, Mrs. Margaret Stewart Gray, Mrs. J. H. Palmer, Mrs. Carl H. Borntraeger, Miss Elsie Pattillo, Miss May Beegle, Mrs. A. W. Robertson, Mary Hulsman, Mrs. Arthur E. Braun, Mrs. C. L. Pierce, Jr., Mrs. John P. Hoelzel, Mrs. W. L. G. Gibson, and Marian Jobson.

And of course there were girls and young matrons selling cigarets and candy. Among these were Catherine Suydam, Margaret Stewart, Mrs. J. Knowles Woodwell, Mrs. Frank M. Everson, Mrs. James Jewett Turner, Jr., Mrs. Harvey Childs III, Jane Miller and Mary Floyd.

It seemed as though everyone were there last night. Among those whose faces I recall now were the Edmund W. Mudges, Mrs. Dorwin J. Donnelly, the Jamees M. Magees, the Charles W. Dahlingers, the Frank S. Loves, the Taylor Allderdices and Mrs. J. Verner Scaife.

I also saw Mrs. William J. Crittenden, mother of one of the buds, Caroline Crittenden; the William Zangs, Neil Stewart Zang, Mrs. Glendon Curry, Mrs. Charles Willock, Mrs. George S. Baton, Mrs. George Greer Coolidge, Mrs. F. W. Edmondson, Mrs. E. S. Fickes, Mrs. Clark Hammond, Mrs. Henry H. Hanna, Mrs. J. P. Knable, Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney and the Andrew W. Robertsons.

AND I might add that the Joseph P. Cappeaus have been in New York. They arrived in Gotham from their summer home at Water Mill, Long Island. The Cappeaus now spend the greater part of the winter in Fort Worth, Tex.

Another New York visitor is Mrs. Jerome Hill.

THE wedding of Miss Doris Davidson and Edward Stotz, Jr., took place at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Prospect avenue, Ingram. Stotz, of Oakmont, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. After an extended motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Stotz will reside in Hughes avenue, Ingram.

CLOTHES DESIGNED FOR WINTER WEAR PRESENT VARIOUS HUES IN DARKER TONES

Sketched in Paris

Coat Trimming Offers Little Contrast

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—A dark outlook is ahead of us, rather than a colorful future. This means, of course, that as the season progresses, we find that, although many colors are popular, the demand is for these various hues in their darker tones. Green, brown and blue are all present in the roll call of the mode, but they are all in their very darkest manifestations. Mahogany brown, bottle green, navy blue are some of the shades that predominate in the clothes designed for late autumn and winter wear in town. Nor is there much contrast in the furs used for trimming, except that one sees red fox used on dark brown coats; gray or black astrakan are much used on blue coats, and also on the dark greens. Beautifully marked broadtail is seen on many models. It is highly decorative as well as distinguished in effect.

MAGGY ROUFF has shown many coats and wraps trimmed with red fox, and the model depicted here shows how effective is her use of this fur. All the coats from this house are high-waisted and many are bloused, as is this creation. It is of dark brown leda, a soft napped velours de laine. The high Medici collar and deep cuffs of red fox are in pleasing but not too obvious contrast with the dark brown of the coat.

MAGGY ROUFF, is responsible too, for the other model here shown. It bears the apt name of "Les Noeuds" or "The Bow-knots," for these ornaments are certainly the distinguishing feature of this attractive frock. It is of panne velvet in a most fascinating shade of blue, a shade between royal blue and purple marine—a blue that is flattering to the complexion and as lovely under artificial lighting as in daylight, something that one does not always see. This dress subscribes to the prevailing silhouette of this house. It is draped at the normal waistline and bloused above, especially so at the back. Curving, very cleverly cut piecings form the upper part of the skirt and the flounce, cut very generously circular, is open at the front over a narrow underskirt.

FORMAL COATS

LUXURIOUS WITH FUR

The longer line, oftimes irregular... the slightly raised waist... the softly fitted princess effect ... are all interpreted by Grabowsky stylists in coats of fascinating grace. Utilizing fabrics of imported weaving, trimming them with choicest furs, Grabowsky's create the exclusive type of cloth coat worthy of the label they bear.

$145 to $175 to $565

The Black Coat is ever smart, especially when it is enriched with Black Caracul, Black Persian Lamb or Hudson Seal (dyed muskrat). For harmonious contrast, Gray Persian Lamb is effective.

Grabowsky's are trimming some of the most charming coats this season with Foxes, —Black Fox, Pointed Fox and Blue-dyed Fox. On the other hand, there is no fur more charming than Caracul.

Some of the most alluring coats—especially for the younger set—are in new Blue Tones, rich Autumn Greens and Blackberry. With them, Grabowsky's are using Beaver, Gray Kitt Fox, Badger and Hudson Seal (dyed muskrat).

BODIES OF VETS LEAVE ARCTIC

LENINGRAD, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The bodies of 86 Michigan soldiers who died on the only battlefront of the World War north of the Arctic circle reached here after the first stage of their long journey back to their homeland.

Wrapped in the Stars and Stripes the bodies lay in a special train placed at the disposal of the American Graves Commission by the Soviet government.

These soldier dead belonged to the "Polar Bear" Division which served on the Archangel front through the bitter winter of 1918-19. A commission of American Veterans of Foreign Wars came from Michigan to search out the bodies and arrange for their transport homeward. Throughout the three months of work the graves commission was given every facility and courtesy by the Soviet government to expedite their solemn mission.

The bodies recovered from widely scattered areas bordering on the Arctic Ocean and the White Sea were each placed in individual hermetically sealed coffins.

Capt. Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., chairman of the commission, expressed gratitude to the Northern Soviet authorities for the great assistance given in locating the bodies and expressed the hope that such gallant and chivalrous action would strengthen the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia.

BLOOMSBURG'S HOSPITAL READY

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—State Treasurer Edward Martin, in delivering the dedication address at the opening of the new $400,000 hospital here, estimated that more than $60,000,000 is invested in hospitals in Pennsylvania. He said the state, by establishing a department of health in 1903, had set a standard which has since been followed by other states.

The local institution, which replaces a hospital one-third its size, has a capacity of 150 beds. Funds were raised by citizens in a week's campaign without paid organizers. Private and semi-private rooms were furnished at a cost of $15,000 more.

The hospital will be ready to receive its first patients Saturday.

Car Strikers Vote Again on Peace Plan

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—(AP).—The local street car men's union last night decided to vote again on acceptance of the tentative agreement reached a number of weeks ago by labor leaders and Public Service, Inc., for ending the trolley strike. The agreement was previously rejected.

Six Communists Convicted for Conspiracy

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—A Superior Court jury last night convicted of conspiracy six of seven defendants arrested last August in a sheriff's raid of an alleged Communist colony in Yucaipa valley.

Miss Yetta Stromberg, who testified she was a Los Angeles college girl, and admitted a position of leadership in the camp, was found guilty of flying the red flag and of conspiracy. Isador Berkowitz, Jennie Wolfson, Ester Kappeliffe, Emma Schneiderman and Bella Mintz were convicted of the conspiracy charge alone. Sarah Cutler was acquitted.

CAROL BEATEN FOR REGENCY

BUCHAREST, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Constantine Saratzeanu, former judicial councillor in the Court of Appeals, was chosen by a large majority to replace the late G. Buzdugan as a member of the regency council for Rumania's boy king. Premier Maniu, with the approval of the surviving regents, suggested Saratzeanu.

Prince Carol, exiled father of the little king, received only nine votes against nearly 500 for the new regent.

Saratzeanu was minister of the interior for a short time in 1918 after the armistice.

RUSSIAN PLANE HOP DELAYED

CRAIG, Alaska, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—With the work of installing a new motor in the Russian plane Land of the Soviets progressing slowly today, it was believed the plane, en route from Moscow to New York, would not be able to take off from Waterfall, Alaska, for Seattle on the next leg of its flight until next Saturday. It was thought yesterday that the Russians would be able to hop for Seattle next Friday.

The Russians were forced to land at Waterfall, on Dall Island, last Thursday, shortly after they had taken off for Seattle from Sitka, when one of their motors failed. A new motor, shipped from Seattle, arrived at Waterfall yesterday.

Just a Newlywed, Neal Quickly Gets Tired Of Married Life

CHAPTER XLVIII.

ANN MARIE heard Aunt Annie calling to her as she hurried along under the low branches of the sycamore trees that lined the street. But she pretended not to hear her . . . No use to go back there and make a show of herself by having hysterics.

She never had them in her life. But she knew she was on the verge of them now. She bit her lips to keep back the laughter and sobs that shook her. . . What was it Mrs. Leezy was always saying about life?—"Trouble on top of trouble. That's what it is!"

Ann Marie had her dinner that night in a little serve-self lunchroom on Front street.

She wasn't at all hungry. But she forced herself to eat. And she ate as slowly as she could, spinning out the time before she would finish and go back home. She dreaded the thought of going back and facing Neal and Alice.

It was half-past eight by the time she had set down her thick white cup of coffee and paid for her meal.

At a quarter of nine when she turned into Pleasant street once more, the car was still standing in front of the house.

But the bride and groom were nowhere in sight.

"Perhaps they've gone to the movies," thought Ann Marie hopefully, "and I won't have to see them."

She went up the walk.

On the porch sat Mrs. Leezy, fanning herself with the evening newspaper. Howdy and Stella rocked gently to and fro in the hammock couch. Stella was singing softly, and her voice was the voice of contentment and happiness.

"Where's Dad?" asked Ann Marie, standing at the foot of the steps.

"'Round at the side of the house, messin' with his flowers, as per usual," Mrs. Leezy answered resentfully. " 'Stead of sittin' out here where he b'longs. I declare he ain't no more company to me than one of them there totem poles!"

Mr. Macy was sprinkling the lawn at the side of the house. Above him were the lighted windows of Alice's bedroom and through them came the murmur of voices.

Looking up, Ann Marie could see Neal's dark head. He was sitting near the windows, smoking a cigaret.

"They've been having a battle royal up there," said Mr. Macy in a whisper. "I've been listening to them. Seems they left some hotel or other without paying their bill—and each one of them is blaming the other one for getting married! They're a fine pair."

He sat down on a low wooden bench beside his bed of cannas.

"I certainly have raised a fine lot of children," he said bitterly. "Alice and this matinee-idol of hers turn out to be a couple of deadbeats, likely to be arrested any minute!—Howdy gets himself into this mess with the worst girl in this town—and Jeanie marries the town bum. That's what he is, no matter how much money he has—the town bum and the town drunkard."

"—no matter how much money he has," thought Ann Marie, turning her father's words over in her mind.

Why, of course, that was the solution to the whole awful problem! —Brooke Walters' money. He'd undoubtedly be perfectly willing to lend her two thousand dollars, provided she would pay it back to him at so much a week. Especially when she told him what it was for.

"Jeanie will make him lend it to me," she thought. "She won't want to have Howdy disgraced just now when she's ready to take her place here as Brooke's wife."

But where were they? — Jeanie and Brooke hadn't told a soul where they were going on their honeymoon. They had just started away in Brooke's car amid showers of rice and old shoes.

The one person who might know where they were was Alice. For Jeanie and Alice had never had any secrets from each other. They had fought and bickered. They had stolen each other's clothes and toilet articles. They had said mean nasty things about each other whenever they were on the "outs."

But they had always been great friends, nevertheless, for they were two of a kind!

As Ann Marie started up the stairs she could hear the quarrel going on between the newly-weds.

Alice's voice — her family voice — was the high shrill kind that carries like the whistle of a steam engine.

It came clearly to Ann Marie's ears now.

"—Well, you'll have to go to work now, Neal Forsythe!" she was saying. "Because I'm no Ann Marie, let me tell you!—I never have worked and I never AM going to work! So you'd better go to see your uncle about a job in the bank first thing tomorrow morning, and I don't mean MAYBE!"

Ann Marie could not hear Neal's answer.

She waited a minute outside the door and then knocked on it.

Alice threw it open.

"Hello! Hello, Ann Marie," she said, pulling the dressing-gown she had on closer around her slender body. It was a white one, and Ann Marie had painted a border of water lilies on it for her long ago.

Ann Marie pulled herself together. She leaned forward and kissed her on her painted mouth.

She looked beyond Alice at Neal, lounging in his chair, smoking.

"I hope you'll both be happy. I really hope that," she said to both of them. "I know you will be."

She knew that they wouldn't be. They were both too selfish and demanding. Both of them would want to be waited on and pampered and spoiled — and there would be no one to wait on either of them, or to spoil them or to pamper them!

"Come in and sit down," Neal said, getting up from his chair. "We really are sick and tired of being alone. Honeymoons are the bunk, what?" He grinned, showing his even white teeth. But Ann Marie knew that, in spite of that grin, he meant exactly what he said.

He was tired of married life before he had actually started it.

She shook her head.

"No, I just wanted to ask Alice where Jeanie and Brooky are," she said. "I've got to get hold of them—it's awfully important."

"They're at the Plaza in New York," answered Alice "They'll be there until tomorrow noon. Then they're going to drive up to Canada—I'll bet they don't think their honeymoon is the bunk!"

Her voice was as sharp and as cold as an icicle.

Then suddenly it began to tremble. Her whole face quivered and tears sprang into her shallow blue eyes.

"All I've heard since the night I ran away with that big lazy helpless thing," she said, her voice breaking, "is how wonderful you are and how awful I am. He says you used to put his buttons in his shirts for him and wait on him hand-foot-and-finger! —Well, if he expects ME to do it for him, he's all WET—"

She turned and flung herself, crying and choking, down upon the untidy-looking bed where Neal had tossed his coat and his hat and a pair of dusty tan shoes.

The next morning at half past eleven Ann Marie telephoned Mr. and Mrs. Brooke Walters' sitting-room in the Plaza Hotel in New York City.

"Come right up! We're just having breakfast," Jeanie's voice came to her. "We just got up, and telephoned the clerk that we'd take any 'phone calls came in for us. . . . Have you been trying to get us?

"For about an hour. I'll be there in no time," answered Ann Marie and hung up.

Jeanie was alone in the sitting room when Ann Marie arrived. She was sitting at the breakfast table with its china and silver and glass shining in the sun that flooded the room.

"Isn't this the life! I ask you!" she said in a breathless, happy excited way when Ann Marie had kissed her. "Breakfast at noon! Stroll on Fifth avenue! Lunch at any old time! Shops and dance places! Dressing for dinner and a show afterward! Never in all my life have I had such a good time."

She certainly looked as if she were having a good time. Her cheeks were pink above the dim, soft pink of her clinging satin dressing-gown, and her eyes shone.

"Brooky's shaving," she said. "He says his hand is never steady until he's had a drink in the morning—and he's just had one. That's why that bottle is on the mantelshelf. I supposed you noticed the smell of whisky, didn't you, Spotless Pure!" she laughed.

But Ann Marie had not noticed it. She was too wrapped up in her own anxiety to notice much of anything that morning.

"Jeanie," she said, "Leota Ingram is going to sue Howdy for breach of promise unless he gives her $2,000!"

Jeanie raised her eyebrows.

"Oh, how can she do that?" she asked, pushing back her wide sleeves from her arms. "Why, Howdy's been married for perfect ages."

"Yes—and Stella knows that she is going to have a baby," Ann Marie told her. "That's the worst of it—all this Leota business will just kill Stella if she finds out about it."

Jeanie didn't think so.

"People don't die so easily," she said. "And besides Leota will never start any kind of a suit. She knows we haven't any money, anyway. Why, Dad couldn't even scrape up enough money for my wedding—"

Her face brightened with a wide smile.

"The wedding was lovely, wasn't it?" she asked. "Thanks to you and the money you let me have, you perfect darling!"

"Yes—and I've come to you for some now!" Ann Marie sat on the very edge of her chair, her face eager and questioning.

Madge Decides to Reveal Whole Mystery to Katie.

"I AM sorry to trouble you again, Katie," I said placatingly as I came into the kitchen with Lillian's information concerning the Ticers worrying me inordinately.

My little maid looked shrewdly at me, and grinned.

"Who hoongry now?" she queried with an impudence which would have been insolence in a servitor less faithful than she. "I bet somebody else in dees short-order restaurant vant tea und toast or leetle lamb chops or—"

"The order is a pot of tea, and some of those delicious little pate sandwiches of yours," I interrupted. "But it is my order for Miss Lincoln. She protested that she did not want anything, but I think she needs a light lunch. She's been rather upset this morning."

"Yah, dot Meester Yackson gettin' shot oopset her clear oopside down," Katie commented acidly. "Vot matter mit dot dame? She vant all sheeks in vorld? She vant to cop oudt Meester Noel und Meester Yackson, all at vunce?"

"We mustn't talk about that, now, Katie," I said, careful to make my voice only mildly reproving, and feeling myself a disciple of that school, cowardly or sensible, depending upon your standpoint, which counsels "shutting one's eyes to breaches of discipline which it is inadvisable to correct."

"Me, I got someting better to talk about dan dot Mees Lincoln," Katie retorted promptly, giving her ad a rebellious toss. "Vot kind of bread you vant dose sandwiches?"

"White," I said, ignoring the first part of her answer. "I'll help you. After you take them up, come back here. I have something to tell you."

My little maid's face was suddenly illuminated.

"About all dose secrets dot Jeem knows und I don't?" she demanded.

"Yes, about all those, and some other things," I said indulgently, and Katie worked furiously until the tray for Princess Olina was ready. She looked eagerly at me as she lifted it and started for the door.

"You sure be here ven I coom back?" she asked.

"Yes, I'll be here," I promised, and she was back in the kitchen in so short a time that I knew she must have run like a hare the moment Olina's door had closed upon her.

She put her hands upon her heart as she rushed breathless into the kitchen, and looked up at me with such naive eagerness that I found myself smiling at her with the tender indulgence I would have given to a child.

"Sit down, Katie," I told her. "This is going to be quite a long story."

For I had decided that half measures would be worse than useless. How much she already knew or suspected concerning the identity of Prince Georges and Princess Olina I did not know, but I had had proof of her uncanny ability to find out things not meant for her knowledge when she solved the secret of Mary's posing as a mythical Janet Rawdon and depositing the greater part of her allowance in a savings bank under that assumed name. I was extremely grateful to Katie for that feat. She had lifted a load of dread from Dicky's shoulders and mine by her discovery, for, with the memory of Mary's masked dancer episode fresh upon us, we had feared—we knew not what—from the girl's inexplicable actions.

There was but one thing to do, I had decided, and that was to tell Katie everything concerning the royal visitors and their troubles, which she would be apt to find out and interpret in garbled fashion if she were left to her own melodramatic sleuthing devices. As a corallary to the story, also, I hoped to include something which would insure her toleration of her ancient enemy, Mrs. Ticer, when I should tell her of our neighbor's imminent arrival.

So, while my little maid faced me with shining eyes, I told her of the real identity of Olina and Georges, and of the peril which hung over them. I did not tell her of the respective betrothals of Mary and Georges, and Olina and Noel, but I did give her as a reason for the attack on Mary that the man responsible for it knew of Georges' attentions to her and and feared he meant to marry her.

"He tought dey get married already mitoud telling nobody," Katie commented shrewdly, but said nothing more until I had finished. Then she drew in a sharp breath.

"Oh-h! shoost like movie," she caroled delightedly, then stopped with a ludicrous air of concern.

"Lookit!" she said. "You got be careful somebody no find oot dees, und tell tings. How mooch dose Ticers know? Dey vork down by Lincolns, got lots chance for snooping."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN.

The Leader Leads

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am guardian of a group of Camp Fire Girls here. The Boy Scouts of this community have invited the girls to a banquet, a father-and-son banquet. They have asked the girls to have a table and I think they expect to give the girls half of the proceeds. Now I think this is so fine of the boys to ask us, that I am asking you to tell us just how we might show our appreciation. Don't you think it would be proper and fitting for one of us to say a few words that night? Is it my place, or the place of one of the girls to do this? I am timid and shy and I think, too, they would rather hear from the girls themselves.

Will you please tell us the right thing to do or in what words we can express our gratitude?

READER.

I THINK it would be splendid of you to express your appreciation of what the boys have done. But as guardian I think you should say the few words! You are the person in authority and what you say will carry the weight that will be appreciated.

A few frank words, saying just what you have said to me, worded as simply and naturally as possible, will be just the thing, I know.

And if there are any classes in public speaking in your town, why not go to one? You seem to have qualities of leadership or you would not be a guardian. Nothing will get you out of shyness or prove more valuable to you than a knowledge of how to say a few well expressed and clever words in public.

The Announcement Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My daughter is about to announce her engagement and would like to do so by giving a dinner at our country club. In extending the invitations, who should do the inviting, the parents or the daughter? The guests will mostly be her friends.

MOTHER.

SUCH invitations should be sent in the names of the parents of the girl. They make the announcement and the fact that their names appear on the invitation stands for the sponsorship of the announcement. This is especially in this particular kind of announcement.

Calling Etiquette

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When a young man comes to take me out most naturally I will invite him to come in. If he has never met my parents and they don't happen to be in the same room he is shall I just have him wait for me, or give him an introduction by calling them in? If so, what shall I say and how shall I call them?

2. How should I call my married sister in when I want to introduce her?

3. When he comes in shall I tell him to have a seat or shall I sit down a while with him, or should I say, "I'll be ready in just a few minutes." or "I'll put my hat on?" What would you suggest that I say? (I do not want to say anything above my standard. That would make it sound false.)

RED.

I AM glad that you ask these questions, for it shows that you have a good social sense, and that you realize that it is awkward and ill-bred not to introduce your friends to your mother and father.

When the young man comes into the living room tell him where to lay his hat, and then say, after a minute or two "I want so much to have you and my mother meet each other Please excuse me while I ask her to come in."

Then when you bring her in say, "Mother, may I present Mr. Mann?" or "Mother may I present Mr. Tom Mann?"

When your father comes in make the same kind of introduction: "Father, this is Mr. Mann," "Mr. Mann, this is my father."

"2. In the same way although do not give the young man the impression that you are calling them all at once!

3. Unless there is really very little time, don't seem to give the impression of being hurried. Say, "Won't you sit down for a while? We have plenty of time, I think, and I do want to have Mother and Father meet you."

There isn't any reason to say anything "above your standard." dear girl. Just say the most simple and natural thing, in your own gracious and friendly way, and this naturalness will carry its own charming conviction.

Sidelights on Men

A NEW husband, every few years, seems to mean more in the lives of some women, than a kiss in Hollywood.

HELEN ROWLAND

The kind of man who will never admit his faults is not half so hard to live with as the kind who will never stop bragging about them.

If you are looking for happiness, don't marry a man before his character has jelled, his youthful conceit has been boiled down, and his heart has stopped doing flip-flops.

You can usually spot a good husband by the worn edges of his pockets and his habit of looking at his watch.

Many a man's library is filled with unread books, that he bought because the little saleswoman had "that kind of eyes" —and an old mother or a baby to support.

The average man's habits are like potato bugs; you can't eradicate them; you can't ignore them. You've just got to learn to love 'em.

Love is an emotion, about which most men are curious at 20, critical at 30, cynical at 40—and charmingly credulous at 50.

Women's frocks are getting back to the normal waistline; but the men have been fooled so long by the constantly moving waistlines, that they probably won't remember how to embrace a girl in one of these.

Aren't men wonderful! They have invented airplanes, submarines, and radios—but they are still looking for something which will keep a collar-button, a garter buckle and a suspender button from slipping its moorings.

* * *

Many a man cannot afford to marry, because, on an average salary, it's practically impossible to support both a wife and a speakeasy.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, October 11.

THE sidereal operations for this day may not be deemed of the first magnitude. There will be felt a fine incentive to work with diligence and to exercise close application to whatever engages the attention. It is probable that some small perplexities or worries may arise, and also there is a loophole for small losses unless care he used with funds.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of hard work, with patience, perseverance and cheerful application to the affairs in hand. Be on guard as to small losses or leaks in finances and resist small worries and deceits.

They may not have a year of great importance, as things will proceed in an orderly and systematic manner along accustomed grooves.

A child born on this day may be diligent and faithful and should attain its objects by patience and perseverance.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Wrong Diet May Cause Low-Blood Pressure.

WE hear much of the suffering resulting from high blood pressure. We are used to the flushed face and the high color of these patients. They are restricted in their diets and advised to avoid all the things which may be referred to as "blood making foods."

DR. COPELAND

But what of the persons with low blood pressure? They are the ones who need nourishing food, appropriate exercise and proper rest.

Most cases of low blood pressure follow some constitutional disorder. It may be an involvement of the heart or the kidneys, or the low pressure may result from some long continued nervous disorder. These cases the physician has under his constant and watchful care.

Very often there is not sufficient pressure to meet the purposes of the circulation. This results in lack of energy, headache, loss of vitality, mental depression and general debility. These symptoms are met in persons with low blood pressure not caused by any special illness, such as diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid or other infectious diseases.

A stimulating tonic prescribed by your doctor will do much to benefit you. Outdoor life, deep breathing exercises and proper diet will combine to effect a cure.

Use regularity in your eating, taking your meals on time. Make it a rule to have nourishing, well-balanced meals. Milk, eggs, well-cooked meats and a variety of fruits and vegetables will do much in restoring you to vigor. Try eating less at a time but more frequently. This is helpful to one of low vitality.

Attention should be given the functioning of the kidneys. Have the urine examined. Make sure the heart is in good condition. Occasional talks with your family doctor will be helpful.

Low blood pressure indicates lowered vitality and the best thing you can do is to make it your business for a while to build up the body. As it grows stronger the vitality and ambition will increase.

"They work while you sleep"

When the bowels need help there is nothing like cascara; nothing more efficient, nothing so good for the system. Any doctor can confirm these facts.

Candy Cascarets give you pure cascara in a most pleasant form. Take one tonight. See how fine you feel all next day. Without discomfort and without harmful effects this gentle laxative cleanses the whole thirty feet of bowels. Cascarets never produce that nauseous feeling usually associated with the use of laxatives. And their action is so natural that there is no danger of forming the laxative habit. You can take them as often as you please—or give them freely to children or old folks.

A coated tongue or a laden breath is a signal for a candy Cascaret. Or a sick headache, or any sluggish feeling; any time you believe the liver and bowels are not functioning fully, Cascarets will sweep away accumulations in the lower bowel. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice, making them the ideal laxative for children.

Full medical endorsement proves their principle is right; the use of 20 million packages a year proves their effectiveness.

CAN COMPANIES COMBINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Announcement was made here that directors of Continental Can Company, Inc., and Owens-Illinois Glass Company had approved a plan for consolidating the interests of the two corporations into a holding company to be known as Continental Containers, Inc.

The announcement said details of the plan were to be worked out by special committees, but that the holding company, which would have an authorized capitalization of 5,000,000 shares no par value, would acquire the common stock of the two companies by exchange on a share-for-share basis.

The existing companies will function independently under their present managements, the announcement said. It was planned to include the present boards of directors in the new board. The reorganization requires the approval of two-thirds of the common stockholders of each company to become effective.

The companies have plants in New York City, Baltimore, Md., Chicago, Clearing and East St. Louis, Ill.; Cincinnati, Los Angeles, Oakland, Denver, Seattle, New Orleans and other cities.

SKIPPER FREED IN KILLING

MADRID, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Dispatches from San Lucar De Barrameda announced that Dr. Francisco C. Franceschi, Porto Rican skipper of a 36-foot sloop which crossed the Atlantic last August, had been provisionally freed from jail under bond.

He had been under arrest since early in September on charges growing out of the death of Angel Carbo Rivera, the sole member of his crew, soon after the sloop reached here.

Roberto H. Lopez, who stowed away on the sloop, has said that Carbo Rivera was jealous at not being included in receptions accorded the others in Spain and attempted to attack the skipper. Franceschi was said to have shot the man, who then fell overboard.

ASKS $50,000 FOR DOG BITE

Alleging her face is permanently disfigured as the result of being attacked and bitten by a vicious dog, Evelyn Laird, of 938 Milton street, Edgewood, filed suit against Morris Half, of 6410 Bartlett street, in Common Pleas Court, asking $50,000 damages.

She alleged that on May 18, last, a vicious and dangerous collie dog, owned by Half and permitted to run at large, attacked her near her home, biting her about the head and face, causing permanent scars and disfigurement and preventing growth of hair on large areas of her scalp.

HURT ON CAR, $35,000 ASKED

Mrs. Sally T. Wellrich, widow, of Geneva, O., filed suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Common Pleas Court, asking $35,000 damages for personal injuries. On April 18 last, while attempting to board a one-man street car on Smithfield street at Fifth avenue, the motorman-conductor closed the center doors when Mrs. Wellrich had only one foot on the step, the suit alleged. Her right arm was caught in the closing door and the car started, dragging her 100 feet before it was stopped, fracturing her wrist, dislocating her shoulder and inflicting other serious injury.

When the brakes on an empty Greyhound bus, standing in front of the company garage at 920 Manchester boulevard, worked loose late last night the bus ran down a grade and crashed into the home of Mrs. Sadie Skilton, 512 Galveston avenue. Damage to the house and bus was estimated at $200 by police.

"I like those extra miles"—says the man who drives his own car

"THERE are lots of reasons why I always buy AMOCO-GAS. I like the quick response I can feel in starting. I like the power AMOCO-GAS puts at my disposal on the hills. I like the freedom from knocks. But most of all, I like those extra miles I've always found in every gallon of AMOCO-GAS! It's a longer run between filling stations since I've got wise to AMOCO-GAS. And I know for a positive fact that mile per mile I'm paying a lot less for fuel!"

There's no need to tell experienced motorists that AMOCO-GAS excels all its would-be imitators in power, in flexibility, in freedom from knocks and in many other ways. The big thing to remember is that "cost-per-mile" is the only true measure of cost--and that AMOCO-GAS not only gives most miles per gallon but least cost per mile!

Gloria Swanson to Sing In Victor Hour Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN
Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

THREE selections, one from her latest picture, "The Trespasser," will be sung by Gloria Swanson tonight at 10:30 o'clock when she appears as guest artist of the Radio Victor Hour, which will be heard in Pittsburgh through WCAE.

"Love, Your Spell is Everywhere," Massenet's "Elegie" and Toselli's "Serenade" will comprise the screen star's offering.

Two more stars of the radio firmament will sparkle in programs this evening.

Singing a Gershwin song cycle of present day hits, "Waltz Hugette" from "The Vagabond King" and "Love, Always Love," Jessica Dragonette, a soprano of rare artistry and one of radio's most beloved singers, appears as the featured artist on the Sunshine Hour, WCAE at 8.

His own composition, "Steel Guitar Blues," will be played by Andy Sannella on the Lehn and Fink program, KDKA at 8 o'clock.

"Piccolo Pete," which Dick Powell has popularized in the Pittsburgh area with his Enright stage band, will be included in the Vincent Lopez repertoire over KDKA at 7:30 p. m.

"Sweethearts on Parade" will open the Temple Hour, WJAS at 10, which will include also a Sigmund Romberg cycle.

We Now Present

Glenn L. Riggs, Louis Kaufman, Walter G. Myers and other boys at KDKA have had lots of fun the last few days playing with movie equipment set up in the KDKA studios. "Pathe" has arrived to take sound pix of the "Televox Man" and at least $15,000 worth of equipment is scattered about the rooms.

The operation cannot be handled in the studios. The pictures are taken there but the voice is recorded on an instrument 21 floors below, in a large truck parked on the street. Crowds passing the William Penn Hotel on William Penn way have craned their necks to see the cable wire stretched to the top of the building.

It was funny, yesterday. Riggs, Kaufman and Myers manipulated the camera and Klieg lights for their own movie. And what a wow that movie would have been, Lou directing the players with a yard stick, Riggs focusing the camera in gyroscopic fashion and Myers furnishing "Hearts and Flowers" on the studio piano.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the first of a fall series of music appreciation concerts will be given through KDKA by Walter Damrosch.

The Eskimos had an exceptionally good program the other night. A musical interpretation of romance between a brawny football player (captain, of course) and a timid little girl furnished the theme. Especially clever were Harry Reser's banjo numbers. The whole thing turned farce when the narrator explained that the football player, at last wealthy and influential, reared a son who became a successful radio announcer.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Ford Miller, announcer at KQV, is so tall he must stoop to talk into the microphone while Paul Miller (no relation) is so small he must stand tiptoe when the floor "mike" is used.

American Stores September Sales Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Sales of the American Department Stores Corporation for the month of September totaled $785,757, an increase of $324,100, or 70.2 per cent as compared with September 1928. For the first nine months this year sales totaled $7,268,276, an increase of $3,483,801, or 92 per cent as compared with the corresponding period of 1928.

The above figures do not include the sales of the wholly-owned subsidiary, American Dry Goods Company, the wholesale unit which is now being liquidated. With the completion of this liquidation, American Department Stores Corporation will function exclusively as an operator of retail stores.

THIRD OF RADIO CONTESTS ON

Today the third of the four Warner Brothers-Keps Electrical Supply Company's contests to determine the favorite screen stars of Pittsburgh, gets under way. Two of the contests have been brought to a successful conclusion and from all appearances, this one will be greater than either of the preceding pair.

Winners in the contest which closed last night will be announced in Sunday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. It was necessary to conclude the contest a day earlier so that all the ballots could be tabulated and the winners named.

Many people have been sending in entry blanks for each of the contests. This is unnecessary, as the first entry blank automatically enters one in all of the contests, as well as crediting 1,000 votes.

Another common error is voting for Dick Powell and Brooke Johns. It must be understood that these two popular local figures are not entered in the contest, but are acting solely in the capacity of judges. There are a hundred prizes each week.

United Biscuit Co. Income on Increase

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—United Biscuit Company statement for third quarter will show substantially higher profits in comparison with 1928 period. For the full year net income of about $4.50 a share on 458,054 common shares outstanding is expected. In 1928 net was $1,475,000 equal to $3.02 a share on 444,776 common shares.

With earnings running upwards of three times dividend requirements of $1.60 annually, an increase in disbursement to shareholders might reasonably be expected. Because of expansion plans of company however, there is slight possibility of an increase in rate this year.

MAGMA MAKES RICH STRIKE

Magma Copper Company has opened rich ore in the upward extension on the 2,250-foot level of the ore opened to the west of Number 5 shaft on the 22,550 level some time ago. This assures Magma of a second major ore shoot and will help materially in lowering costs.

Number 7 crosscut on the 2,250 level at a point 525 feet west of Number 5 shaft opened 26 feet of ore averaging 3.6 per cent copper, with some silver and gold. Of this 6½ feet averaged 10.9 per cent copper. In the crosscut 150 feet farther west, the ore is 31 feet wide and averages 4.4 per cent copper. Of this width, 21 feet averages 6.1 per cent copper. On the 2,550-foot level this west ore shoot has been opened for 700 feet and shows average width of 23 feet with copper 3.86 per cent. Of this 23 feet, 11½ feet averages 6.1 per cent copper.

Magma Copper Company will produce 40,000,000 pounds of copper in 1929, and should show profits of $3,500,0000 after depreciation, but before taxes. After federal taxes, this will be slightly under $8 a share on 408,155 shares.

The company probably will increase its dividend rate to $6 a share from $5 at the December meeting, in view of the excellent financial condition and best outlook at the mine in the company's history.

Atwater Kent Co.'s Production Normal

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company is operating on a normal production basis. During the spring and summer, the company was maintaining an abnormal schedule in anticipation of early fall requirements, which were realized and satisfied. This foresight has made it possible to reduce operations to a normal output at this time. Company states that "any reports or rumors of drastic changes in production or set policies are without foundation."

New Investment Firm Being Formed

The Central Trust Company of Illinois and the Central-Illinois Company are forming an allied investment company to be known as the Central-Illinois Securities Company. The purpose of the new firm is to engage in broad financial operations pertaining entirely to corporate banking.

It is understood that this new company will have an initial capitalization of $15,000,000, consisting of 400,000 shares of preference stock and 1,000,000 shares of common stock. Present plans contemplate offering some time this week units calling for one share of no par value convertible preference stock and one share of no par value common stock at a price around $35 per unit. The convertible preference stock will pay $1.50 per share dividend annually.

The Central Trust Company will purchase for cash a substantial block of the common stock. This new company will not engage in any market operations in stocks, but will confine its activities entirely to general banking. It is this type of operation which over a period of years has furnished the largest opportunities for profit. Obviously there are large possibilities for future expansion in the scope and operations of the company designed along the lines of the Central-Illinois Securities Company.

AUBURN AUTO INCOME UP

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Auburn Automobile Company reports quarter ended August 31, net earnings of $1,118,713, after all charges including depreciation and federal taxes equal to $6.72 a share on 166,329 shares of no par capital stock outstanding. As compared with $1,312,-944 or $8.05 a share on 163,033 shares in the preceding quarter and $526,572 for three months ended February 28, indicating a total for the first nine months of the company's fiscal year of $2,958,219 or $17.78 a share as compared with $10.07 for the entire fiscal year of 1928.

Mr. E. L. Cord, president, states that sales by Auburn and its subsidiaries have maintained a consistently high rate and outlook is for a continued satisfactory volume in the last three months of the fiscal year.

Third quarter earnings statement includes virtually no benefit from the addition of the Cord front drive car to the Auburn line, for the reason that it was not introduced until late in August, although all development and experimental expense incidental to the introduction of this model has been written off.

Westinghouse Gets Illinois Steel Order

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company announces having received the contract for the main roll drives of the new wide flange structural mill of the South Chicago works of the Illinois Steel Company. The value of the contract is approximately $1,250,000.

According to Westinghouse announcement, the equipment will include the first application of the twin motor direct drive, which is an outstanding new development in rolling mill practice. The electrical equipment for the new twin motor drive consists of two standard reversing motors, each of half the capacity required for a single motor drive, a motor generator and the necessary control and switching equipment.

Argentina Chief Exporter of U. S. Cars

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Argentina retained its place during August as the leading market for exports of American passenger cars, followed by Australia, Canada and British South Africa, according to the Department of Commerce.

For the first six months of 1929, American shipments of both passenger cars and trucks to Argentina increased more than 75 per cent over the corresponding 1928 period.

Predominance of American automobiles in the Argentine market in recent years is shown in a comparison with 1913, when European cars were 68 per cent of imports. During the last 10 years they totaled more than 5 per cent of imports only in 1921.

Of 260,000 passenger cars, 2,200 buses and 49,500 trucks registered in Argentina during 1928, the percentage of American make was respectively 96 per cent, 85 per cent and 95 per cent. Registrations this year have increased 17 per cent over 1927, according to the report.

British Girl's Legs Rated World's Best

LONDON.—(INS.)—Twelve British girls, reputed to be more beautiful and shapely than the famous Mack Sennett bathing beauties, have been selected as having the finest legs in the world.

Geoffrey Benstead, the film producer who made the selection, said:

"I have had to take their leg measurements and compare ankles with thighs in order to get the perfection I required."

"I personally interviewed 200 girls of fine physique and facial beauty, in the end I chose 12, and they are all British."

$25,000 PRIZE FOR AIR RECORD

PARIS. — (INS.) — Speed is the thing. Especially in French aviation. Louis Bleriot, hero of the first English Channel flight, Laurent-Eynac, minister of air; Pierre Flandrin, president of the French Aero Club, all say France will hold the speed record of the world before the next Schneider Cup—if they have anything to do with it.

Bleriot has offered a $25,000 prize for the fastest time in a land plane.

He says there is no reason why more than 600 miles an hour cannot be done aboard a plane.

Air Minister Eynac says he will aid all he can in pushing the construction of fast land planes.

Flandrin assures that he is in hopes of offering a cup for the fastest plane.

It seems to be up to the constructors as there are many French pilots just "rarin' to go."

EGG SIZE RULED BY HEREDITY

NEW YORK.—When a young pullet goes into the egg-producing business her first efforts are always small. According to Dr. Frank A. Hays, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, these first little eggs are worth checking up closely, because they will give an index of the size of the eggs to be expected when the main season comes on, and it is desired to have hens of the best capacity as mothers of the future flock.

If a hen can't turn out two-ounce eggs regularly, she should be marked for the block rather than for the breeding pen, for egg size is one of the things that "runs in families," and a hen's tendency to produce stingy eggs will be passed on to her daughters, and even through her sons to her granddaughters.

The TRUTH about... VIBRA-CONTROL

1 Tap a glass with a pencil! You start vibrations of sound.

2 Place a finger-tip on rim and you control the tone.

An A-B-C Explanation of this Revolutionary Fada Achievement

VIBRA-CONTROL is no special tube, no trick part, no untried circuit. But it combines the finest features of radio experience with a new fundamental principle of radio reception.

For Vibra-Control is the complete and perfect control of all radio vibrations. Unwanted vibrations, distortion, interference, rumbles and roars are entirely eliminated and the desired tones brought in exactly as broadcast.

Sounds simple . . . but it has been radio's most baffling problem, solved only when Fada engineers had so coordinated the receiver, speaker and cabinet that every delicate musical shading could be accurately and faithfully reproduced with mirror-like realism.

REDWINGS EVEN LITTLE SERIES WITH BLUES

ROCHESTER GETS THREE HITS, WINS

ROCHESTER, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—It is not often that three hits win a ball game, but that is what happened at Rochester yesterday as the Redwings evened up the count of the little world series at 3-all, defeating Kansas City, 4 to 2, in weather that was more characteristic of the football season than baseball.

YIELD THREE HITS

George Murray, starting hurler for the American Association titleholders, and his successor, Day, gave the International champions only three hits, but these were mixed just at the right time with three walks and an error.

Two of the free tickets and the misplay by Knothe, Kansas City shortstop, followed by Brown's hit, gave Rochester two runs. A like number was added in the sixth when Murray issued Worthington, Rochester outfielder, a pass followed by Felix's triple and Sand's sacrifice fly. Day went in to pitch for Kansas City in the seventh after Murray had been taken out for a pinch hitter.

Paul Derringer followed his 1-to-0 defeat in the third game at Kansas City, with a brilliant bit of mound work. Only 20 men faced him the first six innings, two snapping double plays pulling him out of a hole. Three of the seven hits off him came in the last inning, when the Blues rallied to send two men across the home plate. Only about 4,000 fans chose to brave the cold westerly wind, which cut across the field.

NELSON HURLS TODAY

The seventh game will be played today with Nelson the likely choice for Kansas City and the Rochester pitcher unknown. The score:

ROWE, OAKMONT PRO, DIES

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Western Pennsylvania golf has suffered a distinct loss. With the passing of Charley Rowe, veteran Oakmont Country Club professional, who died at 10:15 o'clock last night in the Columbia Hospital, one of the finest players and teachers in professional links ranks not only of this sector, but of the entire country, is lost. This morning his many friends at the Oakmont Country Club, and at the other clubs throughout the district, were grieved with the news of his death, although it has been expected for several days.

Since mid-summer Rowe had been trying to recover an ailment of the stomach, placing himself under observation before the greatest specialists in the country. He had returned from the Mayo Brothers' clinic at Rochester, N. Y., only recently, apparently on the road to recovery—but after being at home for a couple of days he suffered a relapse and was immediately removed to the Columbia Hospital, where Mrs. Rowe, his brother, Bill, and other relatives were with him to the last. He had been in a state of coma for more than a day before he expired, it was said.

Charley was 55 years old, and first became a familiar figure in local golf as a professional at the Beaver Valley Country Club, which he served 11 years. He has been affiliated with Oakmont since that time—for 16 years.

Rowe came to the United States from Westward Ho!, England in 1903. He served with the Black Watch in the Canadian Army in 1917 during the World War. He was vice-president of the Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association. Funeral arrangements will be made today.

DUKES READY FOR ALBION

Duquesne University gridders are going to be up against a stiff proposition when they meet the Purple and Gold tornado, Coach R. R. Daugherty's Albion College team, Saturday. Daugherty is a veritable fanatic on blocking and tackling and it appears the Dukes will not have much opportunity for gains on line plays.

A brilliant passing attack is the main threat in the Duke repertoire. Sammy Pratt doubtless will be out of Duke lineups for some time to come, since his wrenched left knee suffered in the West Virginia game has not come around yet. He will be missed in the Albion fracas. Louis Skender worked yesterday and his cracked rib does not hamper him now.

Cub Manager's Mother Thinks Foxx Is Good

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—"My, that young man Foxx must be a very good player," was the quiet observation of Mrs. Susan McCarthy, mother of Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, as she heard the radio description of the A's triumph over Chicago in her home in Germantown, yesterday.

Despite the double victory for the Athletics, Mrs. McCarthy predicted that her "Joe's team would win the series."

She hopes to attend tomorrow's game here as the special guest of her son. "If it is cold I'll bundle myself up well and go out to see Joe's team," she said.

BAKER STOPPED BY M'LARNIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Returning to the ring as a full-fledged welterweight after a prolonged vacation, Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced slugger from Vancouver, knocked out Sergeant Sammy Baker, New York veteran of many a ring battle, in the first round of their scheduled 10 round bout here last night.

Two solid rights to the jaw, the last two minutes and one second after the fight started, sent Baker to the mat for the count of 10. It was the same terrific right that paraded the popular little Irish slugger through the flyweight, bantamweight and lightweight classes until he met Sammy Mandell.

In the 10 round semi-windup Eddie Guida, of Harlem and Patsy Buffalo, fought to a draw. Guida weighed 136½ pounds and Buffalo 135.

TARTANS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Carnegie Tech followers who were fortunate enough to watch the varsity battle with the freshmen for the better part of an hour last evening, marveled at the improvement made by the Tartans since the Thiel fracas last week. The boys looked like an entirely different team.

Captain Dreshar, Schnupp, Yerina and Highberger tore gaping holes in the strong plebe line, and the backs plunged through in a manner which showed they meant business. Eyth and Flanagan were called upon for consistent gains off tackles, while Karcis was not once stopped when he hit the line. Practically every man on the squad got into the melee before Coach Waddell called a halt.

The Tartan cripples, Rosenzweig, Armentrout and Traa watched the preceedings from the sidelines, but it was announced last night that all three are expected to be in shape for the Western Reserve game at Cleveland Saturday.

Fight Results

At Oakland, Cal.—Freddie Fitzgerald defeated Young Jack Thompson, 10 rounds.

At New York—Jimmy McLarnin knocked out Sergeant Sammy Baker, 1 round; Eddie Guida and Patsy Buffalo drew, 10 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Fred Miller defeated Al Crysp, 10 rounds.

At London—Johnny Cuthbert knocked out Nipper Pat Daly, 8 rounds.

At Akron—Gorilla Jones knocked out Jack Horner, 2 rounds; Patsy Peronne defeated Lynn Jordan, 6 rounds.

PITT STANDS PAT ON LINEUP

In all probability the same team that started against Duke last Saturday will take the field against West Virginia this week-end, when Pitt entertains the Mountaineers in the Stadium. Collins seems to have the inside track on the right end job, and as none of the regulars have shown up with any injuries, there will be no further changes.

Today's workout will be confined to signal practice and dummy scrimmage against the third team with the latter using West Virginia plays.

The Pitt coach figures that the Mountaineer attack will be even more threatening than Duke's. It will be much more capably directed, if Eddie Stumpp is at the helm. He has the most accurate passing arm of any back that Pitt will meet this year.

BRUINS WORSE THAN BUCS, CARDS

ABOARD WORLD SERIES BASEBALL SPECIAL, EN ROUTE FROM CHICAGO TO PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—The scene of the World Series is shifting from the home of the Cubs to the stronghold of the Athletics, and you've got to draw on your imagination quite a bit to convince yourself that it will ever shift back again. For to extend the argument to such a length that it will be necessary for the title contenders to return here next week for a sixth day or possibly a seventh contest, the Cubs will be required to win at least two of the three games scheduled for tomorrow, Saturday and Monday in Philadelphia. And, unless some baseball miracle effects a complete transformation in the all-around form of the National League champions, it just isn't in the wood.

Bob Grove

Sometimes a club can look good even in defeat, and hold out a promise of better things later on, but that cannot be said of the Cubs. In losing the first two games of the championship set at Chicago, making 10 straight times that National League pennant winners have been beaten by the American League representatives in World Series engagements, the Bruins have looked more like tailenders than champions, and only a tremendous brace on the grounds of the enemy can save them from utter rout, such as the Pirates and Cardinals suffered at the hands of the Yankees in 1927 and 1929, respectively.

IF ANYTHING, the Cubs have looked even worse in this series than did the Bucs and Redbirds in the preceding two "clashes." For six innings on Tuesday, thanks to the fine pitching of Charley Root, they appeared to have at least an even chance, but from the time when Jimmy Foxx made his first home run in the seventh round that day the Athletics have walked all over them.

In the batting department in particular, the branch in which they looked best, their vaunted sluggers have been as helpless as infants before the Philadelphia pitchers. In the two games they have struck out no fewer than 26 times, Howard Ehmke fanned 13 of the batters who faced him on Tuesday, and yesterday George Earnshaw and Bob Grove whizzed the ball past their much-touted bats for another total of 13 whiffs.

A string of 26 men going down on strikes out of a grand total of 54 putouts in two games, means that on an average practically every other man retired during the two days was fanned by the Mackian pitchers. That's a record for poor hitting never approached in world series play, or in any other two successive major league games for that matter.

Of course, a great deal of credit must be given to the opposing pitchers, but even granting that Ehmke and Grove, in particular, pitched exceptional ball, the strikeout total is so abnormally large that is is clear the Chicago swatsmiths are sadly off their stride and hopelessly up in the air.

THEY have stood and taken strikes when they should have swung, they have gone after bad balls, they have swung at the wrong time, they have been fooled by all sorts of pitches and in general have batted like a flock of minor leaguers. The mighty Rogers Hornsby, hailed as the greatest righthand hitter of the modern game, has struck out four times; Kiki Cuyler has whiffed on five occasions; it wasn't until yesterday that Hack Wilson took a brace, and practically all of the others except Lefty Grimm and Riggs Stephenson have batted like the average pitcher. Grimm's work has been the only bright feature of the Cubs' performance, barring the pitching of Root in the first game.

Al Simmons

TO MAKE matters worse, the Chicago hurling also has fallen down. Pat Malone, picked by most of the experts as the Cub flinger having the best chance to beat the Athletics, started off in promising style yesterday, striking out the side in the first inning, but blew up later and had to be taken out, Harold Carlson, Fred Blake and Arthur Nehf taking up the burden. Had McCarthy been fitted with second sight and saved Root until yesterday, when he could easily have beaten the staggering and inconsistent Earnshaw, instead of wasting his good pitcher against the invincible Ehmke in the opener, the series might now be tied up. As it is, the Cub leader will be required to take a chance with Carlson or Art Nehf tomorrow, or else send Root back with only two days' rest.

MACK, meanwhile, is sitting pretty with Rube Walberg and old Jack Quinn ready for Friday's game, and will be able to come back with Ehmke on Saturday, and Grove on Monday. Grove yesterday proved himself to be all that had been said of him. He is, beyond doubt, the fastest pitcher in baseball and he quickly upset the dope that speed pitching would be easy for the Cubs.

The Athletics have been called a three-man ball club. It has been said that, apart from the pitchers, they had little exceptional material beyond Mickey Cochrane, Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx. But they are as much to the A's as Ruth and Gherig were to the Yanks in the latter's heyday. They are a whole team in themselves. Foxx and Simmons are the only men in the series who have lived up to their reputations as great hitters.

Foxx has been the outstanding batting star to date, and, though Simmons did not get going until yesterday, he quickly made up for lost time. The Cubs still have a mathematical chance to win by taking four of the next five games, and baseball is a game in which you never can tell what is going to happen, but if those three stars continue at normal, it is going to be the toughest kind of a job for the Bruins to escape being beaten in five games.

BILL M'KECHNIE, who signed to manage the Boston Braves for the next four years, is greatly pleased with his new job. "The contract is entirely satisfactory to me," the Wilkinsburg man said. "Judge Fuchs has treated me splendidly, and I am thoroughly satisfied. I only hope that I can build up a winner quickly for him."

Bill McKechnie

Some baseball men have questioned the wisdom of McKechnie's course in giving up the management of an established winning club that is one of the strongest in the major leagues, when going at its normal pace, to take over a team that is admittedly weak and needs a lot of new and better material.

M'KECHNIE'S friends, however, see evidence of his courage and character in the fact that he was willing to take the chance. It is easy to look good as the manager of a strong club that is fixed and set in practically all departments, but there is no immediate glory in prospect in taking hold of a weak machine that must be rebuilt almost in its entirety before it can be expectel to reflect any credit upon its pilot. That's where Bill showed the stuff of which he is made. It is a quality that, coupled with his proved managerial ability, ought to help him make good on the tough job he is tackling.

McKechnie said he would return home after the first part of the world series, unless he saw a chance to swing a deal or two that might give the Braves some strength where they need it most urgently. Should he fail to accomplish anything at this time, he is hopeful of getting better results at the league meetings in December.

The same goes for Donie Bush, another former Pirate skipper, who is now bossing the White Sox under a two-year contract.

CUBS, SILENT, STILL HOLD HOPE

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The Athletics, twice victorious over the Cubs in the first two games of the world series, are confident that by Saturday they will be baseball champions of the world.

The A's were a chesty lot of ball players as they swarmed off the field yesterday after lacing the Cubs, 9 to 3. They figure that it is all over but the shouting—which will be done in Philadelphia.

That was the spirit as they rushed into their dressing room, to slam uniforms into their grips and depart on the special train leaving an hour and a half later. They looked forward to the resumption of the series in Philadelphia tomorrow as just another occasion for them to go out and win.

ROUGH, TOUGH TEAM

"We will be a rough, tough team to beat from now on," boasted Al Simmons, whose chest was just a little more expanded because of his achievement of driving the ball out of the park for a home run in the eighth inning, scoring Cochrane ahead of him.

George Earnshaw, who started the game for the Athletics, giving away to Grove in the fifth, said the pitching might not have been the best, but there was nothing wrong with the A's hitting.

"We are hitting now, and that's all that's necessary," Earnshaw said.

Jimmy Dykes, the Atheltics' third baseman, expressed confidence in the team's ability to make it four straight.

Manager Connie Mack left immediately for his hotel, and thence to the special train, without making any comment on the victory, or giving an inkling of what pitcher he might start in Philadelphia tomorrow.

CUBS DEPRESSED

An air of quiet and extreme depression came from the vanquished Cubs as they silently packed their baseball belongings for their hurried departure to the special train. The confidence that a hopeful club ordinarily exudes, appeared to be gone.

Their spirit, while not broke, was thoroughly shaken. None of the players could, or would, talk, and nobody talked to them, either.

Joe McCarthy, their manager, did all the talking and there was very little of it.

The players filed into their dressing room, sober and silent, and quietly went about the task of packing. Not a word was spoken for at least five minutes. Then the pudgy Hack Wilson, dressing in a corner, of the room, suddenly snarled:

"Well, what about that Grove? He ain't got any more stuff than Root."

CAN STILL WIN—M'CARTHY

Wilson seemed to know what he was talking about, for he managed to nick the fire-ball left-hander for two singles.

Manager Joe McCarthy was in no mood to talk, showing an inclination to remain as quiet as his players.

"They looked like the better ball club," McCarthy finally blurted out. "They didn't in the opening, but they did today."

"I don't know who will start," in dismissing the question of his pitching selection for tomorrow. "I'll take the same guess Mack does in making his selections. There isn't much more I can say in the way it's going now.

"If they can win two games so can we. This thing is not over, until the fourth game is won. It has been done before, this business of one club coming back after losing two, or even three games."

TOMORROW—FROZEN TO DEATH UNDER AN EQUATORIAL SUN.

PILOT MACK HAS HEART OF PLAYER

By Staff Correspondent

EN ROUTE WITH THE WORLD SERIES SPECIAL FROM CHICAGO TO PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—Once a player, always a player and, if you don't believe it, just take a look at Connie Mack, who is doing everything he possibly can to keep Connie Mack from getting a couple of hundred thousand dollars.

The participating players of the World Series are given the bulk of the purse in the first four games of the titular series. After the fourth battle is ended, the coffers of the respective owners are generously enriched.

MACK TACTFUL

Connie Mack is one of the owners of the Athletics, and as such, he would make another fortune if the struggle continues through more than four games. But Connie wants to win in four fights. The antics of the veteran yesterday, when his victory was endangered, were good to behold. None of the boys on the bench were moving around like their venerable leader.

Just before Earnshaw received the office to leave the mound, Mack and Marse Joe put on a little battle of wits. Earnshaw was tottering, but Connie wanted to make McCarthy waste a good player before he yanked George. Fred Blake was due to hit but the situation called for a pinch batter. So Joe had to send somebody up and Heathcote went to the barrier. As soon as Cliff was officially put into the box score, Mack jumped up and rushed along the dugout to call in Lefty Grove, who had been warming up. McCarthy then switched to Hartnett, who was just one of the 13 strikeout victims of the day.

HARTNETT SLOW

It was a sweet spot in which Hartnett might have used to earn his $18,000 salary, but the big catcher could not get his bat around fast enough to connect with the great lefthander.

Hack Wilson fans a lot in the course of a season, but the powerful little slugger crossed up the neighbors in the second fight. Hack had a perfect day at the plate, with three clean drives and two bases on balls.

Hornsby and Cuyler have been almost pitiful against Mack's hurlers. Each has made one hit in the two games and together they have fanned nine times. Pie Traynor didn't strike out that often in the whole National League season.

Lefty Grimm, on the other hand, is one of the series heroes. The former Pirate first sacker has made four hits in six official trips to the

Cubs, With Backs To Wall, Still Have Chance—Traynor

By Harold "Pie" Traynor

Captain of Pittsburgh Pirates.

(Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.)

EN ROUTE ON THE WORLD SERIES SPECIAL FROM CHICAGO TO PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—The National League, it seems, has its back to the wall once more. Losing 10 games in a row to American League rivals, we of the senior circuit have not much to crow about, yet things could be a lot gloomier. The present World Series, so far, has shown the Athletics to be quite a bit superior to the Cubs, but it isn't over yet, and should not be for a time if Joe McCarthy can get his team back to the stride it displayed as it drove for the flag.

Pie Traynor

The 26 strikeouts marking the two games thus far has overshadowed all else in the inter-league fights. If anybody had said two days ago that more than 20 Cubs would fall via the fanning route in two games, that fellow would have been chased all over the Loop and thrown into Lake Michigan.

Twenty-six strikeouts in two games! That is hard to believe, and I had to sit there in the press box with American League newspapermen all about me and try to smile. Yes, sir, I saw everyone of those 26 Bears bite the dust, and nearly every one of them had a cut at the third strike.

Practice Apparently of Little Help

It seems strange how a big league athlete can miss so many swings after having so much practice. Howard Ehmke did not have much speed, but his side-arm twisters made our representatives look very weak.

George Earnshaw took a bit of speed to the mound with him yesterday, but George was not as fast as Pat Malone, especially in the early innings. As soon as Pat left fly with a fast one to Max Bishop in the first inning I was sure he had all of his speed and he demonstrated this by fanning three men in the first inning. Pat thought he whiffed four batters, the pass to Mickey Cochrane being disputed by the pitcher.

Malone seemed to be a bit disturbed after Jimmy Foxx had driven the ball into the leftfield seats in the third inning. Up to

CUBS REMIND DEMPSEY OF JOE GRIMM

By JACK DEMPSEY,
Former World Heavyweight Champion

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Looks to me as if these National League champions are trying to outdo this fellow Joe Grimm, who never seemed capable of winning a fight, but took pride in the fact that he could soak up plenty of punishment.

The Pirates couldn't win a game in 1927, the Cards couldn't grab one in 1928 and up to date the Cubs have taken two awful pastings without scoring a knockdown.

I sat out there in that ball park yesterday afternoon trying to root 'em home, but all I got was a bum throat and chills and a lot of razzing from the experts who sat around me and pointed out that no matter how you look at it, the American League has the edge on the National and that only a miracle can enable the Nationals to grab at least one game in this series.

HAM-AND-BEANERS?

Maybe those boys are all perfect in their notions. Certainly the Cubs looked like a lot of ham-and-beaners fighting a champ yesterday afternoon. But in at least one inning they put on a rally and showed that they can hit. But the trouble with their batting is that they didn't land often enough, nor did they have enough power behind it. If they could only have socked in a few four-basers like this Jimmy Foxx specialized in at critical moments, the result might have been different.

However, the Cubs have another fault. They are doing too much wild swinging. They fanned 13 times on the opener and duplicated the job today. Looks to me as if they should have done more bag punching before this series started. Their marksmanship is bad—just like Joe Grimm's was. And, also like Joe Grimm, they take their beatings and get up after every knockdown and keep on fighting. That's one thing that can be said in their favor.

They didn't quit, even when they seemed hopelessly beaten. Things

QUINN, BUSH MAY WORK TOMORROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—The two contenders for baseball's biggest title reached the Philadelphia battleground shortly after noon today. Quaker City fans had a riotous welcome for their Athletics. The Cubs repaired to their quarters with little acclaim, but holding the mood of a real scrapper who has been good at fighting from a hostile corner. Pennsylvania wore her most beautiful autumn dress in honor of the thousands of world series fans who traversed the great state during the daylight hours.

A smiling sun shone down upon the many trains that whisked the baseball people from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania Railroad did itself proud in providing facilities for athletes, newspapermen and fans. Several trains pulled out of Chicago a few hours after the completion of the second game. All the specials made short stops at Pittsburgh, but most of the series folks remained in their berths on account of the early hours of arrival.

The Bruins were expected to win at least one of the two games, but so far they have yet to be in front of their classy foe, even for one inning. The tally of their second defeat was 9 to 3.

The Cubs certainly are in the position of the gent who had his back to the wall. Joe McCarthy is noted for his ability to lead men and make them fight, but so far in the series he has been outsmarted and outhustled by Connie Mack.

MACK IN ACTION

The gray-haired leader gave the second game of the series more drama than was offered by any of the diamond actors. When danger threatened his clubs' lead, Connie was no longer the dignified magnate-director of the team.

Leaping hatless from his seat in the corner, Mack was a ball player again. Up and down the parapet he ran, giving orders rapidly, and pleading with his club to fight.

"Play over closer to that line, Bing!" and "Swing into right-center for this fellow, George!" These, and a dozen other things he shouted, as he took personal charge of a rather serious situation in the fifth inning when the Cubs resembled their best selves for something like 10 minutes.

Mack engineered one of the smartest—if not the smartest—moves in world series history in the opener when he threw side-arm Ehmke at the Cubs. Yesterday he was in the stride of the average manager when he picked Earnshaw, but when the tall fellow collapsed, Mack went out of his stern character and became the player once more.

Surely this was a rare sight. The soft-spoken veteran was showing as much ginger as Mickey Cochrane while the excitement ensued, and Mack did not let up in his antics until Lefty Grove placed things under control with his incomparable fast ball.

TO USE QUINN

And so the second game placed the Athletics in a position to dictate and Mack will do some more wise stuff by putting Jack Quinn on the mound. The same fellow who informed the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in advance that Ehmke would pitch the opener, now states that Jack Quinn, dean of pitchers,

PIRATE HOCKEY SCHEDULE WELL BALANCED

MORE SATURDAY HOME GAMES GIVEN BUCS

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The schedule handed Benny Leonard's Pirates of the National Hockey League for the 1929-30 campaign is a distinct improvement over the program forced upon the local skaters last season.

At no time in the race will the Pittsburgh puckmen be compelled to play three home games in one week, as was the case last season, and at no time will they have to ramble through a road trip of more than three games duration.

From the viewpoint of local fandom the 1929-30 schedule is a further improvement over the 1928-29 menu in that there are five more Saturday games at home than there were last season. Thirteen of the 22 battles listed for Duquesne Garden are carded for Saturday night disposal. Only eight Saturday home games were on the bill last year.

Toronto is handed 14 Saturday home games and appeared to be the "pet" of the league officials. Boston, where they pack 'em in on any and all nights, will be at home on only four Saturdays throughout the season.

MANY SUNDAY GAMES

Sunday games also are regarded as good money-makers, and in Sabbath day engagements the Bucs came up with more than their share. The Pirates are to participate in nine Sunday jousts abroad, more than any other club in the circuit, and this arrangement should add no little to the prosperity of the local entry.

This wealth of Sunday games is a handicap as well as a boon, however, for it forces Leonard's puckmen to participate in two battles in as many nights on four different occasions. From January 11 to '4 and December 14 to 17, inclusive, the Bucs will be called upon to play three games within four days. These are the only occasions on which the competition will be doled out in such wholesale quantities.

The Pirates will lift the lid on Saturday, November 16, when the Montreal Maroons appear at Duquesne Garden. Certain other teams are to open the season on November 14.

END RACE MARCH 18

The Bucs will wind up their campaign on March 18, when the Detroit Cougars are slated to appear here.

Last season the Pirates opened on November 15 and closed on March 16.

As usual, the Bucs will play 22 games at home and a like number abroad. They will meet fellow members of the American Group six times and the clubs in the Canadian Group in four battles.

Frank Frederickson, who is to succeed Odie Cleghorn as manager of the Pirates, arrived here yesterday to arrange for the opening of the training grind. Benny Leonard, owner of the club, is expected to arrive within a few days to assist his new pilot in the work.

Frederickson, at one time the best center in the ice sport and still one of the game's most capable performers, is to be a player-manager. He said that although he has not yet signed, he and Leonard had agreed on terms and was confident that he could give Pittsburgh a winner.

JOHN HOLOHAN DESERVES BIG HAND

By JESS CARVER.

It seems only right that Duquesne University folk, when they trapse into Forbes Field Saturday afternoon to see the Dukes battle Albion College, give a rising vote of thanks to John Holohan, the astute young graduate manager of athletics, who's hard work and ambition has made possible the taking over of the local big league ball park by the Dukes.

I do not mean to take an iota of credit away from Coach Elmer Layden, who has joined with Holly in putting the Dukes squarely in the center of the football map, but John is the gent who has handled the business and diplomatic problems of Duquesne's rise.

DIPLOMACY COUNTS

And if you think diplomacy does not play a big part in this college football racket, think again.

Had the Dukes known in advance that Davis Elkins was going to kayo West Virginia and they themselves tie 'em, a stronger attraction for the first game in the ball park might have been obtained. Albion will not draw a record-breaking crowd, but I think the Dukes may count on at least 10,000. Pitt hopes for twice that number, but will get about 15,000.

Carnegie Tech will leave tomorrow night at six bells, over the P. & L. E. for Cleveland, arriving there about 9:30 and being taxied directly to the Statler and thence to beddie-bye.

Armentrout's infected mitt is coming around o. k. The hefty star will be available for duty against Western Reserve.

ALBION'S RECORD

To return to the Dukes and Albion, following is the record of the Michiganers for last year:

Albion	12	Valparaiso	0
Albion	2	Michigan Aggies	0
Albion	25	Detroit Teachers	0
Albion	26	Olivet	7
Albion	14	Kalamazoo	0
Albion	9	Alma	6
Albion	26	Hillsdale	0
Albion	7	Hope	0

You can see from the foregoing that the club must have been pretty tough for its class, and its triumph, even by the narrow margin of a saftey, over Michigan Aggies, indicates that the team deserves the serious consideration of the Dukes. The defensive record came within one touchdown of being perfect.

TOUGH FOR PREXYS

Wash-Jeff is drilling this week for the first tough game of the season. On Saturday, the Presidents will engage Carl Snavley's Bucknell eleven at Lewisburg.

Last fall, the Prexys and Bisons played to a tie, and the year previous, Wash-Jeff won by a barely comfortable margin.

The world series got off to a fine start. Graham McNamee announced that Joe Grimm was playing first base for the Cubs. The fans knew he was all wrong when he followed through by shouting out that Grimm was trying to steal.

CUBS LOOK LIKE GRIMM TO JACK

happened out there so fast that I quit trying to register all the details. Just about as soon as I bowed my head so I could mark down the fact that one of those Athletics has made a hit, some other Athletic made another hit, or scored a run or the Cubs would change pitchers or somebody would make an error or strike out.

M'CARTHY HAS HOPE

So the best story I can tell you is that the Cubs took it on the chin, and how! The other fellows in the press box gave me the old bird while I pleaded with the Cubs to "come on and get some runs," but there was so much noise I guess they didn't hear me. Anyway, the Athletics won the game, making 10 consecutive victories for the American League in the world championship duels with the Nationals since 1927.

But as Joe McCarthy, the boss of those Cubs, says:

"One swallow doesn't make a summer and two games won't win a series. It takes four to do that and the boys showed today that they are back in hitting stride. Watch us get started when we get to Philadelphia."

I won't be in Philadelphia when they do that starting, but I'll be watching just the same. And rooting, too.

Series Earlier Next Season, Landis Says

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—(INS.)—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball "czar," told International News Service today that the 1930 baseball season "either will be started two weeks earlier than heretofore or that the world series of next year will be started at an earlier date."

Judge Landis, speaking from the vestibule of the Cubs' special here this morning, said the changes would have to be made because of the cold weather encountered in an October post-season series.

"A wonderful series, with perfect harmony prevailing between the Athletics and the Cubs," was the way Judge Landis characterized the current series.

MACKS SEEK SWEEP

will be on the mound tomorrow when the third battle starts.

Quinn is the proud possessor of a spitball. Of course, Connie Mack has heard about a fellow named Burleigh Grimes who also has been known to throw a few spitballs at the Cubs. Quinn is not a Grimes in the point of power and speed, but the veteran probably is just as smart as our Burleigh and a spitball is an aggravating pitch at best.

Guy Bush probably will be on the mound for the Bruins. The tall Southerner had a big season and is a logical choice to start a game. But, of late he has not been doing impressive things. McCarthy could call on Charley Root again, but he has had only two days of rest and might not be ready to offer such a brilliant performance as he did in the first clash.

Jimmy Foxx is bound to be the main hero of Philly fans when they assemble this evening and tomorrow. The young slugger who turned each victory in Chicago with a homer carries a distinctive appeal. This goes for Al Simmons, too, who yesterday resumed the home-run act with his side-kick, Jimmy.

A'S OWN THREE HOMERS

The three home runs in the titular games are owned by the Macks. Foxx found the range on the center field seats in the opener and he put yesterday's game on the ice, so to speak, when he walloped the sphere into the improvised bleachers out beyond the left field fence. This was the best wallop of the series and it netted three runs. Simmons' four-sacker was worth two tallies and carried over the right field inner fence.

Although the Cubs have been able to hit safely as often as their American League rivals, it is a fact that the two great hitters who featured in the flag drive have fallen down miserably. The reference is to Rogers Hornsby and Hazen Cuyler. These two satellites have fanned so often, their Chicago supporters don't know what to make of it, at all—at all. Perhaps the Rajah and the great outfielder will be able to lose Ol' Joe Gumm once the series is resumed in Philly.

Foxx's Wife, Baby 'Hear It Over Radio'

DOVE, Lei., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen Heite Foxx, wife of Jimmy Foxx, star first baseman of the Athletics, "attended" the Chicago world series game by radio yesterday from the sun parlor of the Kent General Hospital. She cheered as her husband jogged around the diamond for a homer in the third inning, the second in the series.

Near to Mrs. Foxx was six-day-old Jimmy, Jr. The deep-throated roar of the crowd and the voice of the radio announcer which brought joyous ejaculations from Mrs. Foxx, were answered by the infant in his best crying tones.

Railroad Nines Play For Title Saturday

The second annual inter-company baseball game between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Missouri Pacific Lines, for the world railroad baseball championship, will be played at St. Louis Saturday afternoon.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will be represented by the Altoona Works team which, after a series of elimination contests, won the Pennsylvania System championship by defeating the Columbus Division team at Altoona on October 5.

The Little Rock, Ark., team recently won the championship of the Missouri Pacific Lines.

The first annual game between these two railroads was played in St. Louis last year on October 20. On that occasion the Philadelphia Terminal Division team, the Pennsylvania Railroad champions in 1928, defeated the DeQuincy, La., team, titleholder of the Missouri Pacific, by a score of 15-5.

REYNOLDS BEATS COSSU

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Jack Reynolds, welterweight champion, successfully defended his mat title here last night, defeating Joe Cossu, of Detroit. He took the first and third falls.

plate and every one of the four wallops was a ringing drive. Only the speed and skill of Al Simmons held Grimm's drive to left center in the fifth to a single.

GRIMM STARS

Grimm appears to have given the series its greatest play and this is a bold assertion in view of the fielding feats of Al Simmons, Hack Wilson, Jimmy Dykes and one or two others. Grimm's classic came on a wide throw by English on a drive off Foxx's bat in the second inning of yesterday's scrap. The wide toss called for Grimm to stretch and make a falling one hand catch while keeping his toe on the bag momentarily. He strained himself to such an extent in keeping his foot on the corner of the bag that his falling momemtum threw him into a somersault and he wound up in a spiral twist.

Jimmy Foxx's batting card for the two games shows two homers, a double and two singles.

Mickey Cochrane has captivated the throngs by his sparkling play, but if this writer were to name the best looking baseball player in Connie Mack's happy family, he would look into left field. Al Simmons is a wonder and he's good to look upon as he goes about his work.

Jones Stops Horner; Lynn Jordan Loses

AKRON, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Gorilla Jones, Akron Negro welterweight, knocked out Jack Horner, of St. Louis, in the second round here last night.

Patsy Pironne, of Massillon, O., defeated Lynn Jordan, Pittsburgh Negro, middleweight, in a six round semi-final.

YACHT RACES STARTED

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Twenty-four entries from the United States and foreign countries had sails set for the annual world championship races of the International Star Class Yachting Association beginning today on Lake Pontchartrain.

Cubs Still Have Chance To Come Back--Traynor

this point Pat was in a fine stride, but with two out and two on the fatal third, Foxx put his powerful punch into an inside pitch and it was almost curtains for the Bears so far as that particular game was concerned.

Grove Deserving of Much Praise

There is no use whatever in withholding praise from Lefty Grove. The only time the Pirates ever faced Lefty was in an exhibition tilt at Forbes Field. Perhaps Grove did not bear down in that contest. One thing is certain, Lefty showed the 50,000 the fastest ball they had ever witnessed when he relieved Earnshaw in the fifth. Malone, Root and Earnshaw had plenty on ball, but not even Pat was as swift as the southpaw. The stuff he had on the sphere in the sixth when he fanned McMillan and English in succession was a revelation to me, and to a lot of others of the National League.

The day was just right for his fast ball. Grove's curve is nothing to be compared with his swift one. The stiff wind that blew against the batter gave added zep to his speed and its was not a surprise to some when one or two of the Cubs swung late at the ball. I felt rather sorry for Mike Gonzales when he had to get off the cold bench and swing at Lefty. Mike was hardly himself as he missed the old third strike. It was by him like a flash.

I still think the Cubs will find their punch.

Long's Sport Comment

Donie wants some new material, but failed to get it in Chicago and left last night for his home in Indianapolis. He will return for the sixth game in the Windy City, however, if the series is extended to that length.

BUSH was asked about his plans for the future of Art Shires, Sox first-sacker, and the stormy petrel of the 1929 season. "I'll certainly keep him for next year unless somebody offers me something in exchange for him that I think will help our club," he replied.

"Naturally, any manager would jump at a chance to trade any player if he could strengthen his team by doing so. But I'll have to get full value for Shires or he'll stay right with the White Sox for next year. And if he does, you can bet that I'll not have any trouble with him. I never had trouble with any player in my life."

Donie Bush

Some amusing requests are annual features of the rush for world series tickets. There has never been a tighter situation nor an earlier complete sellout than in the case of the Chicago end of the present series. More than $1,000,000 was returned by the Cub officials on applications that could not be filled, and even the scalpers did not have a ticket left the day before the series opened, though the prices had ranged as high as $150 for a set of three pasteboards. Yet a big league manager received the following telegram from a backhome acquaintance late Monday night:

"One of my friends is going to the Chicago games. Can you get me a seat right next to his?"

HOPE-HARVEY TO BATTLE MYSTICS

By TOM BIRKS.

Another real game was announced for local fans today when the popular North Side sportsman, Art Rooney, declared that the Hope-Harvey Majestics will meet the Ambridge Mystics in the titular elimination series at Exposition Park Sunday afternoon.

The Majestics, with their crop of former college stars, coached by Rooney, will probably play to a banner crowd, Ambridge having been knocking at the championship door for two seasons. Should the Majestics stop the River team, another leading contender for West View's crown will have gone by the board.

BIG TILT AT QUARRY

The big battle on Sunday will find the Big Red machine of McChesneytown meeting the East Pittsburgh Firemen at the Quarry grounds, McChesneytown, one of the real drawing cards in the independent ranks, again will start its march toward West View's crown by trying to beat the Firemen. This, however, is going to be a job. The teams battled to a scoreless tie on two occasions last season, and we well predict, with both teams' backfields strengthened this season, a score will be made this year.

West View clashes with Irwin Scholastics and Muzzio expects to have the club in wonderful shape. A great card of games will be staged in the Sunday list. On Saturday, Monessen Olympics travel to Kiski to meet the college boys.

Allegheny River fans will have the big Burns-Port Vue battle at Kinlock Field. The latest addition to the Burns squad is Red Kirkman, the former Wash-Jeff star. Dick Goldber seems to be living up to his pre-season statement that he would give the up-river fans an all-college aggregation. Should the former P man keep his word, Burns is going to have a tough time keeping away from the title. Jimmy Smith states the Burns Club Sunday will a revelation to the fans. Gossip from the Aluminum section indicat that the independent gridiron sport is carrying the town.

NATRONA PLAYS HOMEWOOD

The Natrona Olympics, backed by that good sportsman, Jack Friel, will meet the Homewood Tylers. The Tylers have a good club and Tarentum fans will see a worth while game.

Oakland Community will take care of the fans around that section of the town by flashing their wares against the unbeaten New Kensington Olympics. This team was not beaten last season, and has yet to taste defeat this year, so the fans are likely to see a wonderful battle at the Frazier street grounds.

The cripple condition of the McKeesport Olympics worries Fred Iverson, with Blaw-Nox meeting the Black and White-clad Sullivan team. Blaw-Nox, with its big squad, will push the Olympics and will be no setup.

Owing to a cancellation by the Ambridge Mystics, the Irwin Mohawks are looking for a game Sunday abroad. Any manager wishing to book this stellar attraction should call Irwin 758.

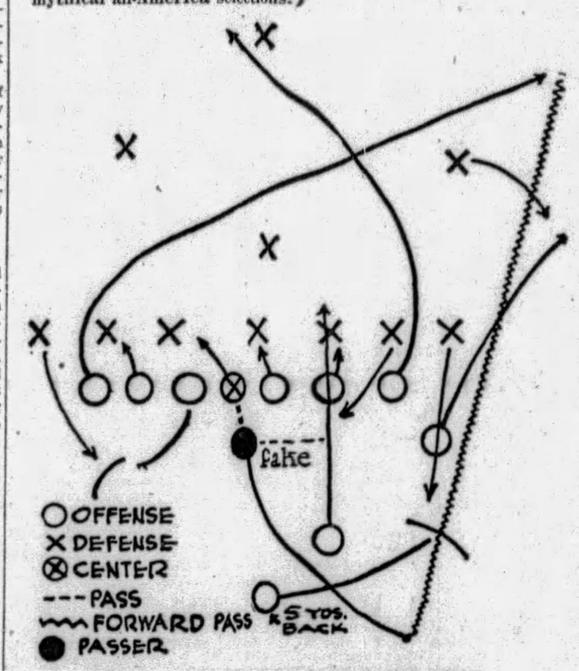
By Howard Harpster

All-America Quarterback, 1928
Now Coach at Shady Side Academy

(Note.—Harpster, as the quarterback of the Carnegie Tech eleven last fall, gained national recognition as one of the most brilliant leaders of all time in the football realm. Experts hailed him as "the player with the mind of a coach." He captained the All-East team that defeated the All-West team in California at the end of the season, and was generally picked as captain of the mythical all-America selections.)



NO. 5—PASS THAT FOOLED NOTRE DAME.

ON THE second play of the game against Notre Dame last fall, Carnegie Tech gained 60 yards with this pass, placing the ball on the 10-yard line, from where we scored on the following play.

The Notre Dame fullback covered Fullback Karcis, who faked a buck through guard. Tech's right end was sent at the safety man as a decoy. Nelmic cover the outside half, who had run to the right, and Rosenzweig slipped behind him and caught the pass. Final score: Tech, 27; Notre Dame, 7.

MRS. STETSON ELIMINATED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Two upsets marked the first round of match play yesterday in the Berthellyn Cup golf tournament at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club.

The first was the overwhelming victory of Mrs. Louis W. Robey, Philadelphia, over Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, 7 and 5, and the second was the 4-and-3 defeat of Mrs. Helen B. Stetson, former National champion, by Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Philadelphia, also a former National champion, and winner of the qualifying medal, scored an easy victory over Mrs. J. A. Lyons, of North Hills, 5 and 4. Other survivors included Helen Hicks, Inwood, L. I., holder of the Canadian title; Mrs. Harley Higbie, Detroit, and Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown.

Miss Hicks defeated Kathleen Wright, California, 2 and 1; Mrs. Higbie beat Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, 3 and 2, and Miss Fordyce eliminated Helen Meehan, Philadelphia, 3 and 2.

Cantonwine won the second fall in 19 minutes 45 seconds with a reverse double wrist lock.

WOMAN HEADS PHILLY LINE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Unmindful of chilly blasts on Lehigh avenue several dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans began a long camp before the bleacher entrance at Shibe Park early today to await the opening of the gates at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

At the head of the line was Mrs. J. Franklin Kratz, whose home is opposite the bleacher gate. From home she brought a rocking chair, sandwiches, hot coffee and blankets.

Local fans found something to worry about today.

The weather man predicted a possibility of rain tomorrow, the day of the first series game here.

Rain is the worst thing that could happen, in the opinion of 40,000 rabid fans, who have waited 15 years to see a world series tussle.

With the jubilant Athletics on their way home from Chicago ticket speculators boosted prices substantially today. Two victories over the devastating Cubs, the speculators contended, put gold borders on the pasteboards for the three games to be played here. They were abroad in the land early quoting $90 to $100 for a three-game pair of tickets that cost the original purchaser $33.

Counterfeit tickets for the series have made their appearance here, and a number have been sold. The fact that spurious pasteboards were in circulation was revealed to officials of the Athletics club by ticket speculators, and as a result two men were in jail today with the disposition of their cases undetermined.

One speculator's office, where tickets are bought and sold, reported the purchase of a block of seats last night and upon checking up with the club found that the seats were in a section not listed at Shibe Park. Further examination revealed that the stock upon which the counterfeits were printed and the printing itself differed slightly from that of the genuine tickets. The men arrested had about $250 in their possession and several sets of the alleged counterfeits.

MACKS CHOOSE TITLE EMBLEM

ABOARD THE ATHLETICS SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy never was a hand to take census on his poultry prematurely and for that reason, perhaps, attempted last night to assume an air of anxiety over the outcome of the current world series.

Respected though his leadership is, the generalissimo of the Athletic army failed utterly in any attempt he may have made to communicate this frame of mind to his troops, who were disposed to rate the value of two straight victories over the Cubs at just what they were worth.

The train had barely started when Jimmy Foxx took an informal poll on what emblem the Mackmen should choose as their world championship memento from Commissioner Landis. Diamond rings won over watches by a unanimous vote. Jimmy had no time to realize that he is in rather close pursuit of a few of Babe Ruth's world series records, but he did find the opportunity to express his views on the outcome of the next two games.

MURRAY BOXES PHILLIPS AT M'KEESPORT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

District boxing fans who had hoped to see Joe Trippe in action again at McKeesport tonight, following his knockout victory over Tiger Joe Randall there recently, will have to wait until a later date to view the clever, hard-hitting Italian, for he has suffered an injured hand in training and will not be able to go through with his windup match with Tug Phillips, of Charleroi. His manager so informed Promoter Jim McGirr yesterday and the latter has signed Jackie Murray, clever Negro, of the Hill, to take Trippe's place.

Murray, always in condition, is noted for his pinch-hitting proclivities. He has done some of his best boxing around here when subbing on short notice.

The remainder of the McKeesport card stands as originally arranged, with Young Angelo, of Swissvale, meeting Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, in the semi-final; Tom Malco, of Soho, boxing Marty Simmons, of Wilkinsburg, in the second bout, and Steve Zanka, of Wellsburg, W. Va., opposing Joey Angelo, of Braddock, in the opener, which is scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

LEVINE A STAR WELTER

Georgie Levine, of Brooklyn, who will take the place of Johnny Indrisano, of Boston, against Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, is well remembered for his battles in the same arena back in 1926, with Jack Zivic, then the local bearcat. He won the first bout and the second, fought two weeks later, resulted in a draw. He is a fast-moving, clever, rangy boxer with a good right cross. He has had many of the stars, including Pal Silvers, Floyd Hybert, Tony Vacarelli and Andy DiVodi, on the floor for counts of nine and holds a knockout victory over Izzy Grove. When Tommy Milligan, the English star, was going at his best, Levine upset the dope by handing him a beating. The first Zivic-Levine fight here drew a gate of $6,700 and the return bout netted $1,000 more.

Heavy Andrews, of Erie, who has boxed a lot of the welterweight stars, will make his local debut in the semi-final to the Freeman-Levine bout. His opponent has not yet been selected. In the second bout, George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, will meet Warren Farrow, Negro, of Aliquippa, while, in the opener, Young Penno, of McKees Rocks, will trade blows with Tom Malco, of Soho.

Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, who has been on the sidelines for several months because of illness, will return to the ring Thursday night of next week, when he will be one of the principals in the main bout at McKeesport.

MAJESKE IN DEMAND

Walter Majeske, the Saginaw (Mich.,) welterweight, who meets Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the 10-round main bout at the Moose Temple tomorrow night, is a busy campaigner. If he beats Rudy, he will meet Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, at the same club the following Friday night, and he is matched with Al Wolgast at Lansing, Mich., October 21, and with Earl Wirth, of Grand Rapids, at Flint, Mich., October 28.

Hans Roberts, German welterweight, will meet Carl Montabano, of Braddock, in the first bout of Promoter Flynn's show tomorrow night, while Young Joe Walcott, of Washington, Pa., boxes Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, in another battle on the same card.

Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, and Jackie Murray, of the Hill, have been signed to box the main bout of a show at Butler next Tuesday night. Hans Roberts, the German, and Freddie Boylstein, of Kittanning, will appear in the six-round semi-final Roberts also is matched with Young Joe Walcott, of Washington, Pa., at Oil City, October 28.

Battling Gizzy, of Washington, Pa., boxes Frankie Kaeth of Cleveland, in an eight-round windup at Wellsville, O., tonight. Freddie Edwards and Harry Devore are in the six-round semi-final. Joe Folins, of Ambridge, boxes Joey Long, of Alliance, O., and Poison Pizzone, of Wellsville, meets Eddie Loos, of Liverpool, O., in two four-round preliims. Jack Zivic boxes Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, in the six-round semi-final to the Jim Maloney-Johnny Risko bout in Cleveland's Public Hall, while Harold Scarney, Youngstown heavyweight, is in with Frankie Stanton, of Cleveland, in another preliminary. Jimmy Goodrich and Morrie Sherman clash at Detroit.

Bull Miller, veteran middleweight, of Monessen, is back in training and ready to take on any of the big fellows. He has boxed, Ray Shafer, Frank Monroe, Gene Baker and others. Promoters may reach him in care of General Delivery, Monessen, Pa.

BOUTS MOVED INDOORS

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., has transferred its amateur boxing activities from its open-air arena in California avenue, North Side, to St. Andrew's Lyceum hall, Chateau street, and will put on its first indoor program next Tuesday night.

Clarence (Socko) Trenaman and Joe Proctor, heavyweight rivals, will box the eight-round main bout of a show at Cumberland next Monday night. Curley Reese boxes Johnny Wilner in the semi-final and Bobby Crafton and K. O. Yutzy are down for still another eight-rounder. Eddie Martin and Joe Brode open the show with a four-round engagement.

The card has been completed for the opening amateur boxing show of the season at the P. A. A. Saturday night, as follows: 112-pound class, Tony Marino vs. Joey Leonard 118-pound class, L. Trenga vs. Johnny Warner; 126-pound class, Don Asro vs. George Flaherty; 135-pound class, Joey Speigle, vs. Marty Gornick; 147-pound class, L. Signs vs. Denver Gravely and Al Becker vs. Duke Murphy; 160-pound class, Mike Chomyak vs. Carl Cesko, and heavyweight class, Pete Landini vs. Sparky Ewalt.

STRUB BOXES HACKLEY

Jimmy Hackley, of Indianapolis, and Maxie Strub, of Erie, have been matched to box the main bout of 10 rounds at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night. Jack Hernandez, of Erie, meets Ray Van Cook, of Detroit, in the semi-final and Clarence O'Roy, of Syracuse, is paired with Charley Adams, of Cleveland, for another six-rounder.

Wall Street Surprised At Steel Tonnage Report.

THE tonnage statement of the Steel Corporation published on the stroke of noon afforded Wall street its most pleasant surprise in months. The figures disclosed an increase of 244,370 tons marking the first upturn after four months of constant decline. But more important was the fact that this increase came when the rank and file had been expecting another drop of substantial proportions. As a matter of fact the street, until a few days ago, had been anticipating a decrease approximating that reported for August at 429,966 tons, but in the meantime had seen fit to revise the estimates sharply downward on the theory that the corporation had probably booked heavy railroad business in the closing days of the month. Evidently this surmise was well founded. Business on the books now totals 3,902,581 tons, compared with 3,658,368 tons at the end of September last year, when an increase of 74,325 tons was reported.

The surprisingly favorable tonnage statement galvanized the general market into a renewed display of bullishness, but its effect on Steel common was little short of amazing. It was evident that a large and confident short interest had been caught napping in the industrial bellwether. Steel was ruling some 5½ points higher just prior to the appearance of the figures, but in the next few minutes was in urgent demand, being bid for in heavy volume at spectacularly advancing prices. The disorderly retreat of shorts sent it to 2 for a gain of 12 points before this demand was satisfied, the stock dipping temporarily only to better its high levels of that move when money later dropped to 5 per cent again.

DISPATCHES reaching New York from Washington state that Mellon has won his fight against the Federal Reserve Board. The drop in money rates to below 5 per cent yesterday, coming on the heels of the White House statement that Secretary Mellon would remain with the administration, is accepted as evidence that President Hoover is in accord with the policies of the Treasury. Secretary Mellon held to the belief that restricting the flow of credit and forcing high money rates would hurt general business instead of quieting the stock market. The main result of the Federal Reserves policies in so far as the Treasury Department is concerned, has been the damage to the investment security markets. Secretary Mellon is said to believe that by ending Federal Reserve manipulation and permitting a return to normal money rates, investors would be attracted to the bond market and inflated stock conditions would be corrected gradually.

With the steel tonnage statement out of the way the street turned its attention toward the weekly brokers' loan figures due after the closing. The action of the market gave added confidence to those who were looking for a substantial cut in the total after seven weeks of steady and rapid increase. While admitting that a heavy contraction would be logical, there were many, however, who still had their doubts on whether the reduction, if there is one, will measure fully up to the more sanguine expectations. This element unalterably set in its opinion that heavy selling of British and French account, rather than for the account of the outside public, made up the bulk of recent large scale liquidation.

BUYING which lifted Johns-Manville across the 200 level again, was reported coming principally from sources closely affiliated with the company. Strength here was based on reports that earnings for the September quarter ran close to $3 a share on the stock, as against $2.12 a share in the same period last year. Estimates now place earnings for the full year close to $10 a share as against $6.75 a share reported last year and $4.78 a share shown in 1927.

Heavy buying of Consolidated Gas, one of the day's strongest features in the utility group, was stimulated by the realization that "rights" accruing to shareholders under the recent offering of additional stock are due to expire with the close of business tomorrow. It has become more or less established theory in speculative circles that a stock usually does better marketwise with the expiration of such "rights." Holders of such privileges who did not dispose of them today, and who do not contemplate exercising them, must dispose of these "rights" tomorrow for cash. The turnover in the "rights" today was of enormous proportions, with several unusually large blocks changing hands.

September Cotton Stocks Decrease

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York reports that production of standard cotton cloths during September amounted to 286,611,000 yards; sales, 371,485,000 yards, or 138.3 per cent of production, and shipments, 287,628,000 yards, equal to 107.1 per cent of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 345,043,000 yards, a decrease of 5.2 per cent during the month. Unfilled orders totaled 438,952,000 yards, an increase of 23.6 per cent during the month.

Plan to Combine Chicago Markets

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—A move is under way to consolidate the Chicago Curb Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade. It is learned that a plan to unite the curb with the Board of Trade securities market is under discussion by a group of members of both organizations, who hope to work out a plan which they will submit to the directors of the two institutions in the near future.

Steel to Have Record Output for Year

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

WHILE the declining trend in the steel industry is still noticeable in comparison with the summer months of this year, the publication of the ingot production figures for September by the American Iron and Steel Institute makes it plain that the volume of the steel business continues to be phenominally good.

September, with a total ingot output of 4,510,879 tons and a daily average of 180,435 tons, was behind all but the first two months of the present year but it was busier than any single month of 1928. Steel plant operations are at about 85 per cent of ingot capacity. This is a rate which ordinarily would be considered good were it not being compared with record breaking months of the spring and summer.

Record Established

PRODUCTION in the nine months ended September 30 established a high record for any similar period in the history of the steel industry. With an output of 43,243,404 tons the gain over the corresponding months of 1928 amounted to 6,313,230 tons.

That the present year will see a new record established is certain. The total for the nine months was only 6,621,781 tons less than in the full year of 1928 when annual production set a record of 49,865,185 tons.

Monthly Gains

INGOT production in every month of the present year has been greater than in the corresponding month of 1928. In view of the recessions in operations of the past few weeks it seems probable that the present month will be the first to fall behind 1928. It must be remembered, however, that October of last year with an output of 4,649,968 tons was the best month of the entire year.

It is generally believed that steel mill output will not fall much below the present rate this month. The decline in the buying of steel by the automobile industry is being balanced by increases in demand for other purposes. Following the precedent of recent years, November will be slightly below October in volume and the low point of the year will be reached in December when industry stops buying materials in preparation for the year-end inventories.

Prices Slump

WHILE much has been made of the curtailment in steel mill operations there has been surprisingly little comment on the weakness in prices. This will have a far more pronounced influence on earnings and its effect will last longer. Bars and shapes declined $1 a ton. Now automobile sheets have slipped away $2 a ton. Wire has been weaker at some points. Heavy melting steel scrap has also declined. This will compensate to a small extent by lowering steel plant costs.

The peculiar thing about present conditions in the industry is the fact that such a small recession in shipments and in buying has occasioned such pronounced weakness in prices.

Profits to Decline

IN NONE of the first nine months of 1928 was as much steel made as in September but, in spite of this, very marked progress was made last year in boosting steel prices from the low point reached in October, 1927. The scramble for tonnage is throwing away much of the constructive work of stabilizing prices accomplished under the stimulus of growing activity last year.

The earnings statements of steel companies for the third quarter, to be published soon, are expected to show results as good as in the second quarter. The outlook for the last quarter is for a decline in profits below the third quarter and below the corresponding period of a year ago.

Export demand for copper has improved in the past few days.

STEEL REPORT SENDS STOCKS WHIRLING UP

Unexpected Increase in Unfilled Orders Starts Bulls on Buying Rampage

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The unexpected increase of nearly 245,000 tons in the September unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation, announced at noon today, brought a flood of buying orders into the stock market, and sent prices whirling upward as panic stricken "shorts" rushed to cover their commitments.

United States Steel common ran up 12½ points and scores of other issues were marked up 3 to 12 points, some of them having showed losses in the early trading.

Meanwhile, call money again dropped from 6 to 5 per cent and time money was in fair supply at 8½ per cent for all maturities. Wall street was counting on a large decrease in Federal Reserve brokers' loans to be announced after the close, but these weekly statements have provided so many disappointments in the past that several traders took advantage of the rally to lighten their commitments. One of the largest brokerage houses in the street also urged its customers who had carried stocks through last week's break with paper losses to reduce their holdings.

STEEL GAIN WIDE

In view of the recent decline in steel output and the reported falling off in the demand for steel in the automotive and building industries, most speculators were not looking for any large increase in the steel corporation's tonnage. In the short space of two hours, steel common gained more than it lost in any full session of last week's declining markets. Other steels rallied in sympathy, Republic gaining 5 points.

Extreme gains of 8 to nearly 12 points also were registered by the American Tobacco issues, Ingersoll Rand, Western Union, American and Foreign Power, Motor Products, Worthington Pump, American Can, Auburn Auto, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical and Johns Manville, the first three reaching new high ground for the year.

Among the many stocks to advance 4 to 6 points were Atchison, American Water Works, American Rolling Mills, Consolidated Gas, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Brooklyn Union Gas, Detroit Edison, Standard Gas and Electric, Corn Products and International Telephone.

SEABOARD AT HIGH

Seaboard Air Line preferred crossed 39 to a new high for the year, but Missouri Pacific preferred ran into some profit taking after attaining a new peak.

P. R. Carloadings Decline for Week

Loaded cars handled by Pennsylvania Railroad in the week ended October 5 were 183,215 against 190,024 in the preceding week and 184,062 in the corresponding week of 1928.

From January 1 to October 1 cars handled totaled 6,638,013 against 6,215,285 a year ago.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Action on the corn market operated as a wet blanket on all grain values today. Persistent selling of corn future deliveries resulted from the government crop report pointing to a probable yield of 1,802,000,000 bushels of corn in 11 leading states this season, compared with 1,756,000,000 bushels indicated a month ago. Influenced by corn, the wheat market made but poor response to continued unfavorable wheat crop advices from Argentina.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Raw sugar was unchanged early today at 4.95c for spots, duty paid, with no sales reported.

Futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower and continued easy throughout the forenoon under liquidation and selling of near positions by houses with trade and Cuban connections. The volume of business, however, continued of limited proportions and the only demand in evidence appeared to be covering on the scale down with prices at midday 2 points net lower. Private advices from Europe said recent weather conditions, with the exception of Czechoslovakia, were more favorable for the European beet crop, with precipitation reported in most of the beet producing countries.

Refined was quiet and unchanged. Refiners continue to list at 5.50c for fine granulated, with second hands available at from 5.37½ to 5.40c.

The Pessimist and Optomist Thresh It Out

By B. C. FORBES

THE PESSIMIST — Well, I warned you to watch out, but you laughed at me. Now you see what is happening.

The Optimist—Yes, I see mostly very encouraging happenings.

Pessimist—Huh! Did you ever see a stock market take such a plunge as this last one?

Optimist—Did you ever see a market make such a quick and strong recovery?

Pessimist—Only a flash in the pan. How can it last in face of the terrible rates for money?

Optimist—Why, money rates are down. Instead of 10 per cent call money we have had as low as 5 per cent. Time money is down from 9¼ to 8¾ per cent. The Federal Reserve Banks have greatly strengthened their position.

Pessimist — Apparently eight billions of call loans, more than half of them bootleg loans, mean nothing to you?

Opitmist—I'll bet you five-to-one there will be a big decrease in brokers' loans this week.

Pessimist—You probably didn't know that speculation on the New York Stock Exchange this year has increased nearly 35 per cent over last year and 100 per cent over two years ago, and that on the New York Curb the increase has been more than 250 per cent. The country has gone speculation mad.

Optimist—Why shouldn't transactions in securities show a great increase seeing that we now have so many more security-holders than we ever had before? This nation has had such wonderful prosperity that the stock exchange couldn't well help reflecting it. Speculation is a sign of life.

PESSIMIST—I suppose you think the decline of 29 per cent in building last month can be laughed off?

Optimist—Nothing more than a lull. Speculative building was threatening to go too far, a little spell of quietness will fill up existing buildings and then you will see more activity.

Pessimist—How about the drop in steel orders and steel production? September's daily average output was the poorest since February, a very uncommon showing.

Optimist—If every industry in America were in as good shape as the steel industry everybody would have reason to be happy—except you chronic grouches. September actually showed an 8 per cent increase over September of last year, which broke all September records. Ordering was so tremendously active during the summer that no dy expected anything else but some slowing down now. But there is no reason for shedding any tears over the steel industry.

PESSIMIST—Don't even small crops put some sense into your head?

Optimist—I'll admit I'd rather see bumper crops all around, although that would have meant very poor prices for the growers. Moderate crops at decent prices are o. k. Our farmers, taking them by and large, are better off now than they have been in a long time—you can tell that by the fact that there aren't spates of bank failures in agriculture states. I have faith that Legge and his farm board will somehow manage to patch up weak spots.

PESSIMIST—You'll be trying to tell me next that everything in the automobile garden is lovely—maybe even that the oil business is swimmingly prosperous?

Optimist—The motor people so far have had about the best year in their history, so I am not weeping over them. Instead, I am picking up some very cheap motor stocks. The best-managed oil companies are not going broke; far from it. They are making money in face of over-production and low prices. What will they do when they reach the turning in their long lane? I have been buying oil shares that, I know, are real bargains.

Pessimist—Does the fall in general commodity price level mean nothing at all to you?

Optimist — General commodity level! Why, my dear fellow, no country ever had such a long period of stable price levels. The very modest decline in the last year or two hasn't more than kept pace with the improvement in our methods of production.

PESSIMIST — You're hopeless. I'm sorry for what is going to happen to you one of these days. Don't load up with stocks.

Optimist—I'm sorry for what has been happening to you. Don't sell short.

Pessimist—G-O-O-D-B-Y.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Curb market stocks were well bought today, as uneasiness over the brokers' loan figures, to be published after the close, gave way to a fairly confident feeling in professional quarters that the compilation would be highly pleasing. The public was wary, however, and trading was in light volume. There was still a considerable tendency to take profits on bulges.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (000 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column on bond list):

RELATIVE LOW PRICE GIVES RAILS LEAD

Carrier Stocks Never Inflated to Fantastic Rates of Other Shares

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The emergence of railroad shares as new market leaders is based on the bedrock of relative cheapness in terms of known assets and actual earning power.

At no stage of the bull market have railroad equities been inflated to the fantastic price-earnings ratio to which highly exploited Industrial and Public Utility Holding Company shares have been. With earnings showing a rising trend and with the railroads as a whole likely to report an unprecedentedly high net operating income for the full year 1929, good dividend paying railroad shares are available at about 12 times earnings. Even if allowance is made for the limited earning power of this regulated industry and for the new competition of rival means of transportation, prevailing price differentials seem amply to have discounted the disadvantages. The political risk in connection with railroad shares is at present at a low ebb, and the St. Louis and O'Fallon decision constituted a legal landmark in assuring the railroads that they would be treated for valuation and allied purposes on the same basis as public utility enterprises.

A Wall street compilation earlier in the week revealed that the mean price of 27 dividend-paying railroad common stocks was 11.9 times the estimated earning for the 12 months ended with August. These same stocks have been quoted thus far this year as high as 13.1 times earnings and as low as 9.6 times. The railroad department offers a haven for those who are seeking to buy demonstrated values, rather than future prospects.

RUMOR SOURCE GONE

The definite announcement from the White House that Andrew W. Mellon would remain as secretary of the treasury until 1933 deprives rumor mongers of one of their old reliable canards for depressing sentiment. Now the incumbency of Mr. Mellon settles down to an actuarial problem in life expectancy.

The recession in some lines of business, such as new construction, automobiles, steel and in the export trade, should be considered in the light of the experience of the last six years. Aided by a superabundance of gold, the Federal Reserve has conducted an experiment in what amounts to a managed currency. Efforts have been made—and not without success—to keep the business cycle under control. Ever since 1923, the Federal Reserve has sought to restrain inflation in securities or in commodities by tightening credit, and, on the other hand, has endeavored to check depression when threatened by turning the faucets of credit easement. Unless the investment analyist and the business analyist allow for this systematic interference with the blind working of economic forces, they are likely to misjudge the practical significance of short-term business fluctuations.

Since November, 1927, the determining factor in Federal Reserve policy has been a desire to put the damper on excessive speculation in securities. Meantime, particularly in recent months, the system has added its reserve strength, and is technically in position to stimulate business through a reversal of its credit policy whenever it seems prudent, from a speculative standpoint, to do so. This condition and the fact that nothing is seriously wrong with business suggest that the end of the long-term post-war period of prosperity on a grand scale is not yet in sight.

CHANGES MITIGATED

The new federal reserve policy has led some practical observers to assert that the business cycle has been adjourned. It would be more accurate to say that the violence of the swings up and down in trade have been mitigated by the new banking policy.

Any sustained improvement in the bond market, such as may be near at hand, should give newly formed investment trusts an opportunity to alter their capital structure in a manner that will add to their profit making capacity. Formed in a period when the rage was for common stock, many of the new investment and trading companies have only one class of stock outstanding. Though such a simple capitalization is perhaps fairest to those who supply the initial capital, it deprives the common stock of an earning feature, which is common to the British investment trusts. The British trust issues debenture bonds as well as shares. The debentures are designed to bear a lower rate of interest than the trust earns on its portfolio of investments. Accordingly, there is a profit, which accrues to the common shares, from the use of capital borrowed through debentures, this practice is known as "trading on the equity."

In normal times, individual marginal speculators, operating largely on borrowed funds, also expect to glean profits from "trading on the equity." It is feasible to do this, however, only when the income return on stocks held is greater than the call loan rates. For many months, however, the reverse has been true.

Liberty Dairy Co. Reports Earnings

The Liberty Dairy Products Corporation reports net earnings for the four months ending August 31, 1929, of $88,888, comparing with total net earnings for year ending April 30, 1929, of $120,329. These earnings are equivalent to slightly less than $1 per share on 66,372 shares of common stock outstanding. The period from April 30 to August 31 includes the months of May and June, when operations were greatly impeded by a strike at the Hermes plant.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—The bond market extended its gains today under the favorable influence of the relatively easy money rates. Gains were most consistent in the rails, especially the low coupon mortgages, but there was also a slight revival of interest in United States government Liberties and treasuries at higher prices.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Sycophant

TIME was I was rich in youth and charms,
And my hair was gold like the sun,
He held me close in his hungry arms—
But that's all done.

He whispered to me, and I loved the words
Which fell so sweet from his tongue,
For the trees and the flow'rs and the singing birds
And I—were young.

He knew my throat and my soft white hands,
And my mouth and my eyes so blue,
But the soul in woman which understands
He never knew.

I've almost forgot my heart's old sore,
And my hair is gray like the rain,
He flatters the girl who lives next door,
I feel no pain—

—Arlen O'Shea.
(Cleveland, Ohio.)

I THOUGHT I'D DIE!

AFTER interviewing Ursula Parrott, author of "Ex-Wife" (the sensational book about husbands and sex) via the WMCA microphones the other night, news photographers insisted on a picture. Before taking her place in front of the lens Miss Parrott pardoned herself while she stamped out her cigaret. Then she explained:

"My father is so strict, you know. I wouldn't want him to see a picture of me smoking."

INCIDENTALLY

Which reminds us of I. Hoffman's flippancy: "People who live in penthouses shouldn't drop stones."

FLIP CRACKS

Harry Reichenbach says that when a Wall Street broker dies he crosses the Great Dividend and Rube Goldberg likes this gag better than any other he ever read.

"Do you know how to tell a Christian?"

"No."

"One who buys at retail!"

APPROPRIATE

Mark Leuscher, of the RKO offices, tells about a small town movie theater owner who wondered what sort of movie he should buy to combat his opposition, which was featuring "The Cock-Eyed World."

After much thought he decided on a picture starring Lon Chaney.

SOTTO VOCE

To Whom It May Concern: Miss Truly Shattuck thanks those who contributed to her when she was in great distress recently, and so do we.

Pearl Kent: "York" and "talk" is a hybrid, and the second stanza is uneven.

THE MORNING MAIL:

"DEAR WALTER," writes the very amusing Bob Fender of Carmel, Cal., "I read your column in the Los Angeles Herald every day, and I think you're a nice feller, and quick, too. Except that you live in New York City and I still wear a belt and suspenders at the same time, we're quite alike. I'm a hotel clerk and have to keep saying funny things to keep our guests laughing, especially after they've had our meals, so naturally I've developed into quite a wit.

"Now what I wanted to ask was: I never saw any New York shows, except one Harry Richman was in, and I wish I hadn't, but I keep thinking of funny things that those comedians would no doubt like to have. Anyhow, sometimes, the boss doesn't pay here until the 15th and I could use an extra five or ten, particularly when the carnival comes to town, so I wondered where I could sell a smart crack like the following: 'I have been to college and I got pennants to prove it!' Oh, yes. We play a game here called 'Who?' and the way you play it is you take a drink of a drink we have here, and when you wake up, everybody says: 'Who?' at you. Then that's when it's ticklish, because you have to say something like 'President Hoover,' or 'Mother India' or 'Mrs. Gann,' or whoever you think you are just then. And if you don't answer just right, or even if you do, everybody hits you in the face. It's more fun!"

NOVELETTE

WHEN Time, the magazine was organized, the late Britt Hadden was present with a batch of common stock because it was worthless at the time for one thing, and for another that it would stimulate his interest in the progress of the publication. He died recently in his early thirties.

Last week a syndicate bought Britt's stock from his widowed mother for $1,418,000!

ANECDOTE

"Little Tim's" boy Joseph Sullican was thinking of Oscar Wilde for some reason or other in a smart night club last evening. His favorite Wilde gag, it appears, concerns Oscar's last days, after he was freed from prison. Wilde was critically ill in his poverty hole, but some of his loyal friends visited him and brought gifts. One caller brought two bottles of wine. Wilde picked up a bottle and laughed as he toyed with it.

"Why are you laughing?" he was asked.

"Because," was the grand reply, "I'm dying beyond my means."

NOT NEWS, BUT COMICAL

And S. J. Brody contribs this reparte supposed to have been overheard during the rehearsals of George White's "Scandals."

First Chorine: "Have you heard the dirt about Sue?"

Second Ditto: "Heard it? Why, dearie, I started it!"

HAW!

LEW ARNOLD and a group of provincials did Harlem and Connie's Inn the other yawning, and the visitors actually blushed when Louise Cook, who dances in the lewd, went into her torso tossing specialty. Miss Cook is a brownskin and naturally is a swelegant hip-flipper. During the torrid dance The Woman From Akron almost swooned.

To recover her aplomb or something (as Miss Cook twitched her final twitch), The Woman From Akron remarked indignantly: "Well, I don't know. I'd rather cook for a man!"

Real Estate

The first floor and basement of the Methodist building at Fifth and Penn avenues has been leased for a long term to the B-G Sandwich Shop Company. The consideration totals more than $200,000. Alterations are being made to the building. The deal was made through Fleming & Fleming.

In West View, the Freehold Real Estate Company sold for Andrew Spencer, builder, to J. Kenneth Simpson, a six-room brick house and garage on 50x120 feet at Chalfont and Bellevue avenues, for $12,400.

A brick dwelling at 6834 McPherson boulevard, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold by Karl J. Gloeckler to Frederick A. Kelley. The lot is 27x140 feet.

In Emsworth, W. B. Dawson & Co. sold for the Francis H. Trimble estate to H. C. Seelhorst, 45x150 feet in Lincoln avenue, Emsworth. The purchaser will improve the lot at a later date.

A brick house at 2722 Halstead avenue, Nineteenth Ward, lot 70x100 feet, has been sold by John Taczak, Jr., to Margaret M. Netzel.

In Brackenridge, a tract of 125x362 feet at the northeast corner of Pine and Walnut streets has been sold by the Labor Products & Ice Co. to the Liberty Mirror Works.

A. W. McCormick has requested a permit to build a dwelling and garage at 2015 Mayfair street, Thirteenth Ward, to cost $6,500.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Something Is Learned In Court Charter Edict

When you go to law you always learn something that is worth knowing. That is about the only consolation the public derives through the decision of the Supreme Court that neither it nor the lower court has any jurisdiction in the question of legality of resubmitting the Metropolitan Charter for a referendum at the November election.

Doubt had been cast on the right of the County Commissioners to do so under the provisions of the charter act, and it was thought court decisions would make the intent of the law clear. The Supreme Court decreed that the lower court had erred in coming to any decision in the matter and that, in a legal sense, nothing had been before the lower court or was before the higher tribunal because nothing was being contested. In plain language, there were no litigants.

So the matter stands just as it did before the enlightenment of a court decision was sought. To have the matter adjudicated it will be necessary for the Commissioners to decide to resubmit the charter and for some intefest to oppose it, or for some party to attempt to compel the Commissioners to prepare for a new referendum. Either way, it could be a friendly contest, but it appears that there must be a point actively at issue if the courts are to take up the matter.

Friends of the charter will not be pleased at the delay, but since the present status of the matter could not have been foreseen, they will be patient. There still is possibility that the courts may interpret the meaning of enabling part of the charter act in time for the spring primary, if a proper action be brought. Assuming the courts would permit a vote and the voters approved the charter there still would be a chance for the population of the district to be credited to the enlarged city in the 1930 census.

Mr. Eastman's Good Work

And An Admirable Guggenheim Charity.

In Rochester, N. Y., George Eastman, of kodak fame, has established a splendidly complete dental clinic for the benefit of his employes. There could be no more intelligent, useful combination of philanthropy and business common sense. Man's usefulness and work depend largely on what he IS physically.

His physique depends on what he EATS, and the value of what he eats depends on the teeth that prepare it before it is swallowed.

MORE important is the fact that teeth neglected cause many diseases, including heart disease that kills millions.

In New York the Guggenheim family, of which one branch has done so much to promote aviation, will invest $3,000,000 in a dental clinic, free to children.

Dentists of the more stupid, ignorant kind will object to this, as some doctors object to free clinics in cities on the ground that they "will take money away from them."

On the contrary, it will teach thousands of children the importance of teeth well cared for and provide ADULT clients for many dentists later.

What is infinitely more important, it will preserve the health of the children.

What we call civilization has always provided plenty of prisons.

Individual intelligence is beginning to spend its money in a way that will make fewer prisons and hospitals necessary. Health means good living. Poverty and disease are the mother and father of crime.

Decline of the West

New Spat Plant in Missouri.

A plant for the manufacture of spats has just been established in Kansas City, Missouri.

We want this to sink in:

A plant for the manufacture of spats has just been established in Kansas City, Missouri!

And, as if that mere fact was not enough to flush the ears of all Missourians, it is stated on high authority that the concern's slogan is, "The Largest Spat Factory West of Chicago."

Does that throw any light on the decline of the agricultural West?

Lobbying a Few

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

LOBBYING in these assorted states is no novelty under the sun.

America started with a lobby when Gen. Gates staged a cabal against Washington when George was throwing snowballs at high hats at Valley Forge.

"Bugs" Baer

Lobbying means to influence legislation by intrigue.

Lobbying is the only branch of government service in which you get your pay in advance.

The first lobbyist grabbed his glorious citation by infesting the lobbies of legislative garages. We knew many of the lobbyists down in the District of Columbia 20 years ago.

Their work was rough and manly around 1914. We have seen a lobbyist grab a Senator by the lapels and do the giant swing.

Many of those 1914 Senators are now dead. Or have met a sadder fate by being defeated in the primaries.

Those were the good old days before we got into the scuffle of the hemispheres. The lobbyists were so thick they had to march four abreast.

There was one bird down there who was trying to get a law over that would compel soldiers to wear paper shoes.

We heard of him last year. He has been arrested in Australia for picking a kangaroo's pouch.

We believe that all legislators are honest.

Or at least, as Congressman Booboo said as he pocketed the elusive honorarium:

"We are entitled to both the benefit and the doubt."

There seems to be no civil service test for young lobbyists. It is an incognito industry without signatures and receipts.

Suppose that you wanted a law passed that would force lightning bugs to wear their taillights in front.

Thirty-six state legislatures would have to sign this bill before it could be vetoed by the President. You hand a million dollars to 36 lobbyists and tell them to step forth and barbecue the fatted calf.

Like barking at the moon, lobbying is a war in which there is no retaliation.

A certain man promises to do a certain thing for a certain sum. That's the reason this country is so uncertain.

If you want to make sure of your son's career put him in the diplomatic service.

He will make good after he has taken singing lessons in the whispering gallery.

Bible Passages

Benjamin and Joseph

(Genesis 43: 1-15)

AND the famine was sore in the land.

And it came to pass, when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.

And Judah spake unto him, saying, The man did solemnly protest unto us, saying, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

If thou wilt send our brother with us, we will go down and buy thee food:

But if thou wilt not send him, we will not go down: for the man said unto us, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you.

And Israel said, Wherefore dealt ye so ill with me, as to tell the man whether ye had yet a brother?

And they said, The man asked us straitly of our state, and of our kindred, saying, Is your father yet alive? have ye another brother? and we told him according to the tenor of these words: could we certainly know that he would say Bring your brother down?

And Judah said unto Israel his father, Send the lad with me, and we will arise and go; that we may live, and not die, both we, and thou, and also our little ones.

I will be surety for him; of my hand shalt thou require him: if I bring him not unto thee, and set him before thee, then let me bear the blame forever:

For except we had lingered, surely now we had returned this second time.

And their father Israel said unto them, If it must be so now, do this; take the best fruits in the land in your vessels, and carry down the man a present, a little balm, and a little honey, spices and myrrh, nuts, and almonds:

And take double money in your hand; and the money that was brought again in the mouth of your sacks, carry it again in your hand; peradventure it was an oversight:

Take also your brother, and arise, go again unto the man:

And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, that he may send away your other brother, and Benjamin. If I be bereaved of my children I am bereaved.

And the men took that present, and they took double money in their hand, and Benjamin; and rose up, and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

MR. MACDONALD'S MAGGOT

By Herbert Kaufman

THE little cabin on the Rapidan now claims kinship with the Field of the Cloth of Gold, and becomes a ward of history.

On that humble conference ground, the chief executives of the two greatest powers on earth met in homespun, to interchange proposals from which may date the most significant chain of events since the Lutheran schism.

Diplomatic tradition may cry aghast at such short cuts to understanding and action.

But international negotiation through subordinate authority was destined for short shrift, LONG before Ramsay MacDonald discarded the GOLD BRAID of formality for the BRASS TACKS of efficiency.

Transatlantic telephones and television are much abler—and far safer—plenipotentiaries than present go-betweens.

THE involved and tortuous system through which powers maintain relations, invites misinterpretation and leaves responsible heads of government too much at the mercy of proxy judgment.

A straight line is the shortest distance to ANY objective—and so is a STRAIGHT TALK.

Had Wilhelm the First compared notes with Napoleon the Third, instead of reading doctored telegrams, the crisis of 1870 might have passed without leaving the suppurating wound which burst anew in 1914.

Logic, enlightened selfishness and humanity indorse the abolition of war.

WAR holds no winning hands nowadays.

Invention has stacked the cards against conqueror and loser alike. The expense of modern conflict and the range of lethal engines, warn that the cost of victory will be as heavy as the price of defeat.

Balance sheets deny that the Allies triumphed over Prussia. Britain's ledgers are thirty-eight billions in the red. France staggers under an eleven and a half billion obligation; while Germany's public debt—reparations excluded—is a trifle over two billions.

Each man, woman and child in the United Kingdom bears eight hundred and nine dollar's worth of Imperial burden.

Contrast that with Germany's PRO RATA of thirty-three dollars, and you'll begin to understand why John Bull is so anxious to beat swords into plowshares, and devote his revenues to productive tasks instead of doles, interest charges and competitive armaments.

The British Premier, standing where British troops once brought flame and destruction, fires congressional imagination instead, with a plea for Anglo-Saxon unity—the abandonment of secret agreement and an offer of naval parity, "without reserve, heaped up and flowing over."

RAMSAY MACDONALD feels certain that the United States and Great Britain will abide by the stipulations of the Kellogg Pact, but wonders how many other Senators will remain pledged.

Which particular maggot tends to destroy general confidence in the best-laid peace plans, and provides the militarist with his most convincing arguments.

No sane man discards his artillery until certain that the other fellow isn't hiding a spare gun up his sleeve.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THE last command as the great Graf took off was—"UP SHIP!"

UP SHIP!—above the scores of ropes that held her down.

UP SHIP!—above the dust, the rocks, the swamps, the cramping limitations of all man-made trails.

Up—up—in the wide, free air. Into the air that is not bounded by man, miles or time—that stretches, endless, into blue infinity.

Up—up—at last, from the earth cradle, where flesh life began. The earth, where life swam as a fish, hopped as a frog . . . then gradually, through countless evolutions, grew a spine and a brain and learned to walk erect, a Man.

Then, walking, made himself a trail for greater ease. Then hastened speed by riding on a beast. Then harnessed beasts to carts. Changed trails to roads. Made boats. Made trains. Changed roads to tracks.

Always that longing to go faster—to have freer life. Always that longing to rise up and up—from slime to water . . . from water to the beach . . . from beach into the open field and hill . . .

Higher and faster . . .

Foot pace . . . horse pace . . . cart pace . . . train pace . . . then automobiles, the body hurled through space at sixty miles an hour, but still earth bound—STILL TIED TO DIRT—

But inside, something always struggled to be free, something that reached beyond the cart and car—something that clamored up and upward to the star—

And now, at last—

UP SHIP AND GO!

THE SKY AT LAST IS MAN'S!

UP SHIP! . . . a slogan for YOUR life.

UP SHIP!—above the dust of ignorance, the bog of fear, the rock of prejudice—and all the binding shackles of your SELF.

Up—up—to where you get the larger view—

Leaving the earth as once you left the slime—

Seeing YOUR earth as now you see the slime—

Leaving old hopes and fears far, far behind—

Seeing new hopes, new knowledge, looming round you like the stars—

Risking the storm of change, the searing sun of truth—

Breasting the loneliness . . . beating through the dark—

On, on, until the night gives way to dawn—

And earth is lost . . . and you, at last, are FREE!

To find your way, along the endless trails . . . TO GOD!

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THE hat-snatchers at restaurants and hotels make a lot of fellows mad, because they get a lot of dimes for a little service. But you don't hardly ever lose your hat or coat at places where you pay for having them hung up, so maybe the dime is insurance.

There was some guys talking about a certain restaurant, and one of them says, "Gee, I can't afford to eat there. It's too high priced for me."

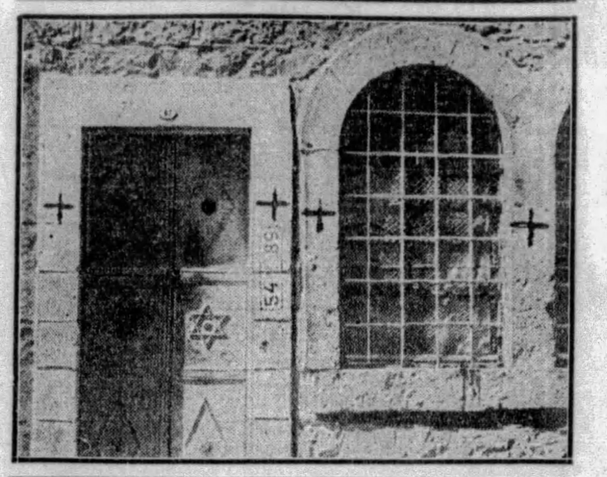
"Why," says the other one, "I only et there once. But it didn't seem high-priced to me. They don't have hat-checkers there."

"Well, that makes only a dime's worth of difference."

"A dime, hay? More than that to me. I paid a dollar and a half there at lunch time, and got lamb chops and potatoes and a new derby hat and a topcoat that had only been worn two or three times, and all a perfect fit."

A Christian House in Jerusalem

Protected by the Sign of the Cross.



A CHRISTIAN HOME IN JERUSALEM MARKED WITH RED CROSSES TO INSURE SAFETY FROM FANATICAL ATTACK.

In recent Arabian uprisings in Jerusalem, the hatred of Arabs was directed only against Jews. Arabs resent the rights guaranteed to Jews by the British mandate, and resent especially Jewish SUCCESS, in colonizing Palestine, restoring lost fertility to the soil and building up prosperity, in factories.

This picture shows the simple device by which a comparatively few Christians living in Jerusalem avoided danger to life and property during the rioting.

Houses thus marked with a cross were safe from attack by fanatical Mohammedans.

Long before the beginning of Christianity, Arabs and Jews, racially related, lived side by side.

It is curious now to see the Arabs sparing the houses in which dwell the adherents of a new religion.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Picking pockets is almost a lost art in the metropolis. Even among the million at Coney Island on the last Fourth of July not a leather was lifted. They used to pick up a dip every hour in the subway. A trained squad of detectives rode the tubes for this purpose.

Trained Fagins who taught children purse snatching with uncanny neatness on the lower East Side have vanished. In a Bleecker street cellar for many years was a Pickpocket College, where masters trained youthful fingers to nimbleness and sent them out on the streets.

Many things contributed to the passing of the dip. The subway was his paradise. In the roaring compactness, jostling was unnoticed and the confederate could shut off the victim's view with a newspaper. But the pickpocket squad was so effective the game became too hazardous.

An arrest did not always mean just a ride to headquarters. Subway crowds found a fiendish delight in "ganging" a trapped pickpocket. Before he could be taken off the car, he was often booted, gouged and given a taste of sabotage. Indeed two narrowly averted lynchings.

Another reason was that New Yorkers became wary. Only professional gamblers carry big sums of money any more, and they travel with armed body-guards when "heeled." A bank discovers that about 90 per cent of their patrons carry blank checks and not more than $20 in cash.

But the biggest check to this branch of plundering was in the flowering of easier and less dangerous rackets. The rapscallion whose agile fingers could spot and extract the hefty wallet found he could turn his talents to a far greater profit in forging checks.

So old timers lost their cunning and there were no young novices to carry on. Bootlegging came to the land and the lads who might have turned to poke pinching found something far more productive. They did not any longer have to be police hunted "rats."

I've had my pocket picked twice in New York—once on the rear platform of a street car and another time while graciously holding a match to a perfect stranger's cigar. And you know what? I walked along with him for three blocks afterward.

Another high spot for pickpockets in better days was the Aquarium in Battery Park. Here came wide-eyed innocents to gawk at strange fish in glass cases and so lost did they become in the display they were stripped of all pocket possessions from purse to fountain pen. Today the first thing to attract the stranger's eye is: "Look out for pickpockets!" Yet for months not a pocket has been picked there.

Fourteenth street, with its array of yokel traps—dime museums, shooting galleries and peep shows—also offered a field for light fingers, but not any more. Fourteenth street has, with a bang, "gone Broadway." It shimmers like a torrent, suddenly bursting its sluices. A one-time shabbiness is tessellated with ornate movie facades, brightly lit cafes and gaudy specialty shops. Even famous old Luchow's, which languished in purplish gloom after prohibition, now blooms with sparkling life. And foaming steins!

Fifty thousand small wage earners in New York are only able to meet expenses by working extra and on Sunday. And yet on half the amount they could enjoy peace and comparative plenty in the so-called hick town.

The "city minded" existing in such town-trodden despair are like Bruin in the fable. For 10 years the bear paced back and forth in a 10-foot circus wagon. Released into a large bear pit in a zoo to roam at will, it spent the rest of its life turning back and forth in a 10-foot space. Social workers find that once poorly paid city folks cast off shackles for a small town they rarely come back. But the difficulty is inducing them to make the break.

Writes C. B. T.: "It would help when you make historical references about New York to give facts and figures."

The idea is to make you look them up, silly, so you will remember.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Be Glad

A MOTHER dreamed a golden dream
Of him who lay at rest,
Sweet lips apart, bright curls a-gleam,
Upon her happy breast.
But after four brief years were gone
He slept, to wake no more;
A mother's golden dreams were done,
A mother's heart was sore.

All have their dreams: the low, the high,
Grave age, gay lad and lass;
Yet many, many dreams must die,
Nor ever come to pass!
But still, O doubting one, be glad
And yield not to despair,
For every dream man ever had
Has made the world more fair.

Each spirit buoyed by high desire
Has helped to lift the race,
Each soul aglow with noble fire
Makes Earth a better place,
For not the aims which men attain
Are marks to measure by;
But in the inner growth they gain
Their greatest triumphs lie.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HAVE you ever considered how fortunate you are?

If so, you have found that what you have to be thankful for far exceeds in balance the drawbacks of your life.

Many of your difficulties have come from lack of proper effort at the right time.

You put off till a future day and the thing in question is something that should have immediate attention.

You have neglected and then without warning comes the catastrophe.

A lot of your trouble has come from lack of preparation.

And laziness is the reason you were unprepared.

If you are bound to avoid the disagreeable and arduous things of life, how can you expect that this lack of self-instruction will not hamper and annoy you in future?

There is a law of effort and compensation which should rule.

And its results cannot be avoided.

If you are unwilling to put yourself out or disturb your personal comfort you cannot expect much, and considering how often you have tried to make things easy rather than safe, you are lucky to have had so little trouble.

You are fortunate instead of unfortunate.
